EDWARD PASSES UP BROADCAST OF CORONATION

But Listens In to Brother's Speech.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTS, France, May 12.—The duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, was about the only person in all France who did not get steamed up about the pomp and circumstance of the British coronation today.

Dr. Charles Mercier, Mayor of Monts.

Interested in its political side, and with Mrs. Wallis Warfield [Simpson], "the woman I love," for whom he gave up the British throne, he listened carefully to what his brother, King George VI., had to say over the radio tonight. It was for Edward's coronation that the date, May 12, originally was set.

Plays Sporting Rôle.

But he paid no attention whatsoever to broadcasts of the ceremonies. He got up late and then lounged around until lunch time. Afterward he played eighteen holes of golf, winning by four holes from Herman L. Rogers, American friend of himself and Mrs. Warfield.

Recent indications thus were supplemented strongly today that, while Windsor is anxious to play a sporting rôle toward his younger brother and is interested in the political side of his reign, he does not care a whoop about the great ceremonial which is made of the same stuff as many he has been through himself.

His attitude clearly was indicated a few days ago when asked by one of the inhabitants of the Château de Cande, where he and Mrs. Warfield are staying, whether he was taking interest in the coronation ceremonies and would listen in on the broadcasts of it. The duke replied:

"Just about as much as you would expect."

That was just about as much as he did take today. He appeared rather somber, though, on the golf links.

Long Watch Fruitless.

The big American made radio set through which Edward and Mrs. Warfield listened to George's speech tonight is installed in a large comfortable room in the pavilion or hunting lodge, which is separate from the château.

To pass from the château to the pavilion requires crossing an open space. Some thirty odd reporters, camped outside the grill from 8 a. m., their eyes glued on that open space, but no Windsor or Mrs. Simpson crossed it until the night broadcast. Rogers, who acts as press spokesman for Edward and Wally, declared there was no radio extension from the pavilion to the château. Only a bodyguard, David Storrier, and Rogers, who afterward admitted he had listened in, went across.

Knitting Wally a Sweater.

Rogers, in an after lunch press conference, refused to make any comment on the movements of the duke or Mrs. Warfield. It is known, however, that many of Edward's spare moments around the château are devoted to knitting a blue pullover sweater for Mrs. Warfield.

Rogers refused to comment on the fact that no British flags were flying from the château's towers, while the union jack was unfurled elsewhere throughout France.

Asked concerning the duke's and Mrs. Warfield's wedding plans, Rogers said:

"The duke feels that until there is something definite he would rather not give out stories piecemeal. But I shall be very glad to confirm or deny any story."

The duke has promised to issue a statement next week, and it may be revealed Monday. It was impossible today to confirm reports that the wedding will take place in June.

The place of the wedding likewise is undisclosed, but one person at least is hopeful. He is Dr. Charles Mercier, mayor of the commune of Monts, who expects to be called on if the ceremony is held at Château de Cande.

U.S. Diplomats Fail to Make a Hit in Shorts

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—The American envoys to the British coronation did their best today with their silk sheathed calves and lavish gold braid to keep up with the coronation pace, but got less than halfway.

James W. Gerard, President Roosevelt's special ambassador to the coronation, was resplendent in knee pants with black silk stockings carefully stretched over his shanks. He wore the crimson ribbon of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath across his chest. His ensemble was topped by a stovepipe hat.

Gen. John J. Pershing wore his now famous "Gen. Grant" full dress general's uniform, with the crimson ribbon of the Order of the Bath over his buff shoulder sash.

Indians Get Plaudits.

The only participants in the coronation parade who were gaudy enough to win a tribute from the British were delegates from India.

The Americans were unnoticed as their autos whirled by. But when a car carrying an Indian passed, his turban was visible whether he was or not, and invariably he drew cheers.

So too were the troops sent from India. Their bright tunics, striped turbans, fierce mustachios, whose ends were drawn up under the turbans, brought roars of delight.

The trouble with the Americans was that they were just too conservative—or not enough. The soviet Russian representatives, who have been cited as justification for the Americans wearing short pants to the coronation, did their American colleagues dirt. Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, was understood to have balked at baring his proletarian calves to public gazes. He and Ivan Maisky, soviet ambassador, wore long trousers.

Lindy Wears Short Pants.

Among other Americans to make appearances in knee pants were Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Edward S. Harkness, American philanthropist; Robert Worth Bingham, American ambassador to London, and Ray Atherton, counselor of the embassy, are old hands at the game, since Bingham got a polite reminder through official channels some time ago that the British would like it better if he played according to their rules.

Knee pants addicts were licked both ways from the start. The British had more gold and medals and the Fiji islanders had better calves and did not mask them with stockings.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 12.—A scene from the Westminster abbey coronation film in which Queen Mother Mary was shown in a closeup drying her eyes during a period of emotion was cut tonight by order of the Archbishop of Canterbury and the duke of Norfolk, earl marshal of England and coronation stage manager.

Shortly after the return of the royal family to Buckingham palace the archbishop, the duke of Norfolk, and three women guests drove to a film company's office in Bernes street and after listening to the king's broadcast awaited the arrival of the newsreels.

For nearly two hours they watched more than 7,000 feet of film. They were delighted with the movie men's job, apart from the closeup of Queen Mary, which was deleted. Few ever before have seen the queen mother display emotion publicly.

NOBLES, TANGLED UP IN ROBES, DO VAUDEVILLE ACT

LONDON, May 12.—[Special.]—Many of the favored few in Westminster abbey this day of days, weary and tense from hours of waiting, snickered openly at the awkward antics of the few peers who mounted the steps to the throne of King George VI.

Toward the end of the solemn coronation ceremony the leaders of each rank of peers went forward to kiss the king's left cheek, while fellow peers knelt to pay homage at a distance. One nobleman overestimated the footstool at the king's feet and almost fell into the royal lap. On arriving this estimable lord became entangled in his own robes and the busy archbishop of Canterbury had to come to his rescue. Then, backing down the steps, the bewildered peer was saved from falling only by the strong arm of an officer of state.

No peer was so awkward as actually to roll down the steps—as one did at the coronation of Queen Victoria.

4 Year Old Child Killed in Coronation Tragedy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—In the middle of the coronation service today, Gustavus Lascelles Hamilton Russell, nephew of the earl of Harewood, who was scheduled to carry the coronet for the princess royal [countess of Harewood], was summoned from Westminster Abbey to Westminster hospital, where his four year old daughter, Charmian, lay dying. Charmian fell down a 60 foot elevator shaft at the house of Viscount Bearsted, from where she was to have watched the procession.

Squalid Slums Forget Misery and Toast King

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—When it was all over, I, as did every one, concluded it likely was the most brilliant show ever staged anywhere since the Roman emperors held triumphs 1,900 years ago. And, like a Roman triumph, it had a universal touch as if the whole world, and especially the exotic east, was at the feet of England.

The show over, I found myself along with a sea of humanity trapped on the other side of the Mall in St. James' park. In one direction was Buckingham palace, in the other Westminster abbey, in another Whitehall, and the inflexible police held back the mob behind locked and chained gates and iron grills.

Escapes Through Alley.

This was one moment in the day which looked like danger, as though taut nerves might lead to a stampede. With true English docility, however, thousands just collapsed, groaning on the lawns, expecting to wait hours more before getting home.

With a determined few I wriggled through an alleyway off the south side of the park and up a flight of twisting steps to apparent liberty, only to find lines five across and three blocks long waiting to enter a subway station.

Through a maze of back stairs, where early celebrants already were being thrown out of ginmills, I worked down to the river and across the Thames river on Lambeth bridge in a wide circuit to skirt the trafic cordon.

I walked through slums of the most sordid poverty I have seen outside Lodz and Vilna in Poland. These terrible alleys were all bedecked, however, with Union Jacks; the windows were filled with pictures of King George and Queen Elizabeth. In almost every street I was stopped by boys soliciting pennies for a local celebration which they called a "coronation tea."

Duke of Windsor Forgotten.

At the south side of Westminster bridge crowds were hanging on railings, straining their eyes toward the opposite embankment where the return procession from the Abbey had started. The sentiment of the crowd was voiced by a straggly haired slattern who had seen the morning's show and escaped by the same route as I.

"It was splendid, gorgeous, something worth a whole lifetime of waiting for and makes ye proud yere English. Ain't no foreigners could do the likes."

No dissenting voices were raised in

Prelate Steals Show from Monarch.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—I have just witnessed the last of the great medieval ceremonies of the world—the crowning and sacring [consecrating] of King George VI. of Great Britain in Westminster abbey, where his ancestors and predecessors have been crowned and blessed for nearly one thousand years.

No such colorful pageant exists today elsewhere than in Great Britain. Nowhere have the medieval forms been retained in spite of the fact that Britain is one of the most up-to-date countries in the world.

Crowd Is Fatigued.

It has been worth seeing even at the cost of great fatigue. It meant eight hours confined to a narrow bench without the opportunity to move for refreshment. If it was bad for mere spectators, how much worse it must have been for participants, who were on their feet most of that time! It was necessary to be in the abbey shortly after 6 a. m. The ceremony ended a few minutes after 2 p. m.

The whole day was one of gorgeous color—peers in robes of scarlet and ermine, peeresses in similar robes with jeweled tiaras topped by coronets, members of the various orders of chivalry with sky blue, purple, and many other colored robes of their orders; royalties in robes of all colors of the rainbow, and the massed groups of peers and peeresses. These persons filled whole sections of the great church and looked, as one supposes, the same as their ancestors looked hundreds of years ago when robes and colors were the normal wear of the nobility whose descendants today wear drab gray and black.

Archbishop's Show.

It was the archbishop of Canterbury's show, and that venerable gentleman, the Most Reverend Cosmo Gordon Lang, held the limelight throughout. It should be borne in mind that the coronation and the consecrating have no legal significance. It did not make George VI. and Elizabeth any more king and queen than they have been for the months since the abdication of Edward VIII., but it did mean that the Church of England had set its seal on the priestly office of the king and again had asserted its place in the state and in the policy of Britain.

Perhaps it is not unfair to say the coronation was a triumph for the archbishop. He crowned the king he wished to crown, a sober, religious young man, the father of a family, who can be trusted to reign constitutionally, instead of the erratic Edward, who seldom went to church and had little use for the archbishop. George also stands, as did his father, for supremacy of the family and that system of morality so dear to the British.

His wife was crowned with him and the ceremony was watched by his two little daughters, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, the elder of whom, if nothing unforeseen occurs, will succeed him as Queen Elizabeth II.

Pageant Well Organized.

From beginning to end the ceremony was a pageant and one of the best organized pageants the world has ever seen. The English have a genius for this sort of thing and no theatrical manager could have staged a better show. The gorgeous uniforms of the army, navy and air force mingled with the robes of the orders of knighthood, with tabards and banners of the heralds and pursuivants, and with the scarlet and ermine of the peers and peeresses. The whole show made a blaze of color which would have driven Hollywood crazy with envy.

And it must be said the two principal figures bore their part well. The king looked young and nervous—actually he is 41. The queen is a small, retiring figure, but she held herself with the native dignity of the Scotswoman.

Two Really Royal Figures.

Two really royal figures were Queen Mother Mary, who played no part in the ceremony, and the duchess of Northumberland, mistress of the robes to the queen, who was the stateliest figure in the whole show. I have never seen on any stage or anywhere else women who understood processional walking like the

Vast Audience Bewitched by Queen's Beauty

BY MAY BIRKHEAD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—Curiosity was tremendous, especially among the peeresses and other women who attended the coronation ceremony in Westminster abbey today, to see what figure Queen Elizabeth would make in this her first appearance on the throne, and how she would wear the imposing regal robes of state, and how, in facing the intense scrutiny of that breathless and distinguished throng, she would measure up to its extraordinary demands.

It is no exaggeration to say that she not only did not disappoint but even surpassed the immense anticipation. Her crown, which has in its front the celebrated Kohinoor diamond, was very becoming, with its delicate iridescence and play of color, to her dark hair, her peachlike complexion, and her blue eyes.

Carries Heavy Robe Easily.

Her coronation robe of ivory satin, so richly embroidered with gold, with its full train, might have seemed from its brilliance and weight almost too heavy for her to wear with ease. Yet she carried it without constraint.

Great care had been taken to combine the various gold and other threads, gold beads and sequins, and the light touches of diamante. The result was a daintiness that corresponds well with their own fine coloring and kind of elfin quality in her glance and movements.

In order to add slightly to her stature she had unusually high heels. The total effect was one of luminous grace and lightness, poise and dignity, and every one was bewitched by her enchanting smile.

Arms Show to Advantage.

There is an old superstition that warns kings from wearing the Kohinoor, but queens are considered free from any of its baleful influence.

Queen Elizabeth's pretty arms showed to advantage with the dainty effect of a very old lace, an heirloom, which rippled from her puff sleeves down beyond her elbows.

As might have been foreseen, this coronation had an exceptional interest for women who saw it, no less

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—King George VI. made history tonight. With the cheers of London crowds still ringing in his ears, he chose the night of his coronation to speak by radio to his subjects in the British Isles and in the far flung possessions of the vast empire. Never before had a king made such a broadcast to his peoples as part of his coronation celebration.

The monarch sat at a table in front of a microphone in his study in Buckingham palace. He spoke simply, modestly, and briefly.

The king who just had had a crown placed on his head gave his thanks to his subjects for their loyalty and made a pledge to serve them faithfully in the years to come. Finally he spoke of the friendship among the nations of the British commonwealth "and all other nations on earth" as a help to peace and progress.

An Appeal for Unity.

The talk—it was no more than that—evidently was a straightforward appeal to the British commonwealth of nations to remain united come what may.

King George's sincerity was evident as he spoke of the British people's "love and loyalty" to himself and his queen.

"Your countless messages from overseas and from every quarter of these islands, have filled our hearts to overflowing," the sovereign said.

He recalled that he had assumed his crown not only by the grace of God but "by the will of the free peoples of the British commonwealth." It was a reminder that he fully realizes the source whence his kingship comes.

Voice Halts at Times.

King George, who has suffered from an impediment in speech, spoke so slowly his voice halted at times. There were separations of words and hardly any inflection, but no stammering. Only once did he have difficulty in finishing a word he had started. There was a slight twist in his pronunciation of the letter "R," but it was hardly noticeable to the estimated 500,000,000 persons who listened in from the far corners of the empire and in foreign lands.

"It won't be long before he'll be as effective before the microphone as his father, King George V.," said several proud friends of the king.

As the young monarch spoke Queen Elizabeth and other members of the royal family sat in another room in the palace on tenterhooks about how the king would make out.

Few in the vast radio audience knew that a most important man sat across from George while he talked. He was a man who had been at the coronation in Westminster abbey entirely unnoticed.

Ready to Coach King.

It was Lionel Logue, an Australian specialist. He was in the abbey to keep the king from stammering and succeeded. Tonight Logue again sat facing the king to coach him if necessary.

The king honored Logue in yesterday's coronation list with a membership in the Royal Victorian order. It was worth it, for George, despite long pauses that caused listeners to wait fearfully, did not stumble in his part of the abbey ceremony.

Logue sat facing the king to give him confidence. If he stammered, the tutor was to open his mouth, then round it as if to say the letter "O," and then draw his lips in against his teeth. This exercise was supposed to remind the king to relax and make another attempt.

Logue had worked long and patiently with the king and virtually obliterated the stammer that had harassed the monarch since babyhood. Aside from shyness and lack of self-confidence, the king is an entirely healthy, wiry, and normal individual, Logue is understood to have told those who know him.

Logue had control of the broadcast, which followed the speeches of dominion prime ministers and responses of citizens of dominions from overseas. He would not allow the monarch's speech to go on the air until the king had passed the initial hesitancy which was the real difficulty.

Here's King's Speech.

The king in his speech said:

"It is with a very full heart I speak to you tonight. Never before has a newly crowned king been able to talk to all his peoples in their own homes on the day of his coronation. Never has the ceremony itself had so wide a significance, for the dominions are now free and the people partners with this ancient kingdom. I felt this morning that the whole empire was in very truth gathered within the walls of Westminster abbey. I rejoice that I can now speak to you all wherever you may be, greeting old friends in distant lands and, as I hope, new friends in those parts where it has not yet been my good fortune to go.

"In this personal way the queen and I wish health and happiness to you all and we do not forget at this time of celebration those who are living under the shadow of sickness. Their example of courage and good citizenship is always before us. And to them I would send a special message of sympathy and good cheer. I cannot find words with which to thank you for your love and loyalty to the queen and myself.

Praises His Subjects.

"Your good will in the streets today, your countless messages from overseas and from every quarter of these islands has filled our hearts to overflowing. I will only say this, that if in the coming years I can show my gratitude in service to you that is the way above all others that I should choose.

"To many millions the crown is a symbol of unity by the grace of God and by the will of the free peoples of the British commonwealth. I have assumed that crown. In me, as your king, is vested for a time the duty of maintaining its honor and integrity. This is indeed a grave and constant responsibility, but it gave me confidence to see your representatives within the abbey and to know that you too were enabled to join in that infinitely beautiful ceremonial.

Dedicates Self to Service.

"Its outward forms come down from distant times, but its inner meaning and message are always new. For the highest of distinction is the service for others, and to the ministry of kingship I have with your sharing dedicated myself, with the queen at my side, in words of the deepest solemnity. We will, God helping us, faithfully discharge our trust. Those of you who are children now will, I hope, retain the memories of the day of carefree happiness such as I still have of the day of my grandfather's coronation.

"In the years yet to come some of you will travel from one part of the commonwealth to another and, moving thus within the family circle, will meet many whose thoughts are colored by the same memories, whose hearts unite in devotion to our common heritage. You will learn, I hope, how much our free association means to us, how much our friendship with each other and all other nations on the earth can help the cause of peace and progress.

"The queen and I will always keep in our hearts the inspiration of this day. May we ever be worthy of the good will which I am proud to think surrounds us at the outset of my reign. I thank you from my heart, and may God bless you all."

Rulers Acknowledge Cheers.

Following the king's broadcast thousands of wildly cheering coronation celebrants swarmed around Buckingham palace during a heavy rain. Shouts of "God save the king," "God save the queen," "We want the king" filled the air. The crowd frequently sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

At 9 p. m., 10:15 and again at 11:38, King George and Queen Elizabeth came out on a balcony in response to the cheering. They stood for a few minutes waving their hands before turning back.

After the third appearance on the balcony the crowds were told over loudspeakers that the king and queen had gone to bed. The crowds, wet and bedraggled, broke up.

The little princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, also attracted a lot of attention. Two better behaved children never went to church. They arrived with their Aunt Mary, the princess royal [countess of Harewood.

Minor Royalty Arrives.

Although spectators had to be in the abbey between 6 and 7 a. m., the real show began at 9 o'clock when the minor royalties, the Carisbrookes, the Mountbattens, the Cambridges and so on began to arrive. They were shown to seats by gorgeously accoutered heralds and pursuivants looking like picture cards in a pack.

Then came the representatives of the foreign powers who, however, did not march in a procession to the theater, which normally would be called crossing the Anglican church. They were seated on both sides of the nave and simply walked as far as their seats.

First were the Prince and Princess Chichibu of Japan, brother and sister-in-law of Emperor Hirohito, who had seats near the royal box. After them came the count of Flanders, Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and her consort, the princes of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark with their wives, Prince Paul, regent of Jugo-Slavia, and his wife, and so on until far down the list came Maxim Litvinov, foreign commissar of Russia, and after him James W. Gerard of the United States, complete with knee pants, and Gen. John J. Pershing in the uniform of a general of the United States army. In another part of the abbey were members of the embassy stafs, also complete with short pants.

Queen Mother Real Majesty.

Then came the clergy and the princes and princesses of blood royal. Among them strode that majestic figure, Queen Mother Mary. She wore her $500,000 crown and was dressed in gold tissue under her royal purple robes. There was a rustle which almost amounted to applause when she appeared. She was preceded by her sister-in-law, Queen Maud of Norway.

The climax of the whole show, of course, was the arrival of the king and queen, but this was led up to by degrees with a magnificent procession of the clergy, officers of arms, and the prime ministers of various nations over which the king reigns led by Ramsay MacDonald. As lord president of the council, he was entitled to walk ahead of Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of the United Kingdom, and other empire premiers.

Duchess Takes the Limelight.

Then came the procession of Queen Elizabeth. The limelight at this point was stolen by the mistress of robes, the duchess of Northumberland, who carried the queen's train and whose train in turn was carried by her small son.

King George's procession followed. The monarch wore a golden robe and the cap of maintenance—a four cornered cap of red velvet.

Before the actual crowning there were various ceremonies and oaths taken by the king. The first was the "recognition," when the archbishop, facing east, south, west, and north, proclaimed the king as the true king of the realm and called on the people to acclaim him.

Then came the oath. It was a most important change in that it recognizes for the first time the independence of the great self-governing nations of the British commonwealth. At former coronations the king swore to preserve the laws and liberties of the United Kingdom and his possessions across the seas. Today he swore to govern the peoples of Great Britain, Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa according to their respective laws and customs.

Also there was a change in the religious oath in which the king swore this time to preserve the English church "in England" instead of, as before, in all his dominions.

Hesitates in Speech.

A marked hesitation in speech, but not his famous stutter, was noticeable in these oaths. In each case the kind said "All this I promise," and a long pause, "to do." During this part of the ceremony it was noticeable that his brothers, the dukes of Gloucester and Kent, watched the king closely, and when the oaths were successfully negotiated Kent leaned over to Gloucester with a smile and whispered into his ear.

Then came the anointing on the hands, head, and breast of both king and queen with holy oil. This was done under a canopy held, in the case of the king, by four Garter knights, and in the case of the queen, by four duchesses, and could not be seen from the galleries. After that communion was administered by the archbishop to the king and his consort at the high altar.

The final scene was the homage. First the archbishop of Canterbury knelt before the throne with folded hands and swore fealty to the king, and kissed him on the cheek. The dukes of Gloucester and Kent did the same, as did the senior nonroyal duke, senior marquess, senior earl, viscount and baron in his order. As each made his homage, the members of his order massed on one side of the theater and put on their coronets. The peeresses on the other side did the same. The two little princesses put on their coronets with the rest.

When the homage was over there was some more business of presenting swords and rings. The processions reformed and marched down the nave to the robing rooms where the king and queen enjoyed a brief rest before beginning the return drive by the long route to Buckingham palace.

DESCENDANTS OF MEN WHO FOUGHT BRITAIN ACCLAIM GEORGE VI.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Descendants of the American patriots who 161 years ago revolted against one English king, George III., acclaimed today in a spirit of friendliness the accession of George VI.

"When the American colonies fought and won their war of independence they did not foreswear their English heritage," the Rt. Rev. James De Wolf Perry of Rhode Island, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church, told 1,000 or more New York society leaders and members of the British colony here at an elaborate coronation banquet tonight.

Bishop Perry's son, the Rev. James De Wolf Perry Jr. of Norfolk, Va., was the only American clergyman who assisted in the ceremonies at Westminster.

At historic Trinity church in the center of the city's financial district today, prayers were said for King George and Queen Elizabeth. The form of the service was the same as that prescribed for the Church of England on coronation day.

LEWIS' WORDS TO BRITISH FAIL TO TOUCH WAR DEBT

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, the Democratic whip and a member of the foreign relations committee, amazed his colleagues on the floor of the senate today when he felicitated the British people on the occasion of the coronation and didn't say a word about the war debt.

Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] and others rushed over to Senator Lewis inquiring whether he hadn't forgotten something. He assured them that he would have more to say on the subject of the war debts on future occasions.

"I am sure," said Senator Lewis, "that I but voice what is the attitude of mind of this honorable body in wishing success to the new administration, expressing the hope that all health and prosperity may attend our fellow mankind and particularly that the reign now auspiciously beginning in the British empire may contribute to pacify the conditions we observe of turbulence and warfare in Europe and that the relationships between that land and this, our America, may continue to remain those of peace, concord, and friendship."

Princess Royal Weeps.

The king's sister, the princess Royal, wife of the earl of Harewood, who has always been close to her oldest brother, the duke of Windsor, was so moved that she could not refrain from tears.

During the long strain of the king's crowning, Queen Elizabeth continually cast tender and anxious looks at him. This was much remarked about. After the ceremony was over she was wreathed in smiles which were evidently, among other things, smiles of relief that he had undergone so well this sustained effort following weeks and months of many kinds of ordeals. She was positively radiant.

So also, it appears, was Stanley Baldwin, nervous as a cat before the ceremonies began, but distributing handclasps and pats on the back with great effusiveness after it ended.

Queen Elizabeth carried her train with fine effect, that magnificent cape of deep purple with its embroidered gold emblems and rich border and lining of ermine.

With her height, or lack of it, she could not be expected to match the regal bearing of Queen Mary, who made, with her fine presence, a noble figure. Her rich dress was embroidered with gold and diamonds and her diadem and the brilliants of her necklace made a splendid glitter.

Peeresses Bow to Three Queens.

As the three queens, Elizabeth, Mary, and Maud, passed quite near the peeresses on their way to their places, the peeresses arose and made a particularly low bow.

The princess royal, who has a fine presence, wore a diamond tiara and a necklace of special magnificence.

An imposing figure among the grand dames was the duchess of Portland wearing her large diamond tiara of particularly large and gorgeous brilliants.

The marchioness of Huntly, the former Charlotte Fallon and first married to the late James McDonald of Cincinnati, had a necklace and tiara to match, both combining emeralds and diamonds.

Other Americans Present.

Three American born women in the throng had attended the coronation of George V. in 1911. They were Lady Bateman, born Graham and first married to Henry Cabot Knapp; Lady Lister-Kaye, born Yznaga, who was invited to the abbey because of Queen Mary's great friendship for her, and Lady Granard, Ogden Mills' sister, whose husband, the earl of Granard, has held a position in the household of the last four sovereigns.

The latter has gray hair which was well set off by her tiara, which was a mass of diamonds and four remarkable pearls, and by her pearl earrings. Her especially large and high backed chair indicated her privileged relation to the throne.

Queen Elizabeth's canopy bearers were the duchess of Roxburghe, daughter-in-law of the late dowager duchess who was May Goelet of New York; the duchess of Rutland, the duchess of Buccleuch and the duchess of Norfolk, the recent bride of the earl marshal of England, stage manager of the ceremonies and young premier duke of the realm.

Canopy Goes on Exhibition.

The canopy, which was held over the king and again over the queen at the time of their anointing, is a survival of the time when more of the coronation ceremony was held out of doors, and when the king might retire to the tower until he was sure no one was disputing his right to succeed to the throne.

Sometimes the canopy was fought over during the ceremony. It is to be put on view at an exhibition opening next week at the royal school of needlework, where the queen's train also was made. The crowns, with their famous gems, will be put back in their usual resting place in the tower.

Even the most queenly figures in the abbey could not rival in splendor the costume and jewels which the Indian potentate, the maharajah of Nepal, wore. His skull cap was made of large pearls closely joined together with its lower fringe of superb emeralds. His bird of paradise, such as all maharajahs wear in their skull caps, was a striking affair and was attached by a large emerald.

Royal Procession Rouses Crowds to Frenzy.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, crowned and wearing their regalia, rode through six miles of tumultuous streets today in what will probably stand out in history as the most lavish and best managed display of imperial pageantry that modern times have seen.

The royal procession was a magnificent spectacle, despite pouring rain at the end, and it seemed to gladden the millions assembled in roaring multitudes along the route. The crowds were wrought to a pitch of frenzy in places by an all-night vigil and excited by garlands, stirring band music, a mob of marching men and a carnivalesque spirit. The day was suggestive of story book romance of the middle ages. Nearly every one figured that he had got his money's worth and had had an eyeful of chivalric long ago.

Greatest Show Since War.

Without doubt it was the greatest show that postwar Europe has seen, and perhaps its like will not be seen again when the costs are figured up. It was perfectly timed, it went off with prevision, and it was especially remarkable for the way in which the crowds were marshaled.

With what was staged here today only two other postwar spectacles could compare. One would be the great interallied parade of troops down the Champs Elysées at Paris in June, 1919, and the other was the procession in St. Peter's square at Rome in July, 1929, when Pope Pius XI. made the first exit from the Vatican of any pope in sixty years.

The weather gods seemed to want to give a break to kindly, stammering King George VI., who reluctantly took over the job of his elder brother, the abdicated Edward VIII. Despite predictions, it was rainless all morning. At about 3 p. m. the predicted showers fell on the gorgeous cavalcade as it came up toward Trafalgar square and headed for Piccadilly.

Display of Pomp and Power.

Previous to that gray skies, but no rain, graced the tremendous pageant, which seemed to display the pomp and power that has enabled postwar Britain to rule a quarter of the globe's surface. At the same time it seemed to be a medieval transfiguration, carrying observers belonging to an age of compulsory education and airplanes back to times when men in armor knocked each other off horses at shows called jousts and celebrated afterward by gnawing ox flesh in their fingers and throwing the bones under the table.

But it was a gorgeous show. It lasted from 6 o'clock this morning [midnight Tuesday, Chicago time] until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon [10:30 a. m. Chicago time], when King George and Queen Elizabeth came out on the balcony of Buckingham palace and bowed repeatedly to the plaudits of bedraggled crowds.

Today's pageantry, and the empire spirit engendered by it, will furnish atmosphere and background for the imperial conference which the prime ministers of the British dominions will hold with the British next Friday.

Procession in Two Parts.

The procession was in two parts—a systole and diastole movement of roaring spectacle. Between dawn and 11 o'clock, when the royal state coach, weighing four tons and drawn by eight cream colored horses and accompanied each by a scarlet uniformed coachman, reached Westminster abbey, 8,000 guests had gathered in the famous church. They passed through streets with streaming banners, congested with frenzied people who had been up all through the cold night. They passed through thoroughfares flanked by great covered grandstands sheltering thousands, roadways fringed with gay, uniformed troops and bands playing.

The morning procession was in six sections. After the two hour service at the abbey it passed back in reverse order over a four mile route from the abbey to Buckingham palace, this time minus the foreign envoys, but augmented by scores more of colorfully uniformed, picturesque troops who stood for many chapters in British history.

There were contingents from the dominions, the colonies, and India; Jats, Sikhs, and Rajput regiments were represented, as were the frontier forces, Burma rifles, Malays, the Hongkong Volunteer force, Ceylon police, Canadian mounties, Gurkha rifles, Punjab, Rhodesia, and Transjordan—all marching smartly and with seeming pride in the show.

Crowds Cheer Princesses.

At the rear of the procession again were King George and Queen Elizabeth, this time wearing their crowns and carrying the orb and scepter, bowing right and left to the cheers of the crowd. King George looked less grave and less scared than he did on the morning ride, apparently getting used to the ceremony and riotous cheering.

The afternoon reverse parade also had some changes in carriage seatings. The little princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, daughters of the king and queen, rode with Queen Mother Mary and received a bigger hand even than this morning.

All eyes were centered on the gold coach of the king and queen, and a chorus of "Here they come" ran down Whitehall. King George and Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mother Mary and the little princesses were constantly bobbing up and down in bows. The climax to the riotous cheering seemed to be reached when the gold coach rolled up to Buckingham palace. Crowds swept across the street and climbed railings of the palace until they were chased and pulled off by mounted police.

Crowd Chants "We Want the King."

After getting out of their carriages in the inner quadrangle of the palace courtyard, the king and queen were joined by other members of the royal family in the great hall and then, before taking off their state robes, they paid a visit to a party being held by the servants in the kitchen.

By this time the crowd outside was chanting: "We want the king! We want the king!"

The king and queen appeared on the balcony and bowed and then they brought out the two little princesses. Finally Queen Mother Mary joined the group.

The first section of the morning procession left Buckingham palace at 8:40 a. m. [2:40 a. m. Chicago time] in two batches. In the first fifteen cars were members of the suites of foreign royal guests and some members of the British royal family. Then came representatives of foreign powers, including James W. Gerard, United States special ambassador to the coronation. He wore knee pants, which, however, nobody could see. Also representing the United States were Gen. John J. Pershing and Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired, splendid in their full dress uniforms.

At 9:50 a. m. [3:50 a. m. Chicago time] the carriage procession of the royal family left the palace amid a great burst of cheering. It was headed by the princess royal, countess of Harewood, sister of King George, her son, Lord Lascelles, and the two little princesses.

Then came other carriages with other members of the family, including the duchesses of Gloucester and Kent in ermine and jeweled tiaras. With Queen Mother Mary was Queen Maud of Norway, her sister-in-law. Queen Mother Mary got a big ovation from the crowd. She looked radiant as she bowed acknowledgments to the cheers.

King Looks Scared.

At 10:30 a. m., climaxing the procession, the royal state coach moved out of the palace gateway. The king, who was seated on the left, wore a pale grin and looked gray. Both he and the queen bowed frequently. Close behind the royal coach rode the king's brothers, the duke of Kent and the duke of Gloucester, on horseback.

During the fifteen minutes it took to traverse Whitehall, a distance a little under half a mile, the king looked to be scared to death at intervals when the bands fell silent and deafening roars came from the crowd.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the king and queen descended from the coach and at the foot of the steps to Westminster abbey were met by the duke of Norfolk, earl marshal of England and the coronation manager, with three senior pages in red tunics. As King George stepped onto the blue carpeted platform six pages caught up his robe and followed him into the abbey.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS SHARE SPOTLIGHT OF ROYAL SHOW

Princesses Behave Like Queens Through Rite.

BY ANN WHITTINGHAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—Two little girls today were as much the center of all eyes as were their parents, who were crowned at the most impressive ceremony of the century.

Princess Elizabeth, aged 11, and Princess Margaret Rose, aged 6, dressed as miniature queens, behaved themselves with a decorum not unlike that of Queen Mother Mary of Great Britain, beside whom they sat in the royal box. Like the queen mother, they took no part in the sacred coronation ceremony, in which crowns were placed on the heads of their father, King George VI. of Great Britain, and their mother, Queen Elizabeth.

Margaret Rose Out of Step.

Even as heir presumptive, Princess Elizabeth paid no homage to the throne, but her dynamic presence was felt and upon her thousands of lorgnette and opera glasses were leveled.

During the slow stately procession up the nave of Westminster Abbey, Princess Elizabeth walked on the right of the princess royal, Mary, countess of Harewood, her aunt, holding her hand and keeping perfect step, obviously enjoying the scene. Princess Margaret Rose walked on the left of the princess royal, also holding her hand, but in her excitement she walked faster and had to be drawn back gently to keep the three of them together.

The little princesses were dressed in ankle length white lace dresses over white satin. They wore white stockings, white satin slippers and long whte gloves. They bore themselves with the simple dignity to which they have been trained and handled their little trains with childish grace and naturalness that was the envy of every peeress present.

Have no Train Bearers.

While all other princesses of royal blood had train bearers, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose each managed her own train. They were short trains, and of royal purple, but otherwise perfect miniature replicas of those crimson trains worn by peeresses. Each had a border of ermine and three bands of gold braid.

As the princess royal and the two children seated themselves on blue and gold brocade chairs, Elizabeth drew her train over her arm and into her lap. Her sister, whose feet did not reach the floor, perched sideways, scratched her head and whispered to her aunt. Once she yawned right at the venerable archbishop of Canterbury, head of the church of England.

When Queen Mother Mary mounted the steps to the royal box the two children followed and sat beside her. Again Margaret Rose found the big chair not to her liking and to quiet her twistings Queen Mother Mary gave her a pair of opera glasses, which she used during the rest of the service.

Reprimanded by Grandma.

Shy and attentive at first, their awe of the scene soon gave way to childish curiosity, and twice Queen Mother Mary was seen to discourage their excited whisperings.

When Queen Elizabeth was crowned—the signal for all peeresses to put on their coronets—Princess Margaret Rose was looking in the wrong direction and missed her cue, but vigilant Elizabeth gave her a sisterly nudge and the two girls put on their crowns—four crosses pattee and four fleurs-de-lis, the traditional emblem of a monarch's crown.

They were constructed of the lightest gold on a cap, so the children could adjust them without help, but even so Princess Margaret Rose's hands again and again strayed to her hair and she caressed the emblems with obvious delight. They wore their hair simply, brushed back just as usual, and quite unadorned.

Her dancing eyes wide with wonder, Elizabeth watched the panorama of history unfold, little realizing her unique position. Never before in English history has a past queen and future queen witnessed the crowning ot a queen, and never before has any future queen witnessed the coronation of her predecessor.

CORONATION SCENES WITNESSED BY 50,000 ON TELEVISION SETS

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 12.—Television broadcast of coronation procession scenes proved successful today, considering the experimental phase of this art.

It is estimated that 50,000 televiewers in a 7,500 square mile area saw and heard simultaneously the marching scenes, the images of Queen Mother Mary, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose in the coach, and closeups of the king and queen.

The experiment was sponsored by the British Broadcasting company. Television experimenters here believed today's success proves the practicability of such broadcasts except for the expense involved. Wireless broadcast areas are small and the installation of cables to carry "pickups" and relay broadcasts between stations costs about $5,000 per mile.

Lindy Goes to Abbey in Knee Breeches.

Prince Ratu Sukuna, the Fijis' military representative, marched sturdily, if flat footedly, in his flat sandals, bare legs and feet, and scalloped skirt.

Pershing's Uniform a Letdown.

Gen. Pershing's uniform was a letdown for the British, who were led by cabled reports to expect something extraordinary. Uniforms of British officers start with several yards of scarlet and work upward through more and more yards of gold, lace, and handfuls of plumes according to rank. So Gen. Pershing's outfit was a disappointment. It was still gay by American standards, with its massive gold epaulets and plumed fore and aft headgear.

Admiral Hugh Rodman, representing the American navy, lost to Pershing by a plume and two gold trouser stripes, but he had more gold on the cuffs. Like Gen. Pershing, he wore the sash of the Order of the Bath, though of iower rank.

J. P. Morgan, who was scheduled to appear in Westminster abbey in knee breeches, missed the coronation ceremonies because he was indisposed.

According to the best guesses only 18,000 Americans were here. A total of about 160,000 seats for the coronation parade were sold at an average price of 7 guineas, which is about $37. That means that probably at least $666,000 was paid by Americans for seats alone.

50,000 CANADIANS PAY HOMAGE TO KING IN FETE AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Ont., May 12. — (AP) — A throng estimated at 50,000 persons surged before Peace tower on Parliament hill today as Canada paid tribute to George VI., newly crowned king-emperor of Great Britain and the dominions.

Thousands of spectators massed to the walls of the parliamentary inclosure. Other thousands watched a brilliant military parade from housetops and windows. A dozen or more in the throng fainted.

Six thousand school children joined in singing the national anthem after Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada, inspected a guard of honor. The governor general and other government officials paid homage to the king in brief addresses.

MYSTERY SEEN IN VISIT OF DUKE'S HOST WITH HITLER

[Chicago Tribune Press ervice.]

BERLIN, May 12.—Germany has its British coronation mystery. It centers around the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, and his American host, Charles E. Bedaux, owner of the Château de Cande, near Monts, France.

The Bedauxs were expected in a villa at Berchtesgaden, near the summer white house of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, today, while Hitler is arriving there on Friday at the latest.

In Berlin's British colony the fate of the ex-king is the object of innumerable discussions, with many apprehending a day when he will be eager to resume his political influence. The fact that he is accepting the hospitality of the millionaire known for his Fascist sympathies increases the feeling that Edward remains interested in politics.

SQUALID SLUMS FORGET POVERTY AND CHEER KING

Here's Picture of Other Side of Coronation.

the group in this politically very red territory. The duke of Windsor apparently is being forgotten by the common people who are alleged to have adored him. I asked one mellow citizen what he supposed Edward was thinking of doing.

"Probably enjoying hisself like all the rest of us," was the answer. "What's a coronation for but to enjoy yerself, and where he is I suppose the pubs are open all day same as here."

Saloons Do Roaring Business.

That is the essence of what the coronation meant to the populace—a day when the pubs—saloons—are not required to observe the eccentric hours specified by English law. At the hour of writing every one of them was doing a roaring business, and King George's subjects, with quiet English thoroughness, were absorbing the flat ale they call "beer," besides liberal rations of straight gin and plain water—a mixture facetiously known to them as "grandma's downfall."

As to the throngs along the coronation route, they seemed unmanageable, but really were well in hand, because the minute preparations of the police and the docile responsiveness of the English temperament. Without a whimper the crowds consented to being pushed back to spots where they had no chance of seeing the show for which they had spent a sleepless night on the curbstone.

Sit in Penetrating Cold.

We aristocrats with a stand seat got a faint notion of what the multitude had been enduring all night, for we had three hours to wait amid the damp chill which cut to the marrow of one's bones.

Luckily a superb organization provided lether cushions for every one. Numbed hands soon ended ideas of reading to kill time. Some neighbors industriously kept pulling on hip flasks, two with such success that they slumped down quietly before the pageant began and missed it.

The stands by 6:30 a. m. were crowded to capacity and I was in the middle of a curious crowd which it would be impossible to find anywhere but in England. It was reminiscent of Dickens, Kipling, and Punch cartoons—eternal, downtrodden cockneys, squatting at the foot of the stands among heaps of litter, and in the stands gray striped trousers, topper hats, scarlet coats with rows of clanking medals which retired officers dragged out of mothballs for the occasion, and rows of broad faces with an iridescent finish which only a roast beef and whisky diet can produce.

Breaking the monotony were more casualties—gray, inanimate faces on stretchers, the result of spending the night camping out in England's merry month of May. In the late afternoon I learned there were two deaths and close to 10,000 other casualties during the day, most of them like this—poor devils who had endured cramps and risked pneumonia through interminable hours, only to collapse at the last moment and get no reward for their misery.

CROWNING OF GEORGE IS MADE 'OFFICIAL' BY COURT CIRCULAR

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—The coronation of George VI. became "official" tonight. A court circular announced it, saying:

"The coronation of the king and queen took place in the Abbey Church of Westminster this day. Their majesties left the palace at half past 10 o'clock this morning and proceeded in state to the abbey, escorted by the sovereigns' escort of life guards with standard under command of Maj. R. A. F. Thorp. The king and queen returned to the palace at 4:20 o'clock and were received by the great officers of state, the masters of the household, and the deputy master of the household."

J. P. MORGAN MISSES CORONATION UPON ADVICE OF DOCTOR

New York, May 12.—(AP)—J. P. Morgan remained away from the coronation ceremonies upon the advice of his London physician, it was said at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. today.

For the past week or ten days, it was revealed, the financier, who suffered a heart attack about a year ago, had been indisposed. This prompted his doctor to advise him to avoid the strain and excitement of attendance at Westminster abbey.

Spokesmen for the firm were, however, emphatic in asserting the banker's indisposition has caused no anxiety among his partners and associates here. It was believed his plans for returning in time to attend the June wedding of his granddaughter, Louise Morgan, to Raymond Skinner Clark were unaltered. She is the daughter of Junius Spencer Morgan.

Upon this custom gentlemen agree—the serving of Mount Vernon, patrician of American ryes, betokens a desire to extend special hospitality to a guest. This has been so since George Washington's day.

CHICAGO LISTENS FOR 10 HOURS TO THE CORONATION

Finds the Empire's Radio Salesmen in Top Form.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

London called at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and Chicago leaped out of bed to attend the coronation by radio. Ten hours later the momentous broadcast was still going on. A few minutes after 2 p. m. King George finished it off with a 12 minute address to his empire. And last night it all was presented again on recordings by short wave so that all who had missed it by day might hear it. W-G-N and the Mutual network, NBC, and CBS aired the show to American listeners.

Both at the coronation and during his empire address the king spoke clearly and forcefully. At times his speech was marked by pauses, but there was no evidence of stammering as the world might have expected from rumors of an impediment. Often he spoke only a single word before halting a moment. A typical example:

"All this [pause] I promise [a longer pause] to do. I [pause] George the Sixth [pause] do declare [pause] that I am [pause] a faithful Protestant."

Tremendous Vocal Assault.

Except for the coronation service itself and the empire roll call in the afternoon the broadcast was a vocal assault similar to what might be experienced if a Northwestern-Notre Dame football game, an American Legion national convention, Lindbergh's triumphal return from Paris and an old-fashioned Fourth of July were all pitched up together. The din was indescribable.

But above this bedlam were heard, most of the time, the royal commentators—crack salesmen of the empire. They were in the toppest of top form, tossing off perhaps a half million words of which one-fourth must have been adjectives of superlative degree.

Warned by the British Broadcasting corporation, which is government controled, that their words must evoke neither admiration nor humiliation, they started off at dawn, calm, cool, and collected. But six hours later when the empire parade was in full swing they were indulging in ballyhoo such as only imperial supersalesmen are capable of. They took pains to emphasize the traditional might and majesty of the empire.

A Record Performance.

It was in short the biggest sponsored radio show of all time and, oddly enough, sponsored by the nation that professes to eschew advertising in broadcasting altogether.

The coronation scene within the abbey was expertly and effectively handled. The commentators exhibited sincere reverence and awe, reflecting the solemnity and grandeur of the proceedings. All appeared to be much better informed and schooled in the historical background than many of our announcers seem to be on great occasions.

From an auditory point of view the transmissions were ideal. This may have been due in part to favorable atmospherics, but probably also to the careful consideration of placement of microphones and minutest preparations all along the line.

Throughout the whole comment there ran a persistent and intense note of pride and patriotism. But, despite the worshipful and reverential attitude that was so generally manifest, the Britishers did give an extraordinarily graphic description of the events preceding the coronation, the glittering scene of pomp and panoply, of mingling modern and medieval beauty within, and many a colorful touch.

WALLIS WARFIELD'S 'AUNT BESSIE' SAILS TO ATTEND WEDDING

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Wallis Warfield's "Aunt Bessie" sailed for Europe today aboard the United States liner President Roosevelt to attend the wedding next month of her niece and the man who renounced a throne for love of her.

Mrs. D. Buchanan Merryman.

"Aunt Bessie" is Mrs. D. Buchanan Merryman of Washington. Mrs. Merryman was Mrs. Warfield's closest companion and confidante, especially during the troubled days leading up to the abdication of Edward VIII.

She first began serving as chaperone to Mrs. Warfield in her jaunts about Europe with Edward in 1934.

When Mrs. Warfield's divorce suit finally reached the British courts Mrs. Merryman was in America. She hurried to London and the Cumberland terrace home of the then Mrs. Ernest Simpson.

Later she traveled to Cannes with Mrs. Warfield and remained there until February, when she returned to the United States.

IL DUCE'S PRESS PRINTS ONE LINE ABOUT GEORGE VI.

Anti-British Feud Hits Radio Report, Too.

ROME, May 12.—(AP)—Official Italy, angered by English press taunts over Italian defeats in the Spanish civil war, virtually ignored the coronation of King George VI. today.

The only report of the London pageant provided for the controled press was a one line dispatch issued by the official news agency, Stefani. "The coronation of King George of England took place this morning," was all it said.

There was an account, however, of disorders in Dublin. The newspapers related that police dispersed a crowd demonstrating against the "coronation of an English king for Ireland."

Britons Attend Church.

Radio stations had only the same reports as the newspapers. Members of Rome's British colony who tried to listen to London broadcasts of the coronation complained reception was poor.

Local Britons attended a coronation service at the English church in Rome. Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Rome; Francis Osborne, British ambassador to the Vatican; Albert Heymanns, South African minister to Rome, and members of their stafs were present.

An authoritative source said tonight Elizabeth MacKenzie, correspondent for the London News-Chronicle, would be expelled from Italy for sending "anti-Italian dispatches." It was added the action against her was not connected with the recall of Italian correspondents from London. Although a writer for a British paper, she was born in Civitavecchia, Italy, and her parents live here.

Feeling Rises Anew.

Anti-British feeling, which calmed somewhat after the end of Ethiopian war sanctions against Italy, had risen anew with the scathing remarks in English newspapers concerning the setbacks of Italian soldiers fighting for the rebels in Spain, notably on the Guadalajara front in March.

Last Monday Premier Mussolini banned all but three English newspapers and called all Italian correspondents in London back to Italy.

Officials of the Italian government were significantly absent, however, in contrast to the requiem service at the time of the death of King George V.

Premier Mussolini and ranking members of the government attended that ceremony, although sanctions were in effect and Italo-British relations were strained.

EVEN THE REDS OF FRANCE GO WILD OVER ROYAL SHOW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 12.—Not only Americans have fallen for the big show which is the British coronation in London, but even the hard boiled, realistic French and their Marxist government today showed excessive liking and awe for the coronation pomp.

Paris was heavily beflagged with the Union Jack, and there were columns of print about the coronation, even in the Marxist press. Crowds listened intently to radio broadcasts. Endless photographs were radioed from London. They appeared even in the sharply leftist newspaper Le Soir.

The leftist press took its cue from Leon Blum, the Socialist premier, who, forgetting Marxist disapproval of kings and kingdoms, issued a formal statement declaring the "coronation assembles the entire people of the United Kingdom and the empire in a sort of ardent and grave communion which calls forth the unanimous sympathy of the French people. France understands this grand spectacle."

Edward A. Pools Ask $27,000 Auto Injuries

Mrs. Edward A. Pool, 229 Lake Shore drive, and her husband yesterday filed suit for $27,000 damages in the Circuit court against Frederick D. Countiss Jr., 24 years old, 1524 Lake Shore drive, for injuries suffered when they were passengers in his automobile which collided with another on highway 60 in Fox Lake last Aug. 1. Countiss is a stepson of Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture mart.

RETURNS SUICIDE VERDICT.

SHORT IN COUNTY FUNDS, HE SEES A ROSY FUTURE

Cashier Predicts Quick Settlement of Case.

Jack D. Chisholm.

Jack D. Chisholm, 27 years old, who walked out of his cashier's cage in the county treasurer's office last August leaving a shortage of $3,200 in his tax fund accounts, was arrested by state's attorney's police yesterday in a cottage at Gages lake in Lake county. He had been sought on an embezzlement warant since his disappearance.

Taken to the state's attorney's office, Chisholm, who weighs in the neighborhood of 235 pounds, was in a jovial mood and appeared little concerned over the charge. He chatted blithely with interviewers.

He Mentions a Settlement.

"I guess I got a little too overconfident," he said, explaining his arrest. "I knew there was going to be a settlement in this case within a month and I made no effort to hide."

When asked what he meant by settlement, Chisholm laughed and said: "Remember, I said settlement and not restitution. There are more angles to this thing than you know about.

"There always are a lot of angles in a political office that people don't know about," he continued. "Why, if I wanted to steal any money all I would have had to do is to have waited a few weeks until the new tax bills were sent out. Then I could have taken $100,000 just as easy as the $3,000 they say I took."

Eugene O'Connor, chief investigator for State's Attorney Courtney, said he knew of no negotiations for any settlement in the case. "This is a criminal and not a civil matter," O'Connor added.

Blames His Ex-Wife.

Chisholm said he believed his former wife, who divorced him last February and remarried, was responsible for his arrest. He was one of the treasurer's employés who accept tax payments and was sponsored for his job by the Democratic organization of Cicero. He had held the job for one year at the time of his disappearance.

Chisholm is the foster son of Thomas McKay Chisholm, attorney in charge of tax matters for the Western Electric company in Cicero.

The shortage in Chisholm's accounts was one of a series of scandals affecting county office holders. The outstanding cases were those of Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted as county treasurer after an audit revealed a shortage of $414,129 in his accounts while county clerk, and Frank V. Zintak, who was ousted as clerk of the Superior court when a shortage of $26,500 was found in his accounts. Both Sweitzer and Zintak were later acquitted of criminal charges in jury trials.

MENTAL ILLS NOTED IN CITY FROM USE OF SLEEPING DRUGS

Cases of mental illness arising out of prolonged use of the drugs known as the barbiturates have been noted in Chicago, according to Dr. Harry Hoffman, director of the behavior clinic of the Criminal court, and Dr. David B. Rotman, director of the psychiatric institute of the Municipal court.

Their comments on the barbiturates, which are used frequently as ingredients of hypnotic and sedative drugs, followed the report of Dr. Frank J. Curran of Bellevue hospital, New York, to the American Psychiatric association in Philadelphia that there is a definite increase of mental illness from too much use of the barbiturates.

Sleeping powders in which these drugs are used can be bought in Illinois without a prescription, according to the physicians, although they often are dangerous to use without a doctor's advice. Dr. Rotman said he has advocated government control of the drugs.

MAXIMUM WAGE LAW SEEN UNDER A PACKED COURT

Federal laws fixing maximum as well as minimum wages, prohibiting strikes as interference with interstate commerce, and making arbitration of all labor disputes compulsory may be expected if the plan to pack the Supreme court is successful. These warnings were sounded here yesterday by Congressman Samuel B. Pettengill of South Bend, a Democrat, who said all such legislation is contrary to the American conception of government.

Speaking before 400 guests at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Palmer house, he asserted that strong currents running in the world today form a trend away from democracy and toward the totalitarian state. Consequently every move to destroy strongholds of democracy must be curbed, lest these forces sweep this country as they have Europe.

DIES OF CRASH INJURIES.

Rock Island, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—William H. Lage, 45, died at St. Anthony's hospital last night of injuries incurred May 5 when the car in which he was riding was sideswiped by an automobile driven by George Fisher.

TESTIFIES MAY YOHE USED ASSUMED NAME WHEN SON WAS BORN

New York, May 12.—(AP)—May Yohe's determination to prevent a baby's dulling the glamor of her stage career 28 years ago was put forward at a referee's hearing here today as the reason for obscurity surrounding the birth of Robert E. Thomas, who is fighting for a share of the Putnam Bradlee Strong trust fund.

Thomas claims to be the son of the once famous actress and Strong, although born in the five year interim between their separation and divorce in 1910.

Even in approaching motherhood May Yohe was jealous of her hourglass figure, and bore her child under an assumed name so the event would not interfere with her rôles, Louise Glover, who said she knew the actress in Portland, Ore., told Referee Jeremiah F. Connor in a deposition.

Thomas, if he can establish himself as Strong's son, will receive the principal of a $200,000 trust fund set up in the will of Mrs. Mary Hugh Strong, mother of Bradlee and wife of William L. Strong, former mayor.

BISHOP ASSERTS GOING TO WAR CAN BE A MORAL DUTY

Bishop George Craig Stewart said last night that it is the moral duty of citizens to fight for their country if attacked, despite the fact that the teachings of Christ are incompatible with war. The Episcopal bishop was a principal speaker at the dinner of the 12th annual convention of the Chaplains' Association of the United States Army in the Palmer house.

Bishop Stewart asserted that the Christian is almost continually facing the choice between two evils, and that, although war is wrong, there are times when the Christian is compelled to engage in it as the lesser of two wrongs.

No, it's none of these. Let America's big fleet owners who keep accurate books on every penny of expense tell you the right answer.

Their records show that a full set of Goodyear Tires and Tubes costs only ONE-FIFTH as much per 100 miles as gasoline—one-fourth to one-half as much as other routine expenditures!

The plain truth is, the cheapest thing on your car is the best tires you can buy—and the whole world votes Goodyear Tires "best."

Just choose your price class

So why shouldn't you enjoy the greater protection and security that only Goodyears afford? The greater grip and skid-resistance of center traction! The quicker-stopping All-Weather type tread with its life-saving margin of safety! The surer blowout-protection of patented Supertwist Cord in every ply!

TEST ON RELIEF IN HOUSE GROUP SET FOR TODAY

Senate Approves Project for 112 Million Dam.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—With President Roosevelt's return but thirty-six hours distant, both senate and house today wrestled manfully with an impulse to put aside all independent activity until given the chief executive's personal O. K. on the proper legislative course to pursue. The statesmen emerged panting from this titanic struggle, claiming a victory for the day.

The strange actions of the house appropriations committee attracted the most attention. The committee was confronted with the problem of dealing with a subcommittee report recommending that only a billion dollars be appropriated for relief instead of the billion and one-half demanded by the President.

At a morning session the committee decided to postpone a vote until after Mr. Roosevelt's return. Leaders feared that the billion dollar figure would be upheld. Such a decision would be most embarrassing to explain to the President.

Committee Reverses Self.

At an afternoon session the committee reversed itself and agreed to meet tomorrow and vote on the relief bill. It was learned that severe pressure had been put upon the economy minded members and a vote overturning the subcommittee report was considered a possibility.

The first test of economy sentiment in the senate found that body forgetting all its pledges about slashing future appropriations. By a vote of 46 to 29 the senate approved an amendment to the second deficiency appropriation bill which committed the government to the ultimate expenditure of 112 millions on a new Tennessee river dam at Gilbertsville, Ky.

Led by Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] a group of senators pleaded that approval of the new dam should await a later year when government finances were in better shape. But the "TVA bloc" headed by Senators George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.] and Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] insisted that the dam should be included in the bill.

Claims 56 Million Cut.

A senate committee reported the agriculture department bill, claiming that as an economy gesture $56,000,000 had been lopped from the total of 628 million dollars of direct appropriations in the bill as it passed the house. The slash, however, was in the 500 million set aside for farm benefit payments under the soil conservation act.

The house stood by its action of yesterday in rebuffing the President by refusing to make the Civilian Conservation corps permanent. Only a two year extension of the CCC was granted.

A last attempt was made by Republicans to put the CCC camp employés under civil service, but this proposal was defeated, 232 to 146.

MRS. HELEN WRIGHT.

A young woman who was taken to the County hospital from the Palmer house Tuesday night suffering apparently from poison was identified yesterday as the daughter of Otto P. Schmidt of Kansas City. Although she had registered at the hotel as Mrs. Helen Wright of White Plains, N. Y., Schmidt said he knew nothing of her marriage. He said his daughter came to Chicago several months ago to seek work, and may have become despondent over failure to find it. She was still in a coma last night.

SPECIAL SPEEDS PRESIDENT BACK TO WASHINGTON

Son James Makes Report on Court Issue.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special en Route to Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight was headed back to Washington, where he is due Friday morning to thrust the weight of his office on the congressional scales swinging against his proposal to pack the Supreme court with New Dealers.

During his absence from the nation's capital the administration court program has lain dormant in the senate judiciary committee. No effort has been made to bring it out, for fear that it would be defeated before it could reach the floor of the senate.

Joined by Son James.

This morning Son James, who as a White House secretary has been handling executive mansion lobbying on the proposal, joined his father at Fort Worth, Tex., where he had spent the night with Son Elliott. James reported on the developments in the court fight during the eleven days Mr. Roosevelt trolled Gulf of Mexico waters for tarpon.

Tomorrow the presidential special will be joined by Postmaster General James A. Farley, the political whip cracker of the administration, at Indianapolis. Farley will join James in a conference on the court campaign.

Spends Night at Ranch.

Mr. Roosevelt spent a quiet night at the 900 acre Dutch Branch ranch of Son Elliott, a radio executive. He motored to the ranch shortly after his special train arrived at Fort Worth last night.

He slept late this morning and attended a barbecue on the ranch in the afternoon. The guests at the barbecue were friends of Elliott. RFC Chairman Jesse Jones, who is accompanying the President back to the White House, was among those present.

THE WOLF IS GONE FROM HIS DOOR—AND HE'S UNHAPPY

The wolf is gone from Max Dermer's door. But do you think Mr. Dermer is happy? Not at all. He'd been keeping him there for eight years as an advertisment for his fur business at 5900 Madison street, and the place just isn't the same without the wolf.

He was a good wolf, Mr. Dermer lamented, a smiling wolf who never howled, and, if his nose had been getting a little shabby, his good nature made you forget it. Mr. Dermer used to put him out in front in the morning and bring him in at night. But Tuesday night Mr. Dermer forgot, and when he opened the store yesterday the wolf wasn't there.

IRISHMEN FIGHT ULSTERMEN ON CORONATION DAY

DUBLIN, May 12.—(AP)—The Irish Free State did its best today to ignore the coronation of King George VI. and stress dissolution of the ties which have bound it to the British empire.

Northern Ireland, however, celebrated enthusiastically as though to emphasize its adherence to the empire despite efforts of the south to draw it way. Ulstermen's celebrations produced minor clashes in the north, keeping police on the alert. Flags were torn down in rural portions of Armagh and Tyrone. Telegraph wires were cut between Omagh and Derry. Catholic children pointedly were kept away from the corporation of Belfast feast.

The absence of the British flag in Free State cities was noticeable. Free State stations refused to relay radio broadcasts of the London pageant.

N. Y. POLICE TEAR OFF LOCKS PUT ON GATES OF CITY PLAYGROUNDS

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Policemen armed with claw tools started ripping locks from the gates of playgrounds throughout the city late today as the results of instructions from Mayor La Guardia.

Late yesterday Park Commissioner Robert Moses locked up 142 playgrounds because Works Progress administration officials had ordered the play leaders out on the ground that they were being employed as "maintenance" workers.

When a demand was made on him late today for the keys to the playgrounds Commissioner Moses refused to give them up, it was stated at the office of the mayor. Immediately an order was issued over the teletype sending policemen to the playgrounds with tools.

MERRILL DELAYS HOP TO U. S. DUE TO BAD WEATHER

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Advisers of Henry T. [Dick] Merrill announced tonight that he has postponed the start of his return flight to the United States until Friday afternoon or early evening.

Merril and his co-pilot, John S. Lambie, had been scheduled to take off from Southport beach at Liverpool tonight. The beach was chosen because it is five miles long and gives the necessary run to lift Merrill's Lockheed-Electra plane, heavily laden with fuel.

Thick weather in England forced the postponement by making it impossible to deliver coronation pictures to Merrill by plane at Liverpool. An announced reason for his flight was to deliver these pictures to the United States. Merril reached London Monday after flying from New York.

U. S. Pours 1,000 Bottles of Booze Down the Sewer

Approximately 1,000 bottles of liquor and 125 barrels of wine seized in raids by agents of the alcohol tax unit here were broken and poured down the sewer yesterday at the government warehouse, 310 Polk street. A dozen pin games also were destroyed.

SAY 2 JUSTICES WILL QUIT AND END COURT ROW

Four Under Pressure to Leave Bench.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Well informed members of both the senate and the house judiciary committee today reported "an important development" which they predicted would result next week in a solution of the controversy over President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme court with six New Dealers.

Justice Brandeis.

The "settlement," according to these sources in congress, would involve the retirement of at least two justices.

Rumors that Associate Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Willis Van Devanter were ready to retire have persisted in capitol circles for several days. Prominent members of congress have importuned these and two other justices above 75 years of age—James Clark McReynolds and George Sutherland—to retire and put an end to the court packing controversy "for the good of the court itself."

"On Right Track," Is Report.

The congressional friends of the justices who have been most active in this missionary project refused to disclose what today's "development" was. However, they declared that newspaper stories concerning the rumored imminent retirement of some of the justices were "on the right track."

"Everything will be settled next week," said a judiciary committee member who is intimately acquainted with all the justices.

The court meets on Monday, at which time it may hand down a decision in the momentous social securities cases, last to be argued for this term.

It is conceded that President Roosevelt would be forced to withdraw or face defeat of his court packing bill if as many as two of the six justices now above 70 years of age should avail themselves of the recently enacted statute under which they may retire on full pay [$20,000 a year] for life.

The senate committee's hearings on the packing bill were suspended today pending the President's return to Washington on Friday, when supporters of the measure will go to the White House and get their instructions.

Hold "No Compromise" Stand.

Although the President's bill as it stands appears to be defeated in the senate, with at least fifty senators aganst it, proponents of the measure have received no intimation from Mr. Roosevelt that he would accept a compromise reducing the number of additional justices he could appoint. Pending such word from the President, Chairman Henry F. Ashurst [D., Ariz.] of the judiciary committee and other champions of the packing project still insist that "there will be no compromise."

AUTO SALESMEN ASKED INTO FOLD OF C. I. O. UNION

Martin Starts Chicago Organization.

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, launched a movement last night to incorporate garage workers, agency employés, and even automobile salesmen in his Committee for Industrial Organization union.

He spoke before 1,200 workers at a meeting held in the Steuben building under the auspices of the union's local 299. His plan, it was announced, is to organize the allied branches of the automobile industry along with the manufacturing plants. Efforts to organize the Ford branch at 12600 Torrence avenue are already in progress.

C. I. O. Men Charge Assault.

Assault and battery warants for three men alleged to be industrial policemen at the Ford plant were issued earlier in the day by Judge Matthew Hartigan in the South Chicago court. The complaint was made by John White, 36 years old, of 16108 Park avenue, Harvey, a C. I. O. organizer. White said he and two other organizers, Charles Cain and Irving Brown, were beaten Monday as they were handing out union literature at the plant. Tony Caroza of 2923 Princeton avenue was one of the men named in the warants. John Doe warants were issued for the others.

A. F. of L. Expels Two Unions.

Warfare between the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. continued with the expulsion of the Chicago Teachers of Adult Education union, local 346, from the A. F. of L. John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, notified President H. J. Gibbons of the teachers' union of the expulsion because of Gibbons' activities as C. I. O. regional director.

Fitzpatrick also announced that the A. F. of L. charter of the Stenographers, Typists and Bookkeepers' union, local 20,074, has been revoked because of an unauthorized strike against the National Tea company.

PROFESSOR WARNS JEWS OF 'CRISIS' IN FALLING BIRTH RATE

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—A declining birth rate which threatens the Jewish people with a stationary population within the next four or five decades, and a steady diminution of its once tremendous commercial class, constitute a "crisis" unparalleled in Jewish history since the time of the First Exile, according to Dr. Salo Wittmayer Baron, professor of Jewish history at Columbia university.

In a three volume work, "A Social and Religious History of the Jews," the contents of which were made public today, Dr. Baron held the birth rate problem the most marked of all the "danger signs" now facing his people.

Joan Bennett Files Suit to Divorce Gene Markey

Los Angeles, Cal., May 12.—(AP)—Joan Bennett, blonde film actress, filed a divorce suit against Gene Markey, scenarist, today charging mental cruelty. She asserted he had fits of temper, threatened her without provocation, refused to accompany her and sometimes remained from home without telling his whereabouts. The couple married March 16, 1932.

200 Truck Strikers to Go Back Today in Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis., May 12.—[Special.]—A week old strike of 200 truck drivers against ninety moving and warehouse concerns was settled tonight. The men will return to work tomorrow. William Nagorsne, business agent of the drivers' union, said all except three of the employers had signed union contracts for a forty-eight hour week with wage increases.

Boy, 11, Sees Father Beat Mother; Shoots Him Dead

Coleman McCormick, 38 years old, colored, was shot and fatally wounded last night by his son John, 11 years old, in the yard of their home at 4259 South State street. His wife, Eliza, 34 years old, told police McCormick was beating her when the boy got a pistol out of a bureau and shot his father in the back. He died later in the Provident hospital.

Landlady Is Ordered Held in Roomer's Poison Death

Mrs. Veronica Shurkus, 56 years old, was ordered held to the grand jury on a charge of murder yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Felix Funick, 40, on April 22 in her rooming house at 5410 South Laflin street. An autopsy showed Funick had died of poison.

If you know a leader when you meet one, you'll see the moment you try this sparkling Buick why it's called the out-in-front car of the year.

You'll go for the way it goes for you—serene, steady, gallant as the figurehead on a buoyant ship—you're in for a thrill every time you put it into action.

You handle a wheel that turns as easy as the pages of a book. You press the treadle—and sink inches deep back in the soft cushions with the swoop of its take-off.

You click off miles by the score, the hundred—and no matter how far you range or what gait you travel, you can't get a whine out of that softly whispering engine!

The answer is you've got a car that was born to go places the way you want to go—smoother, safer, steadier than any car you've known.

Power in this flashing Buick is the power of eight straight valve-in-head cylinders. Its gait is the level gait of a car built close to earth with enough bulk to hold it there.

Its maneuverability is the quick mobility of a charger.

Yet the crowning touch of its creators was none of these but the figures they succeeded in writing on its price tag. The hard-to-realize fact is that this great straight eight can be bought for less than some of today's sixes!

There's just one way to get the true picture of Buick's standout value, and that's to drive it yourself. See your authorized Buick dealer soon and get your order in, and you'll enjoy a summer like you've dreamed of!

C. I. O. CALLS OUT 27,000 IN ITS 1ST BIG STEEL STRIKE

U. S. Tries to Halt Spread of Pittsburgh War.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12.—[Special.]—The first major strike in the campaign of John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization to unionize the steel industry got under way at 11 o'clock tonight as night shift workers walked out of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation plants in Pittsburgh and nearby Aliquippa. The strike call affected 27,000 men.

James F. Dewey, federal department of labor conciliator, who made futile efforts to avert the walkout, was seeking to prevent it from spreading to other major independent steel producers. The independents employ 200,000 men in the United States.

Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers' organizing committee, called his men out after a two hour conference with the corporation failed to bring an agreement on his demand for a signed collective bargaining contract.

Maintenance Crews to Stay.

Thousands of pickets, some with large American flags, stood about the Jones & Laughlin mills and without disorder kept nonunion workers from the gates. Nevertheless, the strikers left maintenance crews to keep furnaces warm and to prevent damage to equipment.

The strike was the showdown threatened by Murray a few days ago. At that time he declared the major independents were in unholy alliance. against signing contracts with the union, despite the Supreme court's decision validating the Wagner labor act and its national labor relations board.

The company announced its willingness to sign a contract if it might grant identical terms to nonunion employés and declared its disposition to deal solely with any group that could poll a majority of its employés in an election supervised by the national labor board.

Murray said the conference with Dewey and Chairman H. E. Lewis of the corporation would continue tomorrow. A series of meetings with Dewey and key men of the union committee already have been held.

Enlist Theater Pickets.

Hollywood, Cal., May 12.—[Special.]—From various parts of the country came promises today of active support of the plans of striking movie technicians to picket moving picture theaters in all large cities. Strike leaders hope to have 2,000,000 pickets stationed in front of theaters throughout the nation.

In Detroit Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers' union, announced that picketing of 11 theaters there would begin tomorrow. He said picketing from 10:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. will continue for the duration of the studio workers' strike.

In New York leaders of a dozen different unions met to draw plans for mass picketing of theaters.

Return Today in Flint.

Flint, Mich., May 12.—[Special.]—Two thousand Chevrolet and Fisher Body plant workers, who were thrown into idleness by a sitdown strike in the latter factory this afternoon, agreed tonight to return to work tomorrow morning pending a conference with the management.

The sitdown started in the spot welding department of the Fisher Body No. 2 plant because, it was said, some men claimed they were not receiving as much pay as others.

Mother Missing

"HELEN."

The Warren avenue police were searching last night for the parents of a baby girl, 13 months old, known only as Helen, who was left at the home of Mrs. Mary Johnson, 67 years old, colored, 2432 Warren avenue, five weeks ago. The mother of the child paid $3 a week board for her for three weeks and last Sunday told Mrs. Johnson she would take the baby away. Later Mrs. Johnson fell ill and was unable to continue caring for the child. Police took Helen to St. Vincent's orphanage.

NO BIGAMIST NOW, SHE FAINTS AFTER LEGAL MANEUVER

To prevent Mrs. Marian Davis Petitfils Meade from being a bigamous bride, Judge John C. Lewe yesterday dissolved her marriage to her first husband, then remarried her to her new husband, Lester Meade, 1407 East 75th street. The strain was too much for the bride. She fainted in the judge's chambers.

Mrs. Meade had the erroneous impression last Monday that Judge Lewe had dissolved her marriage to Bryan T. Petitfils of New Orleans, whom she married eleven years ago at the age of 14. Accordinly she and Meade, who had been her sweetheart for a year, were married a few hours later.

When her attorney, Harry X. Cole, learned of this, he hastened to Judge Lewe, urging that he sign the decree, testimony for which was presented Monday, and then remarry the couple. After performing this service yesterday Judge Lewe revealed that last December he gave a divorce to Meade's first wife, Gladys.

LEWIS ATTACKS WHAT HE TERMS GREEN'S TREASON

Scorns A. F. of L. Peace, He Tells Convention.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 12.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis charged today that William Green tried to prevent Gov. Murphy of Michigan from settling the recent General Motors strike.

He called the president of the American Federation of Labor a traitor to organized labor, and declared none of the hundreds of thousands unionized in the campaign of the Committee for Industrial Organization wants any peace with the American Federation of Labor, and neither does Lewis.

Mr. Lewis shouted his charges at the 23d convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union here, and was interrupted frequently by cheers and applause.

Tells of Telephoned Protest.

"In February," Mr. Lewis said, "I sat in conference with General motors representatives in Gov. Murphy's office. It was a long uphill fight against one of the greatest corporations in America. One day there came a telephone call from Washington. At the other end of the line was Green, who was speaking from his office and surrounded by the presidents of the metal trades and building trades organizations.

"And in Washington Green pounded the table and demanded that the governor of Michigan not permit any settlement of that strike. That is not merely treason to the labor movement. That is an act of moral turpitude. That is an offense against morality.

"General Motors, with all its millions, did not need Green's strength, but they got it, and they'll probably get it again."

Alleges Chrysler Case Meddling.

Lewis asserted tnat the A. F. of L. had sought similarly to scotch a settlement in the Chrysler strike.

"They talked about peace in the labor movement. But who started this war?"

RELIEF SITTER CHANGES MIND AND TAKES JOB

Ben Paliferro, 50 years old, who was arrested Tuesday after an eight day sitdown strike in front of the Wicker park relief station, 1056 North Wood street, agreed to go to work yesterday when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge Cecil C. Smith on a charge of disorderly conduct. Paliferro, who turned down several WPA jobs on the ground he was too ill to work, will become an inside watchman at Soldiers' field.

Robert Barnes, 29 years old, 9532 Greenwood avenue, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Gibson E. Gorman of the Municipal court to a charge of receiving $180.02 in relief while he was employed as a construction foreman at $130 a month. He was placed on probation on his promise to make restitution.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

BUSINESS AND ART

By CALEB

GREAT composers purposefully arrange notes in definite order, and music is born. A great poet strings words like beads into certain sequence, and an epic is created.

Yesterday we indicated that the designer of the pattern of a business that functions effectively works in common with other creative masters.

Anyone who serves civilization through creating or contributing to that which is useful and beautiful and has social values is akin to these others.

A locomotive company may appear to have but little in common with a dairy. A lumber yard may seem to have but little in common with a department store.

The problems of all, however, resolve into five groups: Problems of policy, organization, personnel, facilities, and methods.

Proper solutions to all the important problems in these categories serve to produce an effective business. To a good business man there is beauty in a smoothly functioning and efficient business.

Results do not simply happen. They are the offspring of causes. The business executive who deliberately increases the effectiveness of a business by logically considering his problems and fitting their solutions into an effective whole is as much a designer as any architect. The astute business executive who works according to carefully conceived plans, does something similar to what is done by the best designers or inventors in the world, or the greatest statesmen and generals.

One man may work with color, fabric, and pattern. Another may work with metals, weight, and masses. Another may work with systems or political economy, another with soldiers, terrain, armaments, and objectives. Still another may work with policies, organization, and personnel in business.

But they all work—if they are able men—toward an orderliness and an eye for pattern which gives them something common in destiny.

HORNER SUBMITS BUDGET; STILL IN RED $3,585,000

Bills Would Appropriate $442,526,000.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Appropriation bills to authorize funds for the government of Illinois during the biennium beginning July 1, finally reached the legislature today accompanied by a message from Gov. Horner disclosing that the budget still is $3,585,098 out of balance.

It is proposed to spend $442,526,698 during the next two years, the largest outlay in the history of the state. For the current biennium appropriations totaled $428,197,052.

By theoretically scraping the bottom of the anticipated revenue till the governor and his department of finance estimate the income for the general purposes of the government at $223,300,000. But the appropriations to maintain these functions total $226,885,098; thus the $3,585,098 deficit.

Rest of Funds Earmarked.

The remainder of the $442,526,698 budget total is composed of the earmarked funds, such as the fixed charges against the state for retirement of road bonds, and other activities covered by special taxes.

Every constitutional officer, from the governor down to the clerk of the Supreme court, and every code department head—the governor's cabinet members—asked and were granted an increase in their expenditures for the next two years.

The legislature has the power, of course, to reduce the proposed figures, but if past performances during the last three or four sessions can be taken as a norm, not much paring down will be done.

In his message to the general assembly the governor reported that a series of conferences he held with house and senate subcommittees and the constitutional and code officers during the last few weeks had made possible a reduction of $12,795,190 in the tentative budget of last month.

Dig Up One More Source.

This preliminary budget was out of balance by the sum of $18,884,288. In addition to the $12,795,190 lopped off at the retrenchment conferences, the governor and Sam Nudelman, his finance director, have anticipated $2,500,000 in revenue not included in the tentative budget. They are hopeful of getting this much from the protest fund paid under the first public utility tax which was declared unconstitutional.

The governor said in his message that he hoped the $3,585,098 deficit will be offset during the biennium by each of the state's activities retrenching in so far as is possible the appropriated expenditures of their respective activities and also by further energetic enforcement of state revenue producing laws. This was taken to mean that Nudelman's department is going hard after sales tax evaders.

Would Divorce for Nagging.

Representative Charles J. Jenkins [R., Chicago] attempted today to have extreme and repeated nagging for one year added to the list of causes for divorce in Chicago.

He made his effort in connection with consideration of Senator Richey V. Graham's [D., Chicago] divorce bills before the house judiciary committee. Three of the bills, including the only one with any marked opposition, were recommended for passage. The vote was 10 to 6 for all three.

The fourth bill in the Graham set—the one requiring that marriage license applications be made at least three days in advance of their issuance, which is known as the anti-gin marriage bill, was deferred by the committee until next week. Chairman F. W. Lewis said that Representative Richard J. Lyons [R., Waukegan], one of the Gretna Greens famous for hasty marriages, had requested the delay as he wishes to propose and amendment providing that applications for licenses may be made by mail.

The senate passed the bill sponsored by Senator T. V. Smith [D., Chicago] for the creation of an Illinois legislative council which between sessions of the general assembly would devote itself to legislative problems of the state and make recommendations concerning them.

GETS 3 YEARS IN AUTO THEFT.

Bert Kroner, 43 years old, who has a long criminal record, was sentenced yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in Federal court to three years in Leavenworth penitentiary for interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Disrobes in Cell

Darien, Conn., May 12.—[Special.]—The ultimate in strip-teasing was displayed to the Darien police early today by Mrs. Ethel Smith Atwell Tolley, who champions the wearing of as few clothes as possible. The ex-wife of Roy Atwell, stage and radio comedian, whose didoes caused her to be barred from Westport, Conn., was driving down the Post road at 4:40 a. m. when she ran into a truck. Two policemen said she was intoxicated and took her to the town lockup.

"You can't put me in a cell," she protested to Chief Edward Tinker. "I haven't got my negligee with me and I always sleep in the raw."

Chief Tinker refused to be swayed, and a cell door slammed on Ethel. She promptly began to disrobe in the cell. There the official narrative ends. But Darien policemen said unofficially later today that Ethel was every bit as good as her word.

Ethel, however, dressed at midday when she awoke. And, at dusk, she still was waiting for some one to post a $350 bond, in default of which she will stay locked up until Saturday, when her trial comes up.

FOSTER-KIMBALL BUS SERVICE TO START BY JULY 1

Mayor Announces Early Delivery of Coaches.

Mayor Kelly revealed yesterday that bus service in Foster and Kimball avenues will be started by July 1, or more than a month earlier than had been expected. He said he had been informed by the Chicago Surface lines that the manufacturers will deliver buses for the service under old bids received last December, in spite of increased labor and material costs.

Surface lines officials had estimated, after the adoption of an ordinance by the city council granting them authority to operate the new bus lines last week, that probably ninety days would be required to get delivery of the buses.

Buses to Cost $8,500.

The Surface lines has awarded the contract for the thirty-three new buses to the Twin Coach company of Kent, O., the low bidders. The buses will cost approximately $8,500 each, a total of about $280,000. They will be of the latest design and construction, with the engine in the rear, front entrance, and side exits. Each will seat thirty-one passengers.

"If it develops that delivery cannot be made by July 1," said Mayor Kelly yesterday, "I will urge the surface lines to put on any buses available to give needed service without further delay."

Ask Transfers to "L."

Transfer privileges between the new bus lines and three connecting elevated stations will be asked by the city in a petition to be filed with the Illinois commerce commission within two days, Assistant Corporation Counsel James J. Danaher said.

Danaher, at Mayor Kelly's direction, conferred with James M. Slattery, chairman of the commission yesterday, regarding hearings on the city's petition for a 5 cent fare on the surface lines for school children from 12 to 17 years old. Slattery said a hearing would be called within two weeks. The petition has been pending since last August.

Nun Falls to Her Death; Return Accident Verdict

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury which investigated the death of Sister Adrian, 47 years old, who was killed early in the day by a fall from the convent quarters on the fourth floor of the Lourdes High school, 4034 West 56th street. Sister Adrian, who was Frances Bartczak of Duluth, Minn., entered the order of St. Joseph in 1913 and had spent nearly twenty years of her service teaching in Detroit. She had not been teaching here because of ill health.

GERMAN POLICE ORDER CATHOLIC HOSPITAL CLOSED

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)—Nazi authorities today closed St. Vincent's Catholic hospital at Diusburg.

A police communique said the action was taken because of conditions which "fail to insure expert treatment of all illnesses according to medical necessities and which in one particular case proved the principal cause for the death of a Diusburg citizen."

A sentence virtually equivalent to incarceration for life was given to a young Catholic priest on conviction of immorality at Braunsberg, in East Prussia. He must serve 12 years at hard labor, after which he will be interned under perpetual police surveillance. Eighteen co-defendants received sentences of 18 months each.

A court at Freiburg convicted a middle aged priest on 24 similar counts. He was sentenced to two years and ten months' imprisonment.

[ADVERTISMENT]

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It's the costliest kind of driving you do

ONE STOP can waste enough gasoline to take you one-third of a mile . . . and you average 30 stops every day!

To cut down the high cost of stop-and-go driving, Shell engineers developed a way to "balance" gasoline.

By this revolutionary balancing process, the entire chemical structure of gasoline is rearranged. Actually Super-Shell is made "digestible" for your motor, just as some foods are made digestible for you by cooking.

When you're starting, shifting, accelerating —at all times—your motor gets the full benefit of Super-Shell's high energy content.

"Motor-digestible" is the best way to describe this gasoline.

There's a Shell dealer in your neighborhood. Stop there "next time" for gas.

WILD PROPELLER GIVEN AS THEORY FOR ZEP'S BLAST

Navy Man Tells of Seeing Burst in Structure.

Lieut. R. F. Tyler.

Lakehurst, N. J., May 12.—[Special.]—A new theory of the cause of the explosion and fire which destroyed the Hindenburg with a loss of thirty-five lives here last Thursday night was developed today when the official investigating board inquired into the possibility that a propeller had flown off one of the engines and driven through the hull of the dirigible with terrific force.

Lieut. Benjamin May II., U. S. N., assistant mooring officer, who was on top the mooring mast at the time of the accident, testified he saw the structure of the dirigible, aft of the rear motor gondola on the port side, blow out in flames before he heard the first explosion. This was a new version of the accident, and might support the theory that the propeller, bursting through the side of the ship, had pierced a hydrogen bag and set off sparks by contact with metal, first causing a fire and then an explosion. Lieut. May's testimony amplified—and in essentials agreed with—an account of the disaster given earlier in the day by Lieut. Raymond F. Tyler, U. S. N.

Ruins Inspected Again.

Under questioning by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of the air commerce bureau of the department of commerce and a member of the investigating board, Lieut. May said the sound which accompanied the collapse of the ship's side was a "cracking" noise such as could have been made by a heavy piece of wood the size of a propeller blade smashing through the hull. The witness testified, however, he did not see any propeller fly off.

The investigating board made a two hour inspection of the dirigible's wreckage and anounced it had found two pieces of wooden propellor blades. One piece, about a foot long, was 49 feet from the after port motor, near where the first explosion occurred. It was slightly charred and it appeared to be the tip of a propellor blade. The other piece, about two feet long and badly charred, was found near the edge of the wreckage.

Defends Ground Crew.

Lieut. Tyler, who was chief mooring officer in direct charge of the ground crew last Thursday, defended the conduct of his crew. He said it was thoroughly experienced in handling the Hindenburg's moorings last year, that its mooring gear was properly tested and in perfect condition, and that it had the airship under complete control.

Lieuts. Tyler and May disagreed with Commander Charles E. Rosendahl of the Lakehurst station, who testified Monday the ship's trail ropes should have grounded all the static electricity accumulated by the dirigible when they were dropped four minutes before the fire was detected, thus casting doubt on the static theory.

The mooring officers testified the ropes were so dry that they could not have discharged the ship's static.

WITNESS FOR STATE IN N. Y. OPERA HOUSE SLAYING DISAPPEARS

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—A jury in General Sessions hearing evidence in the murder of Frank Cicero, who was shot during a banquet in the Manhattan Opera house, was told today that an important state's witness had vanished.

Police officials testified they had been unable to find William Haas, a special officer in the opera house, who helped with the search for the killers immediately after Cicero was slain.

Police Inspector Michael F. McDermott related that when he reached the banquet hall he ordered every one to take the positions at the tables that they had occupied when Cicero was killed. Two places were vacant. Eighty-eight hours later, he said, Joseph Berger and Gabriel Klar, who are on trial, surrendered to the police.

HOPE FOR GOOD CROPS HELD CRUX IN MINNEAPOLIS

Explains Why Reds Chose It for Revolt.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—[Special.]—"Give us just one good crop."

That is the watchword of this city's discontent. The frustrated hope which it expresses does much to explain why the communists picked Minneapolis as a major point of attack in their attempt to foment an American revolution.

"One good crop" does not apply to Minnesota. Minnesota has good crops. It has them about as regularly as any other good agricultural area. But the Twin Cities' hinterland, the Dakotas and Montana, has struggled through seven lean years, including the destructive drouths of 1934 and 1936.

There's Close Relationship.

There has been a direct relation between busted, starving farmers in Minneapolis' back country and hungry, riotous truck drivers in the city. This has been but one of the symptoms of a sick city which brought the communist organizers flocking in here and, while probably not the principal one, it is the most stubborn.

The communist attack appears to have been repulsed for the time being. It has been repulsed largely on the economic front. Political events, including the victory in the mayoralty primary of former Mayor George E. Leach, a conservative, over two radical Farmer-Labor candidates, have been the result largely of a conscious attempt by intelligent citizens to cure some of the economic sores.

Basis for Their Hopes.

These were the factors which convinced the communists that Minneapolis was their American happy hunting ground:

1. The distressed back country, mentioned before.

2. Sick industry in Minneapolis, due in part to the Esch-Cummins railroad act of 1920, partly to the obsolescent plants and business practices of many of the city's factories.

3. A large surplus labor supply [even before the depression], combined with low wage scales and anti-union policies. The violence of Minneapolis' labor disorders, many employers in the city say today, was partly traceable to the fact that the Citizens Alliance, open shop champions, sat on the lid so long that when the explosion did come there was a tremendous head of steam behind it.

4. The radical Farmer-Labor governments in the state and city, which came into power because of the economic distress arising from the causes given, and which it has been the ambition of the communists either to seize or destroy.

It's a Market Center.

While Minneapolis is not unimportant as a manufacturing center, its great economic function is as a gateway to the northwest. It is a market town. The more westerly part of its trade territory was once one of the greatest cattle countries in the world.

The sparsely settled cattle country sent all its freight in one direction, eastward. In an attempt to balance their freight movements the railroads sought to build up the area for agriculture. It has been said, with some exaggeration, that the only westbound freight they ever handled was the farmers' household goods because they have been too poor to buy anything since they landed. Eastward the country sent wheat and radical senators.

Many students of agriculture believe that the prayer for "just one good crop" will not be answered, or not frequently enough to make a living for the wheat farmers and their trading center, the Twin Cities. They believe the salvation of the country lies in putting it back in grass and raising cattle. This would be the work of a quarter century and one good crop would destroy ten years' efforts to restore the cattle business, for cattle can't compete with wheat—if you can raise the wheat.

CITY PARKING LOT TAX APPEALED AS UNJUST AND DISCRIMINATORY

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Eight operators of automobile parking lots in downtown Chicago appealed to the Supreme court here this afternoon to nullify a tax boost on their business enacted by the city council last December. They seek to reverse a decision a week ago by Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court sustaining the ordinance.

The appellants, who are the largest parking lot operators in Chicago's central business district, contend that the city tax is discriminatory against them in favor of garages, and, therefore, is unconstitutional.

According to the parking lot men, the tax is an oppressive burden on their business, employing 5,000 men and representing $4,000,000 in property. Their business, they say, indirectly produces $2,000,000 annually in taxes, since in leasing lots otherwise unproductive the rentals for the most part are used by the realty owners in paying delinquent taxes.

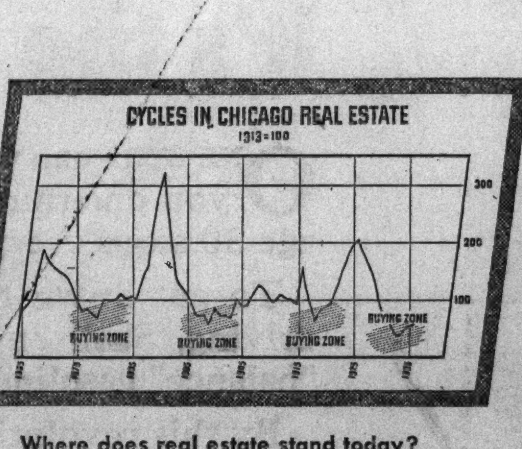
CHICAGO AREA REAL ESTATE, WELL BOUGHT, HAS PROVED ITSELF ONE OF THE SOUNDEST FORMS OF INVESTMENT

THERE IS STILL TIME TO BUY CHICAGO AREA REAL ESTATE ON A FAVORABLE BASIS

● Are you fully aware of the improvement that has come to Chicago area real estate?
Rents have risen about 10% in the last year. Prices of residential property and desirable vacant sites have advanced. Foreclosures have declined. Improvement in general business has caused an "undoubling" of thousands of families. As a result average residential occupancy has jumped from 72% in 1932 to 96% today. Livable vacant dwellings are becoming scarce.
What to do when buying property
Many opportunities for acquiring well situated Chicago area real estate on a favorable basis can still be found. You may wish to take advantage of one of these opportunities. If you do, we believe that you will find these suggestions helpful.
Examine carefully the property you buy—just as you would any other investment. Your purchase is going to be very important to you—perhaps the most important you will ever make. Be sure that the home or building site you select fits your needs and your income. Arrange the financing so that you can meet payments when due. Make your purchase through your real estate broker. He can help you in many ways. Finally, insist on a Title Guarantee Policy. It will protect your title—an important part of your investment.
Interest rates now low
Mortgage money is now plentiful. Interest rates are the lowest in years. If you can make a reasonable down payment, your monthly installments on a home will probably be no more than you are now paying for rent. Why don't you plan to buy your home this spring or summer?



Where does real estate stand today?
Real estate cycles usually last longer than stock market swings. This chart shows the most favorable buying periods in the last 75 years. Many authorities feel that Chicago real estate is now in the early stages of an upward trend.

Vacant buildings in Chicago get scarcer
For five depression years, building in the Chicago area was at a virtual standstill. But if the builders were idle, the wreckers were not. Since mid-1934, more than 5,600 buildings have been demolished or destroyed by fire. Today there are fewer dwellings available than five years ago. Meantime the population has increased. This situation is one of the factors responsible for the recent improvement in real estate values.

Wouldn't you like to own a home like this?
Today you can buy a home on the convenient monthly payment plan. Your payments cover interest, taxes, insurance and reduction of the principal so that, at the end of 11 to 20 years, your home is really yours—clear of all debt! Frequently payments are little, if any, more than the buyers had been paying out each month for rent.

Divorces must be studied for effect on real estate titles
Cook County courts granted 8,881 divorces in 1936. Many of the divorces were granted to owners of real estate. To purchase property from one of them with safety, you should know whether the divorce action has clouded the title. This is one of the countless things revealed by the multimillion-item records of Chicago Title & Trust Co. Your broker will tell you how Chicago Title Guarantee Policies protect real estate buyers, insure you against loss from any defect in your title. Insist on this protection when you buy property.

Let a real estate broker find the house or building site you want
The most satisfactory way to buy property is through a real estate broker. He knows the many local factors that influence values and can help you make your selection wisely.

DODD A SCANDAL MONGER, BORAH SAYS OF LETTER

Calls Dictator Warning Disgraceful Yarn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—William E. Dodd, United States ambassador to Germany, who has been writing letters to Democratic leaders urging support of President Roosevelt to avert a dictatorship, was denounced as an irresponsible scandal monger and a disgrace to his country by Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] today.

Ambassador Dodd, a former professor of history at the University of Chicago, declared in his letters to Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.] and others that an unnamed American billionaire was ready to promote and control an American dictatorship. He urged support of the Supreme court packing bill to keep the United States from going the way of the Hitler and other European dictatorships.

Diseased Brain, Senator Surmises.

"I have an idea his supposed dictatorship is the figment of a diseased brain," said Senator Borah, dean of the senate and ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee.

Dodd also was denounced on the floor of the house by Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], who demanded that he be recalled and forced to name the man who has one billion dollars to put over a dictatorship.

Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rad., N. D.], said he would introduce a resolution calling upon the state department to demand that Dood name the billionaire.

Enlarges on Admonition.

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)—Ambassador William E. Dodd amplified today his warning of yesterday against dangers of Fascist dictatorship in the United States. He cautioned against perils which would follow defeat of President Roosevelt's recovery program.

In a prepared statement the former University of Chicago history professor cited outstanding failures of great presidential plans, those of Presidents Jefferson, Lincoln, Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, and Wilson.

He listed judicial vetoes among the causes for such defeats and said in every case the will of the people was defeated. The present situation, he asserted, involved a similar and even more important series of popular decisions.

Inveighs Against Wealthy.

He reiterated his warning of activities of persons of great wealth in the United States looking toward Fascist rule but disclosed no identities. Yesterday he referred to an American billionaire; today it was certain great millionaires.

Today's warnings were contained in a statement explaining the letter the ambassador disclosed yesterday he wrote on March 1 to Senator Robert J. Bulkley [D., O.], with copies to Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.] and other senators.

JURY AT ROCKFORD FINDS WIFE GUILTY AS HUSBAND KILLER

Mrs. Helen Clark.

Rockford, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Helen Clark, 43 years old, was convicted by a Circuit court jury today of the shotgun murder of her husband, Richard, on the night of April 6 as he slept. The jury recommended she be sentenced to prison for fourteen years.

In an alleged confession which Mrs. Clark repudiated on the witness stand she was quoted as saying she killed her husband "because I loved him and he didn't love me and I couldn't stand it."

When the jury returned its verdict after deliberating three and a half hours Mrs. Clark collapsed.

WENDEL LED ON BY PARKER, HE SAYS ON STAND

Newark, N. J., May 12.—[Special.]—Paul H. Wendel testified today that Ellis H. Parker asked him to seek new evidence on the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. because the state police framed Bruno Richard Hauptmann. Parker and his son, Ellis Jr., are on trial charged with conspiring to kidnap Wendel, who was held prisoner until he confessed the Lindbergh baby abduction.

"From the information I gave him Parker would make deductions and see how it dovetailed," Wendel said. "He told me he was taking up with Gov. Harold Hoffman the information I obtained."

Wendel said he collected information from a New York newspaper and an astrology magazine and sent it to the Burlington county detective chief. The information, he said, pertained to a Chicago gangster who fitted the description of the stoop shouldered man with a limp and a German accent whom Parker had sought.

REBELS SHOWER BOMBS IN THREE RAIDS ON BILBAO

Attacking Army 5 Miles from Spanish City.

BULLETIN.

GUERNICA, Spain, May 13 [Thursday].—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco's northern insurgent army rolled government lines nearer to the Basque capital of Bilbao today in a general engagement along a 15 mile battle front which reached at some points within five miles of the beleaguered city. From the north and the east the insurgent troops pressed their drive to crush the defenses of the city. The heights north and just east of Munguia, 8 miles north of Bilbao, fell into insurgent hands.

BILBAO, Spain, May 12.—(AP)—Rebel planes dumped more than 100 bombs into the suburbs of harrassed Bilbao today, but did not fulfill Gen. Emilio Mola's threat to blast the Basque capital to bits.

Terror stricken inhabitants, mindful of the rebel northern commander's warning he would bombard the city "without mercy" if it did not surrender by today, ducked for cover three times as nine bombing planes and seven pursuit planes roared over Bilbao. Several gasoline tanks were set afire and nearby buildings were destroyed.

[Mola's men pushed forward from the east to a point six miles from Bilbao, rebel reports said. They claimed 2,500 Basques were killed and wounded in a vain attempt to hold Biscargi hill, north of Amorebieta.]

Fighting Rages Near Toledo.

TOLEDO, Spain, May 12.—(AP)—Heavy government attacks against historic rebel held Toledo developed today into a mass offensive in which, rebels said, the attackers suffered "unprecedented slaughter."

Government prisoners estimated their dead in the campaign at more than 3,000 rebel reports said.

Waves of government infantry charged rebel positions along a six mile front south of the Tagus river as a climax to four days of fighting. Estimates of governmene troops in the offensive ranged from 18,000 to 22,000 men.

"Volunteers" Nabbed at Border.

PERPIGNAN, France, May 12.—(AP)—Forty-three persons, said to include several Americans, were arrested last night near the Franco-Spanish border on suspicion of attempting to enter Spain in violation of the nonintervention agreement. Twenty-nine were seized in a bus near Elne and fourteen near Col de Bousseils.

HINT INCENDIARISM IN SOUTH SIDE FIRE; 200 FLEE FROM FLATS

Possibility of incendiarism was being investigated last night in connection with the fire that caused $75,000 damage early yesterday in a building housing an ice plant, beer distributing station, and riding stable at 6105 University avenue.

Students and faculty members from the University of Chicago, near by, watched as heat and smoke drove 200 persons to the street from a 96 flat building across the street, at 6104 Woodlawn avenue. Twelve riding horses were led to safety by Joseph De Benedito of 6335 Ingleside avenue and Eric Habel of 1157 East 61st street.

In another early morning fire Mrs. Anna Braverman, 22 years old, rescued her two babies from their blazing apartment at 3234 Douglas boulevard. Fireman Vernon Cole of squad 7 was overcome before the fire, which caused $2,500 damage, was extinguished.

MOTHER KILLED TRYING IN VAIN TO SAVE SON IN FIRE

A mother and her son were burned to death early today as fire destroyed their home at 1339 West 49th place. Five other members of the family escaped. The flames spread to two adjoining dwellings, forcing twenty members of six families to flee to the street.

The victims were Mrs. Helen Witkowski, 38 years old, and her son, Stephen, 12. The fire started in the kitchen of their home and spread rapidly. Two other sons, Henry, 22 years old, and John, 14, awakened and aroused their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Witkowski, their sisters, Jeanette, 21, and Wanda, 19, and Stephen, who was sleeping alone on a couch in a front room on the second floor.

Firemen said Stephen apparently became panic stricken and ran into a bedroom. His mother dashed after him in an effort to save him, and both were overcome. When the other members of the family reached the street the place was blazing, and they could not reënter.

Firemen estimated the total damage to the three houses at $5,000.

SLAIN DIAMOND JOE ESPOSITO'S ESTATE CLOSED

The books were closed yesterday on Diamond Joe Esposito, west side political leader who was slain by shotgun assassins in 1928. Probate Judge John F. O'Connell approved a final accounting and distribution of his $26,393 estate, all in cash.

Disbursements for claims and expenses amounted to $13,004. This included $3,200 for a bronze casket at his funeral, attended by 8,000 men, women, and children, one of the largest ever held in Chicago. It also included $1,111 for the hire of fifty-seven automobiles in the funeral procession, twenty-one of them carrying flowers.

The balance of the estate was divided by Esposito's widow, Carmela, who previously had been given a widow's award of $2,400, and their three children, Joseph Jr., 22 years old; Jeanette, 18, and Charles, 12. Listed as of no value was a 1927 Cunningham automobile. Attorney Reuel H. Grunewald represented the estate.

Of Imported Silk Crepe

Alive with New Pattern and Color Interest

$1.50

For a fabric as well suited for spring and summer neckties—silk crepe, in our opinion, hasn't had the following it deserves. This season should, however, see a change, for the designs and colorings in this 1937 collection include besides the large, colorful figures for which crepes are noted, patterns not only to win over the devotee of small, neat all-over figures, but others in subdued colorings that will be of interest to the most dyed-in-wool conservatives.

Ties, First Floor

Tropic Weight Worsted
Two Trousers, Coat and Vest
$38.50

To take a practical view on the matter of summer clothing—there's nothing better fitted to stand the gaff of six hot days a week in town than a suit of tropical worsted. That's especially true of crease resistant tropic weight worsteds of this quality. They hold their press and their screen-like weave is an open invitation to every passing breeze. Along with that they tailor beautifully, and hold their lines with the rigidity of the much heavier weight materials whose patterns they take after.

If you yield to the urge of ideas, here's a chance to yield in the right direction and provide yourself with shirts capable of proving to you that dressing for warm weather doesn't call for a letdown in your usual high standard of appearance. The weight of these shirts is negligible and what they offer in collar interest and original new thoughts in stripe arrangement and coloring is pulse stirring. The shirt with short point collar comes with French cuffs.

CHURCH AND KING.

Events in Great Britain since the great crisis of December to the coronation of George VI., the substitute king taking the place of the real king who spent the day knitting and playing golf at a French château, prove that the royal institution in the kingdom and empire is one of the Church of England rather than of the British people.

Traditionally a great mass of the English people, more particularly the English than the Scotch or Welsh and distinctly not all the Irish, support the institution or tolerate it as a romantic continuity linking their great past to their present and projecting it into the future. The king is not only their pictorial head of state, but as the empire has fallen apart into self-governing dominions he has been more and more accepted as the symbol of a unity which does not otherwise exist and of a sentimental attachment which prevails when political and social tendencies pull the great structure to pieces. The king, as it has been revealed since Edward's great decision in December, is a creature of the church.

When the succession passed over to the Scotch branch of the Lancastrians, the Stuarts—because of the marriage of Margaret, the daughter of Henry VII., to the Scot king—James I. and his son Charles I. sided with the Church of England against the Puritan element in it.

James I. hated the established church of John Knox in Scotland because John had told him he was God's little serving boy. He found consolation in the conduct of the Church of England and its respect for his royal person and doomed the Stuart line by permitting Archbishop Laud to take the repressive measures his ecclesiastic fervor permitted him to adopt, to his own destruction and later to the destruction of a royal line. The conflict was between the king, supported by the prelates, against parliament, controled by the Puritans and dissenters, and in the war that followed Charles I. lost his head and the prelates lost their supremacy.

It is true that a king who controled both church and parliament cut off the head of an archbishop years before and the parliament Charles I. could not control cut off his head, but the church came back with Charles II. upon conditions which required an ecclesiastical tolerance for kingly code of domestic morality [or could it be called immorality?] which has persisted ever since. It is true that James II., following his brother, tried to destroy the Church of England and give the country back to the Catholic faith. His abdication and flight resulted in the law of succession preventing the marriage of a king or his heir to a woman of that faith, but the tolerance of royal irregularities and high jinks continued.

George III. reëstablished domesticity and its traditions, but his son who became George IV. earned the title of being the chief blackguard of Europe and during the period of Victorian righteousness Edward, the heir, made himself a reputation as an unmarrying John Barrymore and, saving the presence of George V. and Mary, the conduct of the family of Windsor and that of Broadway were not dissimilar.

After our revolution had brought independence to the colonies the Anglican church would not consecrate bishops who would not take the oath of allegiance to the king and the first Protestant Episcopal bishop got his consecration from nonjuring Scotch bishops in Aberdeen. Today dissenters are only tolerated at the ceremony by which the Church of England anoints and crowns the king and emperor. The independent churches, including the Baptists and Methodists, who represent great masses of the common people of England, asked to be allowed to take a churchly part in the ceremonial and were denied it. One of the objections against Edward was that he favored granting their request.

In Church of England doctrin the legitimate heir to the throne of England is the only legitimate heir, and yet the church aided the ministry in forcing Edward to abdicate, probably because it realizes that its fate is entirely in the control of parliament. Of recent years the church has wanted to change the prayer book. Dissenters in the house of commons, having no communion in the church, have been able to prevent the carrying out of a church policy much desired by the hierarchy. The dissenters accept the dominance of the Church of England in the coronation and they accept the exclusion of faiths to which they adhere because most of the London shopkeepers, although dissenters or of independent churches, realize that they cash in on the ceremonial as managed by the Church of England, and the profit motive makes them agreeable to dominance which they might naturally resent and reject as injurious to their position as Englishmen, equal to others in the privilege and right of choice of faith and church.

SUPERHIGHWAYS MUST COME.

The Chicago Regional Planning commission's project for the construction of 340 miles of superhighways through fifteen counties included in the metropolitan area, as published in Monday's TRIBUNE, should have the unqualified approval of everybody. Many studies have been made of the direction and volume of motorized trafic first to determine the width of road that will be necessary. Then came the final detail of the superhighway itself on which opposing streams of trafic will be separated by a parkway and trucks in their turn separated from pleasure trafic and from each other. It is especially encouraging to note that the estimated cost of $81,000,000 is well within the means of existing road revenues. Now let us build it.

This plan will bring the rural highways to the city limits so that an immediate start on our intraurban system of 160 miles of elevated roads becomes imperative. To dump the motor trafic of this well planned and well organized hinterland system on Chicago's outmoded and murderous streets would be a calamity. Not only would the city become choked with its own commerce, but, as is the case with our present highways, all that is gained from uninterrupted travel at high speeds without the city would be lost in the interminable delays between the border line and final destination. Chicago has a job to do, and the sooner it makes a start the sooner it will be completed. Even now metropolitan growth is being stunted by congestion. Within a relatively short time it will be halted outright, after which we can stand helplessly by to watch the benefits flow to other cities that have seen the handwriting on the wall and modernized the means of communication within their limits.

IS MR. DODD DODDERING?

Dr. William E. Dodd of the University of Chicago was a distinguished historian before his Democratic affiliations made it fitting that he should be named as ambassador to Germany. Apparently it is difficult if not impossible to keep an ambassadorial appointment from wrecking whatever valuable characteristics, however tough and resistive, a gentleman has before he is subjected to the peculiarities of diplomatic dodges and devices. Only the exceptional American comes through the experience without a great change in his habits or a subtle modification in his noodle.

Ambassador Dodd has written to several of his friends in the United States senate a letter just made public, in which he argues that congress will accept the Roosevelt court packing bill if it wants to avoid a dictatorship imposed on the country by some billionaire Fascist. He wrote that he had been informed by friends that an unnamed American with a billion dollars was prepared to support a dictator and that "there are individuals of great wealth who wish a dictatorship and who are ready to help a Huey Long."

Mr. Roosevelt's friends in Washington are busy circulating the story that the only way to avoid a dictatorship is to give Mr. Roosevelt, who is, they say, only the average traditional American, the control over congress and the courts. Then these other unnamed enemies of the American republic will not be able to carry out their plans because the dictatorship will already have been established and it will be safely intrusted to a man who will dictate undictatorially.

This is the story of the Rooseveltians who would like to make the court a notarial body, each judge with a little clamp which impresses a seal with a few lines of formal recording showing, among other things, the "expiration of my commission." The theory is that Mr. Roosevelt is so unchangeably an old-fashioned American that even if all American processes of government were changed and that whatever he asked for should be given him without an argument or dissent or opposition or vote or judicial scrutiny all would be well and the people would avoid the unpleasantness and discomfort which have come to other lands in which one man was given precisely such powers.

Senator William E. Borah, learning of Dr. Dodd's advice to the senate, remarked that "if he is against dictatorship and is for the court packing plan he is crazy." It may be that Dr. Dodd may be just an ambassador and when he is released from the disturbing duties of his post he will return to a less conspiratorial mood and a calmer judgment.

In a mood of greater historical perspective Dr. Dodd then would probably perceive and warn his fellow countrymen that dictatorships seldom pop out of a gun in a great explosion, but have their preparation in a series of surrenders by foolish and misled people of the rights, protections, and immunities guaranteeing them that they will always control their government and never be herded about by one man. The way to arrive at a dictatorship is to prepare the way for him. Nice dictators who are very reasonable in their ideas and gentle in their methods are run out of town by dictators who are tougher and rougher. This has happened before, and even if Mr. Roosevelt dressed up like a Roman emperor with full control of the legislature and the courts and did nothing whatever with these autocratic powers to destroy the system of American government which would have been destroyed by the surrender he demands, there would have been created a new job such as the United States never saw before. He would be holding it and his successor would take it over.

Many silly things have been said in support of some of the administration programs, but it must be conceded that the silliest is to argue that the way to prevent a dictatorship is to establish one and that the way to draw back from the brink of Fascism is to take a running jump over it.

The unnamed billionaire and the other unnamed men of great wealth may have the money they are said to have, they might even have the foolish notions they are said to entertain, but they haven't the army of the United States and they haven't got the people of the United States, and how they're going to go about it to establish something that can be taken only by force or surrendered by the representatives of the American people is to be explained by such silly people as believe the yarn.

DIM THE HEADLIGHTS.

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

To most motorists dimming of headlights at night is only an incidental courtesy. They feel no obligation to do it. Few who fail in this respect regard themselves as menaces to night highway travel. Many others are not aware that state law requires dimming of headlights.

Any one knows that man's vision is poorest during hours of darkness, and anything which makes vision more difficult should be curtailed as much as possible.

Now science comes forward with the explanation that when it is dark the pupils of the eye expand to admit as much light as possible. Sudden glares or steady lights shining into the eyes act to contract the pupils. This reduces the amount of light entering the eye and affects the vision.

Highway statistics show that nearly one-half of all trafic accidents occur at night. Just how many are due to blinding headlights it would be difficult to determine, but it is safe to assume that a good percentage is directly traceable to this menace.

AS IT MAY HAVE BEEN.

He needed no television. The tramp of the tall guards, the cries of "God Save the King" vibrating the radio amplifier, gave him the picture. He could shut his eyes to the beauty of the park-like vineyards and the sown fields of the rolling country, May-green beyond the walls of the sleepy old château, and envision the ancient archbishop with the profile like a cameo (perhaps the old fellow had meant well all the way) repeat his time tried speech in the great dim abbey that was the wraithland of so many of the departed kings of England. He could see the peers, the tall lean ones and the fat ones, crowded about the solemn, much decorated figure on the throne, crown on head, orb and scepter in hands. . . . So George and his queen, irrevocably sealed to a lifetime of ceremonial, were leaving Westminster. With a motion half impatient the youngish middle-aged gentleman shut off the radio and walked over to the silent, beautiful woman (she had always understood) who alone had shared his listening. She turned from her contemplation of the countryside. "And have you no regrets, sir?" she asked. His eyes were wide open now, but his expression did not change. "No regrets," he said without emphasis. "God Save the King. Shall we take the dog for a walk?"

THE AD that demanded, "What name is the most famous in furniture?" brought Ricand Raysmith McGrath out of his dugout shrieking the fame of Chester Drawers.

HIST! HIST!

Give me the villain of old, with the skill an'
The will an' the heart to be bad.
As an actor and crook, whatever it took
For genuine hating, he had.
He was bad as the worst and thoroughly versed
In all the black cunning of hell.
But, by heaven above! the geezer could love!
When he fell for a maiden, he fell!
Great was his wrath if you got in his path;
Not a mite of compassion he'd show.
Love made him quite daffy; he'd poison the taffy
To murder Miss Claribel's beau.

How oft would we gaze with our anger ablaze,
As the hero laid hold on the bait,
And the villain peeped in with a leer and a grin—
Oh, there was a guy we could hate!

So, turn back the page and give him the stage,
With his guile and his guilt and his gall.
I'll take him again just as he was then—
Silk topper, mustaches and all.

All the neighbors focused attention on the domicile of Aunt Molly, whence came the bedlam. . . . One neighbor, unable to restrain her curiosity longer, went over to see what was wrong. "What," she asked, "has happened, Mrs. Frankenheimer? All your children are screaming and crying." To which Aunt Molly replied placidly: "One of my kids needed a lickun, and I treat 'em all alike." THINGS are not always as simple as they seem. Some days ago the press informed us that certain railroad employés threatened a strike and that if it occurred New York would be "starved out" in a week. Cities don't starve quite so easily, and we are mindful of the ship crew that was stuck in the ice around the Soo for ten days. They reported their terrible hardships as follows: "We ran completely out of fresh radishes."

I have weathered the disillusionment of learning that ostriches don't bury their heads in the sand because they're afraid. They do it because, silly birds, they think it's fun. And the knowledge that squirrels forget where they bury all those nuts I've been giving them—that's all right. Now comes the New Yorker blithely stating that the mother bird is flabbergasted when the little birds she's been sitting on come pecking out of the eggs. (You could knock her over with a feather.) ### OUR HOSPITALS.

PART II.

YESTERDAY'S article included a short history of hospitals in America. Out of primitive beginnings came the planned organization with every mechanical aid known to science. Little more than a hundred years ago these institutions were thought of as places to which one went only to die; today they are life saving stations of real efficiency.

While generous citizens throughout the land have provided endowment for free or part free beds as aids for those unable to meet the expense, nevertheless, most individuals desire to retain their independence and defray the charges themselves. When one considers the help rendered, rates are not high. In fact, were it not for endowment, few voluntary hospitals could operate at all. The inability of people to pay bills is because most of us fail to save against that rainy day—sickness.

Within the last few years a study of this situation has resulted in the creation of group organizations in twenty or more cities in the United States and there are now more than half a million participating members. The plan provides that the cost as well as the risk of illness may be spread over a long period of time by the payment of a monthly rate which rarely exceeds 80 cents.

The service given includes semi-private care in any one of a large number of institutions. This means that the patient is placed in a two to four bed ward and is supplied food, nursing, X-ray, medicines, dressings, the use of the operating room and other routine requirements. After a subscriber has belonged for a year, obstetrical attention is included. Members of the family may also participate at a reduced rate. The hospital stay is limited to twenty-one days in any one year. Of course, some may be obliged to exceed the allotted time, while others who remain well will not use any of it.

There is no interference with the present relationship between the patient and his physician. In other words, it does not and should not include the physician's fee. This permits a free choice of one's medical attendant, although the hospitals must be assured that reputable men shall be in charge.

The care of the sick poor is a sacred trust upon any community, but a menace lies in the encouragement of mendicancy. The one who is ill cannot labor and therefore cannot earn. It is economically sound to restore to earning capacity those who are potential workers—in the home or in the shop. But paternalism can be carried too far. Those who receive, expect—later they may demand. The sense of responsibility may be crushed and in a mounting ratio the personnel of every hospital observes the development of a self-imposed invalidism which has no basis in physical incapacity or disease.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if no one should ever again need a hospital? It would be—not Utopia—but the millennium. As the clock ticks the passing hours, every home of healing in the land is admitting patients and the procedure will continue. These institutions must be conducted in a businesslike manner. But they must excel in courtesy, kindness, and consideration—the highest standards of merchandising. They are traficking in the most precious of all commodities—human life. In the broadest sense they minister not only to well-being of the body but to troubled minds. With the best type of professional and nursing skill we must couple an innate kindness of heart that harbors no vestige of personal selfishness.

Yes, these houses of hope are needed, some day, perhaps, by every one. They must be supported, encouraged, and strengthened. Each in its way must contribute to scientific advancement so that it represents teaching and research—a place wherein disease is fought and victories won.

CANKER SORES.

Mrs. D. writes: Will you state the cause and cure of canker sores?

REPLY.

Canker sores are small ulcers which form inside the mouth as the result of some local irritation, indigestion, or lowered general health. A simple treatment is to cauterize the areas with a small piece of potassium alum, or to wash the mouth several times daily with some antiseptic solution. Boric acid solution may be used. The general condition of the system should be investigated if healing does not occur with reasonable promptness.

HOLDING BREATH.

G. R. writes: What can be done to cure a child of holding his breath until he becomes black in the face?

REPLY.

If the child is physically well, this breath-holding business is merely a nervous or temper reaction. Watch the circumstances under which he holds it. What happened just before? Was he forbidden something or did he feel neglected? No child can hold his breath until he suffocates.

CLOSING OF ESTATE.

Chicago, May 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father's bachelor brother died in August, 1935, leaving real estate, cash and a judgment note on a nephew and a $1,250 note from the nephew's father [brother of bachelor], who was the administrator. In all his reports he has reported this $1,250 note and [1] now claims he does not owe it. All the taxes have been paid, inheritance tax, and yet my father has not received a cent. He needs cash immediately or he will lose his home.

2. Who should he write to—probate judge or court—to have something done at once? This is in Iowa and [3] he has a lawyer [4] who has told him to stop bothering him and is acting very independent, taking the administrator's side in all arguments. G. C. W.

1. It should be possible to get some further explanation from him. Obviously we do not have the facts before us.
2. We suggest that he ask the clerk of the court to see that pressure is brought to bear to force the closing of the estate.
3. The lawyer would be in a better position to advise than we are.
4. This implies that there is something to be said on the other side. We don't have all the facts, as above stated.

THE LICENSING OF ENGINEERS.

Park Ridge, Ill., May 8.—Ordinarily the controversial column of a daily newspaper is not the place wherein to air the merits or demerits of strictly engineering topics, unless they be of interest and significance to the entire body politic. House bill No. 287, an act in relation to the regulation of professional engineering, comes within that category, in that the health and safety of the public are involved.

Briefly this bill calls for the licensing of all professional engineers, but to the writer's way of thinking does not go far enough in that it would still be possible for immature, inexperienced, and unlicensed junior engineers to be in charge of the construction of such projects as water and sewerage systems, highways, etc. Naturally the bill as now written has met with opposition from those engineers of maturer years and experience who find themselves in competition with less qualified men. The public which pays for such improvements should very rightly be concerned with the exemption features of the measure and demand that the registration of all engineers be required—otherwise the law is a mere set-up for the exploitation of the rank and file of the engineering profession by chiselers within our own fold.

The licensing of physicians and lawyers is taken for granted and, quite apart from the objection as set forth above, there has sprung up an intense opposition to the bill on the part of organized labor. This opposition to the inherent right of another body of workmen [and I use that term advisedly] to secure legislation for both their own and the public welfare by another body of organized workmen can only be explained by blindness to the trend of the times and a total lack of appreciation of that spirit of "live and let live" which should ever be the slogan of organized labor.

A WILD RUMOR.

Atlanta, Ga., May 8.—There is a wild rumor that the combined air fleets of Germany and Italy, without a formal declaration of war, are preparing an attack on London and industrial England, timed to take place on coronation day, so as to catch Great Britain off guard and destroy the empire.

Final arrangements were concluded during Neurath's visit to Rome, and this is also the real reason for the recall of all Italian correspondents from England. M. WARREN.

TRUCK REGULATION.

Chicago, May 7.—During the last few years I have been active in the sale of trucks and trailers in Joplin, Mo., and Tulsa. In both of these points salesmen as well as operators are in the shadow of existing and proposed legislation from at least four state capitals and usually more.

When it was found that 80 per cent of the cotton arriving in Houston came in on rubber tires the legislature passed a law that a truck outfit could haul 14,000 pounds to a railroad station but not more than 7,000 pounds past a railroad station on the highways. That there should be guaranteed to the truck operator unbiased and unprejudiced administration of this law, it was turned over to the Texas railroad commission to enforce.

Visiting in Joplin with the proprietor of a large truck line I asked, "If a stranger should rush in here and offer you $4,000 to haul 14,000 pounds of legitimate merchandise from here to Bangor, Me., and stipulate that the load must start within an hour, what would you say?" The answer was, "I would not know what to do, so I would have to turn him down."

When the public was sold on the idea of the large bond issues which made these good roads possible, trucking as we know it today was in its infancy and these roads were not built for trucks and trailers. They were built for automobiles. However, the trucking industry has furnished a magnificent source of revenue for political purposes. I have never encountered an operator who did not display a willingness to pay a big price for the privileges he enjoys, but the constant annoyance and frustration of reasonable commercial activity is enough to drive an individualist to distraction.

I outline crudely a plan which I sincerely believe would solve this situation. Amend the original federal aid highway act as follows:

Federal aid will be granted only to those states which meet periodically in joint convention and agree upon a reciprocal motor vehicle operating act.

It is suggested that each state send three delegates to each convention to be selected as follows: One by the largest association of truck operators in the state; one by the railroads; one appointed by the governor and confirmed by the legislature.

This would probably terminate by placing a port of entry on each main highway entering each state and charging all commercial vehicles a mileage tax. This might apply to traveling salesmen, house trailers, and others as well as trucks. This possibility should bring a response from politicians who will readily see the opportunity for more patronage. Let the commercial vehicles pay the cost but let them operate when and where they will under a universal set of regulations. CHARLES LUKINS.

NOT TO MENTION THE OTHER NINE.

Chicago, May 9.—A modern miracle could occur if the warring Spanish factions suddenly took to heart the very simple commandment "Thou shalt not kill." C. S.

MORE ABOUT SUN SPOTS.

Berwyn, Ill., May 8.—Mr. C. L. Butler's item, "Concerning Sun Spots," appearing in this morning's Voice of the People, contains very little of fact.

Although light travels away from the sun in a straight line—a debatable statement—it does not necessarily leave the sun in a straight line which, if extended, would pass through the center of the earth as Mr. Butler's words would indicate.

We see the sun as a complete disk. We can see only that portion of a body from which light is being emitted or reflected. Therefore the light coming to the earth comes from every visible portion of the sun. If all the light coming to the earth came from the small area suggested by Mr. Butler the sun would appear only that large.

Light is only one factor—an indirect one—in weather changes. Other emissions of the sun are more important. Heat and the supposed electronic bombardment of the upper atmosphere have direct effects.

Emissions from the sun which pass through the atmosphere only are not inconsequential as the article seems to imply.

Sun spots are important because they cut off or decrease the amount of heat, light, etc., which falls upon the earth. If these spots are on a visible portion of the sun they will have some effect upon our weather—and let the discussion be limited to how much.

C. J. CALLAHAN JR.

ATROCITIES COMPARED.

Chicago, May 7.—Including Mr. Borah, who, being over 70, is failing, the world is protesting about 800 lives, several thousand dollars of property and a "sacred" tree lost in the "crime" perpetrated by Franco's troops in the "holy" city of Guernica, Spain. The very same world knew and heard about the tens of thousands of defenseless people massacred in Madrid, Malaga, Barcelona, and other cities by the Red government before Franco was forced to retaliate; the very same world knew about the many millions—not a few thousands—of property, including really historic and sacred buildings, ruthlessly burned by the so-called legal government, but the very same world did not budge then. These are the undeniable facts, but the gold stolen by the Reds from the Bank of Spain is the most powerful instrument the Reds have. O, Justice, Justice, where art thou? D. B. L.

WE FEAR YOU MUST.

Chicago, May 8.—Must we stare at the doings of the duke and Wally at all times? Why can't you print something of educational value? Just congratulate England on having got rid of a simpleton. Don't fear about any news of him and her taking the place of the coronation news. MRS. NELSON.

BIGGER FISH.

Beloit, Wis., May 6.—Why criticize a prominent American for going fishing? A man who can gather in 25 million suckers in five months can't be blamed for trying his hand at larger fry.

WAR FRONT.—Paris reports unusually heavy artillery fighting on the Verdun front. French patrols penetrate German lines at several points in Alsace. Berlin dismisses activities on this front with "nothing new to report."

LONDON.—British on western front have established themselves in Bullecourt, captured an important German trench astride the Arras-Cambrai road, as well as enemy positions on a mile and a half long front near Roeux. Berlin says all attempts of British to advance have failed.

U. S. WAR PLANS.—The senate inserted in the espionage bill an amendment making the United States practically dry for the duration of the war. The clause forbids the use of cereals or grain in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors, except wine. President Wilson was expected to grant authority to Col. # JURY UPHOLDS AUNT MARY AND MARRIAGE AT 75

Relatives Lose in Suit to Gain $500,000.

Mrs. Mary Scully Fagan Wilhelm was sane and knew what she was doing when she married August Wilhelm on May 6, 1933, although she was 75 years and he 37. Furthermore Wilhelm, now a flower salesman, used no fraud in obtaining title to his wife's real estate.

These findings were made yesterday by a jury before Judge Grover C. Niemeyer. The verdict dismissed the suit whereby fifteen nieces and nephews sought Mrs. Wilhelm's $500,000 estate by annulling her marriage on the ground of senility. The case was submitted to the jury Tuesday afternoon.

All Smiles At Verdict.

"The memory of my wife was with me during the trial," declared Wilhelm as he left the court, smiling, and arm in arm with his sister, Helen. He lives at 221 Linden avenue, Wilmette, in the home purchased by his elderly bride after their wedding. She died four months after the ceremony.

"I am so glad that Augie has been vindicated," remarked his sister. "We have proved what a fine character Mrs. Wilhelm was."

Attorneys John E. Northup and Sanford Olson, counsel for Mrs. Wilhelm's relatives, presented a motion for a new trial, which will be heard June 5. They indicated that an appeal might be taken.

Night Club Tours Told.

During the month long trial the complainants presented an array of witnesses who told of Mrs. Wilhelm's conduct during Wilhelm's courtship and their brief marriage.

They described a sudden change in her appearance, how she adopted flashy clothing, and a frivolous manner while Augie took her on a round of night clubs.

Attorney Northup presented evidence in an effort to show that this fast living weakened her resistance and hastened her death. His witnesses told how Mrs. Wilhelm began smoking cigarets and drinking to excess after she met the dapper Wilhelm.

Alienists testified for the plaintifs that a woman of her description probably was senile. Wilhelm presented other doctors who described Mrs. Wilhelm's actions as those of a normal woman of her age.

The husband was represented by Attorneys Dwight McKay and Leslie C. Whipp. They produced witnesses to tell of the Wilhelms' deep love for each other, and how Mrs. Wilhelm, as a surprise for her husband, arranged joint tenancy of her real estate worth $125,000. Mrs. Wilhelm received most of her wealth from her first husband, John Fagan, and her brother, the late D. B. Scully, syrup manufacturer.

Shooting Gallery Slaying Unsolved; Delay Inquest

Because the mystery surrounding the fatal shooting of Leslie C. Bauer, 19 years old, in a shooting gallery at 659 West 63d street was still unsolved, the inquest was continued yesterday until May 25. The gallery attendant, Charles H. Kent, admitted on the witness stand that he had asked three witnesses to leave after the shooting. Chris McGarigle, deputy coroner, ordered police to question Kent further. Bauer, who lived at 6409 South Green street, went to the gallery Tuesday night with his sister, Margaret, 25 years old. Kent said Bauer evidently shot himself, but police said the course of the bullet indicated he had not.

SENATE VOTES FOR WEED WAR DURING AUGUST

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—The senate by unanimous vote approved today the resolution, passed by the house of representatives on April 21, calling upon Gov. Horner to designate Aug. 8 to 22 as weed destruction days and directing the state department of agriculture to conduct an educational campaign against ragweeds and other noxious weeds and poisonous shrubs and vines.

J. H. Lloyd, director of the department of agriculture, will launch the campaign soon, stressing particularly the destruction and control of ragweeds, which is regarded by medical authorities as the principal cause of hay fever.

Land owners, agricultural experts, medical authorities, and others will be asked to back the state in its extensive drive against undesirable plants that contribute to ill health and discomfort of thousands of persons in Illinois.

FISHERMAN WHO NEVER CAUGHT FISH GETS CAUGHT HIMSELF

William Johnson is a fisherman who never caught a fish. But he never let it worry him, because it wasn't fish he was fishing for. Mr. Johnson, who's 27, told police yesterday he was fishing for other fellows' coats, and that he generally could catch a few of them by dropping his line through the bedroom windows of homes in which parties were being held.

After taking the money out of the coats, he said, he poked his pole through the window again and dropped each coat right back where he had caught it. Johnson lives at 5222 North Bernard avenue. Captured by Policeman Jack Sayer of the Jefferson Park station, Johnson is said to have confessed looting coats at 200 northwest side parties, many of them by means of his trusty fishing pole.

AVERAGE DRIVER IS BLAMED FOR AUTO ACCIDENTS

700 Engineers Attend Safety Conference.

The latest methods of accident prevention in trafic and the establishment of safety programs were discussed yesterday at the fifteenth annual Midwest Safety conference in the Hotel Sherman. More than 700 safety engineers from cities in Illinois and neighboring states attended. Speakers stressed the need for complete coöperation of motorists in the campaign for effective control of accidents.

The conference is sponsored by the Greater Chicago Safety council. It will conclude with a banquet this evening at which Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey will make an address on "Horse Power and Horse Sense." He arrived yesterday.

Calls on All to Coöperate.

Ralph L. Lee, an official of the General Motors corporation, speaking at the afternoon session yesterday, said that many people are under the erroneous impression that most automobile accidents are caused by a limited group of reckless and selfish drivers. This is not true, Lee said, and experience proves that all persons must be educated to support accident reduction programs.

"As long as the average motorist feels that trafic control is an arbitrary imposition designed to restrict personal liberties," Lee said, "we shall never get at the real crux of the accident matter—namely: speed out of keeping with circumstances and conditions.

"Safety educators must earn the right to teach their subject by the continued study of the needs and natural laws which control the movement of motor cars as well as the movement of people and people's minds."

Favors School Course on Driving.

William A. Sears, instructor of automobile and airplane mechanics at Lane Technical High school, declared that public schools generally should provide courses in automobile driving. The most effective educational work in safe driving can be done in the younger age groups in the schools, he said.

The average brake and head light condition on automobiles in the metropolitan area is worse than that in rural areas, William C. Giessler of the Illinois state division of highways declared. He asserted there is a much larger percentage of older cars operating in cities than in rural sections. An analysis of the results of inspection of 2,000 automobiles throughout the state recently showed that the average brake efficiency was 54 per cent, which is a poor figure, and most of the inefficient brakes were on cars in the metropolitan area.

Cites Reasons for Night Accidents.

G. E. Weaver, executive vice president of an automobile accessory manufacturing company, said that a large portion of night trafic accidents are caused by the physical and mental strain and fatigue of the driver in looking beyond the range of his headlights.

"Too many well meaning people as well as law enforcement officers," Weaver said, "regard the headlamp as a marker for an oncoming vehicle rather than a source of highway illumination. No one can deny the value of permanent overhead highway lighting and it must be encouraged, but until it comes to all primary and secondary highways, our safety depends on proper maintenance and use of headlamps."

Urges Driver's License Law.

Gov. Hoffman, in an interview, declared that every state should have a driver's license law. New Jersey is soon to start compulsory inspection of automobiles, he said, and drivers who fail to have their car examined twice a year will lose their licenses.

For this reason the inspection program will be more effective than in Illinois where there is no license law, Hoffman asserted.

VETERAN POLICEMAN CITED FOR HARRISON AWARD FOR BRAVERY

Joseph P. Geary, president of the city civil service commission, announced yesterday that Policeman John Fried had been recommended for the Carter H. Harrison award for 1936, given annually to the fireman or policeman who is adjudged to have performed the most courageous deed during the year.

POLICEMAN FRIED.

On April 22, 1936, when Fried, in plain clothes, was held up by three young gunmen, he drew his own revolver and though felled by a bullet, he continued shooting. He fatally wounded one robber, and brought about the capture of the others, who are now in prison.

For his courage Fried was given the $100 bravery award of THE TRIBUNE for that month. He is 49 years old, married, the father of three children, and lives at 1256 Independence boulevard. He has been on the police department for 24 years.

MONKEY BORN BY CAESAREAN AID STILL THRIVING

Boston, Mass., May 12.—(AP)—Eight ounces of monkey, believed the first baby monkey to live after a Cæsarean operation upon the mother, basked tonight in the warmth of an incubator.

The tiny mite, named "Wally," was born a week ago. Known as a Douroucoli or "owl faced" monkey, "Wally" has a mottled black and white head and the curious markings around the eyes that give the species the name "owl faced."

"Chiquita," the mother, became the first monkey to live after a Cæsarean operation three years ago, but her offspring died. Last Thursday she was brought to the hospital of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in bad condition. Dr. Hugh F. Dailey had to operate.

BEALE STREET'S CORONATION DAY BLARE OF BLUES

Cotton Makers' King and Queen Strut Stuff.

Memphis, Tenn., May 12.—(AP)—Carefree and happy Beale street came to life tonight just as the evening sun went down.

Some of the hottest "blue" notes ever sounded blared forth a challenge to shuffling feet as the king and queen of the cotton makers' jubilee strutted down the avenue.

With the crowning of King Thomas Hayes Jr. and Queen Annie Hickman, Lieut. George W. Lee, Negro author of the book, "Beale Street," pledged the royal couple:

"Under the night skies that hover over Beale, I pledge myself to the task of restoring this historical old avenue to its former prestige and glory."

How Blues Crusade Started.

"The blues," Lee said, "started on its crusade to save the world when W. C. Handy followed a Negro down Beale street and heard him humming, 'Gwiner lay mah haid rite on de railroad track, and if the train comes along, Ah'm gonna snatch it back.'"

The king pledged himself to have "hot bands, smoking red hot bands, to play the blues by moonlight and 100 saxophones to moan it soft and low until the echoes are heard around the world."

"I shall order cafeterias and sandwich shops to be closed," he said, "and substitute hog nose restaurants and chitling cafés."

The coronation took place in Handy's park, named for the former Beale street "music master" who gave the "blues" song to the world, with the first, his "Memphis Blues," later, "Beale Street Blues," and the ever popular "St. Louis Blues."

Annual Cotton Carnival.

Handy couldn't be present this year, but his songs were the theme of the opening celebration of Beale street's part in the annual Memphis cotton carnival.

"Hot dog," said a dusky observer. "There goes the 'pretty browns dressed in beautiful gowns.'"

The celebration lasted far into the night in the cat fish cafés and dance halls in a new Beale street crusade to "save the world with the blues."

QUACK DOCTOR FOUND GUILTY; FACES JAIL, FINE

Michael Koltunski, 64 years old, a factory mechanic by day, was found guilty yesterday by Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in County court, of practicing medicine illegally by night. The judge indicated he would send Koltunski, who had an office in his home at 1032 North Ashland avenue, to jail for 20 days and fine him $100.

Hearing on a motion for probation, requested by Defense Attorney Thaddeus C. Tudor, was set for next Wednesday.

Anton L. Sopocko, 5722 Grover street, an investigator for the state department of registration and education, testified that on March 21 Koltunski mixed four powders into pills and also sold him two kinds of liquid medicine to cure the various ailments discovered by Koltunski's examination. Koltunski, one of 20 persons arrested in the recent drive on medical violators, admitted selling medicines, but denied practicing medicine.

1936 Tax Yield on Beer Placed at 150 Million

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—The National Institute of Manufacturers and Distributors estimated today that taxes levied on the manufacture and sale of beer poured 150 million dollars into state, county, and municipal cash tills in 1936.

DRIVERS' LICENSE DELAYED AGAIN IN 2 HOUR WRANGLE

House to Act Next Week on Amendments.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—A two hour turmoil over the automobile drivers' license bills in the Illinois house today ended with no progress being made toward enactment of the life saving measure.

A joint house and senate committee, organized yesterday, will complete its conferences next Tuesday night over the patronage dispute between Gov. Henry Horner and Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes. On Wednesday, as an order of special business, the house is scheduled to vote on a series of proposed amendments and to advance the bills to the passage stage.

The row was precipitated by Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago] protesting against another week's delay in acting on the drivers' license. He declared the postponement endangered passage.

Adamowski Defends Delay.

Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski [D., Chicago], majority leader, said that another week would aid enactment of the law by bringing about a coöperative agreement between Hughes and Horner and between the house and the senate.

Representative Dennis J. Collins [R., De Kalb] insinuated that all had not come to light on what took place during the three hours last night in which the governor and the secretary of state were closeted behind doors with the five representatives and five senators of the committee.

Slanders, threats, apologies, and conciliations entertained the galleries. The Democrats, merely for chastisement, threatened to strike the enactment clause from the drivers' license bill Collins has introduced in opposition to the Horner bill.

Filibuster Threatened.

Schnackenberg accused Speaker Louie E. Lewis [D., Christopher] of violating the constitution in gaveling a motion for a roll call. Representative R. J. Branson [R., Centralia], threatened a Republican filibuster.

The heat had grown too hot even for the contentious. Peace was restored by Collins recanting his request for a hearing on his bill and Adamowski agreeing to its being postponed with the Horner bill. Schnackenberg retracted his charge against the speaker.

WIDOW KILLED BY TRUCK; MAN DIES IN COLLISION

Mrs. Catherine Suerth, 68 years old, 1025 Addison street, a widow, was fatally injured yesterday when she was struck by a truck at St. Louis and Ogden avenues. Stanley Nurzym, 19, 1239 South 52d avenue, Cicero, driver, told police the woman stepped into the path of the truck.

Leo F. Ward, 40 years old, 6246 Blackstone avenue, was killed early yesterday when his car collided with a live stock truck near Kankakee.

Andrew Burns, 50 years old, 3412 Lexington street, an elevator operator, died last night in the Robert Burns hospital of injuries suffered on May 2 when he was struck by an automobile at Pulaski road and Flournoy street. The driver, Clarence Anderson, 18, 1624 Kimball avenue, was not held.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 388 persons were killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 304 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 7,199 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

CITY OFFICIALS TO DISCUSS BILLS IN SPRINGFIELD

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the city council finance committee, announced yesterday that Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], James B. Bowler [25th], and Roger J. Kiley [37th], as representatives of the committee, would accompany Mayor Kelly to Springfield today to confer with Gov. Horner and members of the legislature regarding pending legislation.

The interest of the city officials at this time is chiefly concerning revenue bills, Ald. Arvey said. The city is asking authority to license businesses for which permits are not now required, and a tax on cigars and cigarets is proposed.

"There is opposition to some of our bills," Ald. Arvey explained. "The legislature will adjourn tomorrow for the week, but several of the leaders of both houses will stay over to confer with us. Mayor Kelly arranged the meeting with the governor either for Thursday night or Friday morning."

INSURANCE RATES ON AUTO THEFTS CUT 25 PCT. MORE

5th Reduction in 4 Years from War on Crime.

A further reduction of 25 per cent in automobile theft insurance rates for motorists in the Chicago area was announced yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney. The new rates will be effective next week.

The announcement came after Mr. Courtney conferred with E. L. Rickards, secretary of the rates committee of the National Automobile Underwriters association. The new reduction is the fifth in the last four years and it brings the average rate to about one-third of what it was in 1933.

Reduction in Thefts Told.

Mr. Courtney declared the reductions have resulted from the coöperative drive of police, judges and the state's attorney's office against automobile thieves and fences. Auto thefts have been reduced from an average of 87 a day in 1931 and 1932, to only eight a day, he explained, while stripping of cars has been reduced from 27 a day to less than one a day.

Although the new rates apply to all makes of cars the following table shows the new rates per $100 value as compared with the rates of 1933 on ten well known automobiles:

| Car. | 1933 rate. | New rate. |
|---|---|---|
| Chevrolet | $5.33 | $1.80 |
| Ford | 9.18 | 2.35 |
| Plymouth | 6.55 | 2.15 |
| Buick | 4.19 | 1.05 |
| Chrysler | 9.18 | 1.60 |
| Dodge | 3.78 | 1.30 |
| Pontiac | 4.59 | 1.25 |
| Oldsmobile | 6.28 | 1.80 |
| Cadillac | 2.90 | .85 |
| Packard | 1.69 | .70 |

"I am gratified at this reduction given by the insurance companies," Mr. Courtney said. "The drive against auto thieves has also brought about similar reduction in burglaries and robberies. The stolen automobile is the wheel of crime."

CITY DRUGGISTS TO PROTEST BILL TAXING CIGARETS

H. W. Prafke, president of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association, said yesterday that the association will send a delegation to Springfield within the next few days to fight the cigaret tax and licensing bills now pending in the general assembly. The delegation will make its protest to Gov. Horner and to the legislature. Resolutions condemning the bills were passed Tuesday night at a meeting of the association in the Hotel Sherman. The druggists went on record as favoring the Miller-Tydings fair practice bill, pending in congress, instead of opposing it, as was earlier reported.

MORE THAN 23,000 STANDARD OIL DEALERS WITH A PERSONAL STAKE IN SERVING YOU

MOTORISTS RUSH TO ENTER $10,000 "SERVICE SURVEY"

Standard Oil's "Service Survey" is Under Way in Thirteen States

DEALERS TO GET PRIZES

CHICAGO, May 11—Thousands of Midwest motorists are taking part in Standard's "Service Survey" in response to the announcement made last week that the Standard Oil Company will pay a total of $10,000 in cash to motorists who submit the most valuable reports and to Standard Oil Dealers who assist them.

This huge survey is being made to obtain a symposium of public opinion on the many services now being rendered motorists by Standard Oil Dealers, and to determine how "Standard Service" may be made to meet motorists' needs and desires even more completely.

SUGGESTIONS ARE DESIRED

Daily, millions of windshields and car windows are cleaned, radiators filled and tires inflated, by more than 23,000 Standard Oil Dealers in thirteen central western states. The survey, it is hoped, will reveal just how valuable these and other services are considered to be by motorists, and what other services or conveniences may be of prime importance to their comfort and safety. In this way every motorist may present his views on a subject in which he has a vital interest.

COSTS NOTHING TO TAKE PART

Motorists who wish to take part in the "Service Survey" will be under no obligation to make a purchase, and need only drive to a Standard Oil Dealer to obtain an entry card, validated with the dealer's name and address. The dealer will also demonstrate "Standard Service" with at least three typical examples, and upon request will assist in preparation of your entry. In the event you win, the dealer who has assisted you and whose name appears on your entry card, will receive a reward equal to yours.

At the close of the survey a total of 244 cash awards will be made. The 122 motorists who submit the most valuable reports will receive a total of $5,000. A like number of awards, totaling an equal sum of money, will go to Standard Oil Dealers, making a grand total of $10,000 in prizes.

LOUIS F. SWIFT FUNERAL RITES WILL BE TODAY

Packing Firm's Ex-Head Succumbs at 75.

Louis F. Swift.

Funeral services for Louis Franklin Swift, former president and chairman of the board of Swift & Co., will be held at 3:30 p. m. today in the Lake Forest Presbyterian church. The services will be conducted by the Rev. W. Oliver Brackett. The body will be placed in the Swift family mausoleum in Lake Forest cemetery.

Mr. Swift died yesterday morning in the Chicago Memorial hospital, at the age of 75. He had been a patient there for a number of weeks, but his condition was not regarded as critical until shortly before his death.

Retired Five Years Ago.

He retired from the packing company, which under his leadership became the world's largest concern in its field, in 1932. Since then he had passed his time in Europe and at his home in Santa Barbara, Cal. His Chicago home was at 170 South Green Bay road, Lake Forest.

Mr. Swift was trained in the packing business from boyhood by his father, Gustavus F. Swift, founder of Swift & Co. Born on Sept. 27, 1861, in Sagamore, Cape Cod, Mass., of Mayflower stock, young Swift's first experience in the family business came at the age of 9 or 10, when he held a lantern while his father dressed a steer.

The family moved to Chicago in 1875 and the packing business was started. Under his father's supervision young Louis was installed as head of the pork department. His brothers, Edward and Charles, looked after the cattle and sheep divisions.

Became President in 1903.

Louis Swift served as treasurer of the company after 1885, when the business was incorporated, and in those early years had much to do with development of the by-product business which was the secret of the Chicago packers' early success. He became president on his father's death in 1903 and occupied that post until he became chairman of the board in 1931, a year before his retirement.

With his brothers Mr. Swift took an active part in the expansion of the packing business made possible by extension of the railroads and development of the refrigerator car, permitting shipments of fresh dressed meats.

Pioneer in Air Conditioning.

As a result of its experience in the refrigeration field, Swift & Co. built one of the first air conditioned office buildings in the world, more than 25 years ago, to house its headquarters at the Chicago stockyards.

Mr. Swift married Ida May Butler in 1880. She died in 1922. They had six children, of whom only two survive. They are Louis F. Swift Jr., an official at the Chicago plant of the packing company, and Mrs. Ida May Minotto.

Four of Mr. Swift's brothers still carry on the affairs of the corporation which their father founded. They are Charles H. Swift, now chairman of the board; Gustavus F. Swift, president; Harold H. Swift, vice president, and George H. Swift of Boston, a director. Two sisters, Mrs. Francis Neilsen of Chicago and Mrs. Ruth Maguire of New York, also survive him.

DR. J. W. ZEH FOUND SHOT IN HIS OFFICE; DIES

Dr. Joseph W. Zeh, a Chicago physician for 28 years, was found shot and fatally wounded last evening in his office at 3653 Wentworth avenue. Police found a pistol at his side and said it appeared he had taken his own life. They took him to the Lakeside hospital, where he died at midnight.

Yesterday was Dr. Zeh's 64th birthday. His wife, Lydia, told Sergt. Joseph Murray of the Stanton avenue station that her husband had promised to come home early for a birthday celebration. When he failed to appear she telephoned a friend, Oliver Glenn, a druggist at 3658 Wentworth avenue. Glenn found the physician lying unconscious from a bullet wound in his right temple.

No notes were found in the office. Mrs. Zeh said she did not believe her husband had committed suicide, but she added he had been worried recently over the loss of a building valued at $13,000. Dr. Zeh was graduated from the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery in 1909.

DU MONT WIDOW MOVES AGAINST MOTHER-IN-LAW

Mrs. Jane Wilson Du Mont filed a petition yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court, seeking to remove her mother-in-law, Mrs. Loretta Du Mont, as executrix of the $300,000 estate of the late Newman A. Du Mont, Chicago attorney.

On May 5 Judge Joseph E. Daily of Peoria, sitting in Circuit court here, ruled that the younger Mrs. Du Mont and the attorney were legally married at Crown Point on July 8, 1932, and that her daughter Joan, 4½ years old, is his heir.

The widow's petition alleges that the elder Mrs. Du Mont, who sought to have her son's marriage invalidated, filed an improper inventory, is withholding assets, and is unfit because of poor health to act as executrix. The petition will be heard on May 27.

PARK POLICEMAN LOSES JOB OVER WOMAN'S CHARGE

Board Ousts Schiffer and Lauds Complainant.

The civil service board of the Chicago park district yesterday discharged Policeman Clarendon C. Schiffer, who was accused by a young married woman of making advances when he arrested her for a trafic violation.

Clarendon Schiffer.

The board commended the complainant, Mrs. Helen Bowe, 7433 North Claremont [Barton] avenue, for her public service in proceeding against the policeman despite her natural embarrassment under the circumstances. The board is composed of President Robert J. Dunham, Commissioner Philip S. Graver, and Blaine Hoover, director of employment.

Judge Dismisses Charges.

On May 1 Judge Charles S. Dougherty of the Municipal court dismissed charges against Schiffer, holding that Mrs. Bowe's story was without verification and therefore could not stand as proof beyond a reasonable doubt as required in a criminal action. Subsequently Mrs. Bowe, who is 27 years old, told the park board officials that Assistant State's Attorney John Long urged her to forgive and forget because the policeman had powerful political backing. This was denied by Long.

Mrs. Bowe testified at the civil service trial that on the evening of April 18 Schiffer stopped her automobile at Pratt boulevard and Ashland avenue for an alleged trafic violation. The policeman got into her car, Mrs. Bowe said, and made advances from which she escaped only by promising to meet him the next night.

Girls Testify Against Him.

At the trial it was brought out that Schiffer had been suspended before on similar complaints. A young woman manager of an apartment building and two school girls told of advances he had made to them. Schiffer denied all of the accusations.

"The civil service board often encounters difficulty in connection with proceedings against persons charged with certain types of offenses, because of the reluctance of women and children to suffer the embarrassment and unpleasant notoriety which usually results," the board declared.

"In this case the testimony of Mrs. Bowe and other witnesses has been of inestimable value in assisting the board, and the board accordingly commends that testimony as being in the civic interest."

Mrs. Bowe is the wife of Paul F. Bowe, Evanston filling station operator. Schiffer is 37 years old, married, and lives at 1658 Juneway terrace.

GIRL AND 3 MEN IN ROBBERY GANG SENT TO PRISON

Justine Le Blanc, 18 year old gun girl, and three men companions were sentenced to prison for robbery yesterday after a bench trial before Judge Rudolph Desort in Criminal court. A fifth member of the band who turned state's witness received a two year term in the Bridewell.

The robbery gang was rounded up by Des Plaines street police following the arrest of Miss Le Blanc and her sweetheart, James Pecones, 26 years old, leader of the gang. Miss Le Blanc was sentenced to from one to twenty years at the women's prison at Dwight. Pecones received a one year to life sentence at Joliet penitentiary.

The other members of the gang are Peter Arhontas, 28, sentenced to ten years under an habitual criminal count and one year to life for robbery, and George Alongi, 33, one to twenty years. Adam Antonopoulis, 19, received the Bridewell term.

AUTO THIEF GETS 6 MONTHS.

William Hemsky, 30 years old, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Robert J. Dunne in the Criminal court to six months in the Bridewell and fined $200 for automobile theft.

Not a Laxative

"The continued use of laxatives and cathartics only aggravates constipation," says a prominent medical authority.

Nujol is an internal lubricant, not a laxative, so it cannot gripe. Take Nujol regularly and you will escape the consequences of the "laxative habit."

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach, and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol and insist on the genuine.

I like my Servel Electrolux refrigerator very much. It keeps my food in perfect condition and is very economical to operate. I think its silence is a great advantage.

MRS. H. B. WOODRICH
2909 N. Troy St.

I purchased my Servel Electrolux in March, 1934. Have found the operating expense to be not over $1.00 a month; and have never had any expense for service or service parts.

MRS. O. BLANK
3029 N. Keating Ave.

EACH YEAR, Servel Electrolux is the choice for more and more Chicago homes and apartments. It is winning a larger and larger percentage of all refrigerator sales—because it provides exclusive, long-life advantages everyone wants.

This modern refrigerator is silent . . . stays silent. And every day you have it, you save money—save enough, owners find, to actually pay for it in a remarkably short time.

Servel Electrolux cuts refrigeration bills, since it runs for only a few cents a day . . . and keeps on running at the same low cost year after year. It cuts food bills, too . . . permits you to buy in quantity and take advantage of all "specials." And throughout its long life, it saves on upkeep by steering clear of costly repairs.

This greater economy results from the different, simpler way this modern refrigerator operates. There are no moving parts in its entire freezing system. A tiny gas flame circulates the refrigerant—without noise or wear, without loss of efficiency due to moving, wearing parts.

Charm Is Not Always Linked with Sympathy

Understanding of Fact Saves Disillusion.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

It is not always easy to tell how sympathetic our listener is. She may gush and exclaim and even weep over us without half hearing what we have to say and without caring at all.

There are persons who are charming without being the least sympathetic. It is well to realize that charm and sympathy do not necessarily go hand in hand. We may thereby save ourselves disillusionment.

I am not happy

Sympathetic persons are responsive and loving. Their handwriting slants to the right. The farther it slants the more sympathetic you can expect the writer to be. As with every other quality, there is the dangerous extreme. You can be so sympathetic that you get sorry for yourself. Or you may be suffering everybody else's troubles as well as your own because of an oversympathetic nature.

Backhand writers often protest that they are very sympathetic, but I seldom agree. You may be generous and even altruistic without being sympathetic. When you are writing backhand your mind is in control and you cannot be as responsive as the forward writer. Your generosity is of a reasonable, carefully logical sort.

It is possible that you feel less of what we call "sympathy" and yet are better able to see a practical need and do something about it than a sympathetic person.

The handwriting shown herewith is a good indication of a person who has carried her sympathy to such an extreme that she feels sorry for herself with no reason. She writes: "I am married and in my twenties. I have a beautiful baby and a wonderful husband, but still I am not happy."

This young woman is just yerning for somebody upon whom she can use her extreme sympathy. Notice the gentle letters that lean so far to the right that they almost lie down. I should advise this writer to engage in some type of welfare work, since her environment seems to be almost too perfect. She is one of those who need to give. Her gift of responsive sympathy is being wasted, and so she is unhappy.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

PENALTY PASS OF A SUIT BID.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

When partner doubles a suit bid of one, a penalty pass should be emphatically avoided. Nothing but extraordinary trump length justifies this pass. [A good rule is: Pass only when prepared for a lead in the opponents' trump suit. Usually the penalty pass calls for this lead.]

In counting up expected defensive winners against opponents' suit bid, the doubler's partner adds his trump tricks and honor tricks in side suits to three expected honor tricks in his partner's hand; no more. Unless the total is at least seven tricks, do not pass.

Opponents' contract of one heart, doubled for a take-out by partner, may be left in with ♠ 8 ♥ Q J 9 7 6 3 ♦ A 6 ♣ J 9 7 4, particularly when opponents are vulnerable. A two trick penalty may be anticipated. If the opponents are not vulnerable the pass still is proper, but only because the game is uncertain and a two trick set reasonably sure.

TODAY'S HAND.

SOUTH

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 club | 1 spade | 3 clubs | 3 spades |
| 4 hearts | Double | 5 clubs | 5 spades |
| Double | Pass | Pass | Pass |

The bidding was highly optimistic, all around, but no bid was as bad as South's play.

West opened the club king. South ruffed and, blind to everything except that he had a lot of losing hearts, started to ruff them out. The ace was followed by a heart ruff with dummy's seven. A second club ruff followed, and a heart was ruffed with the eight. A third club ruff reduced declarer to the 10-9 of spades.

Now declarer bethought himself of his need for diamond tricks, and led the jack. West naturally did not cover and, dummy having ducked, East won with the ace, for the defenders' first trick. The spade queen was led back, dummy winning with the ace, and now West had the king and a low spade as against the singleton held by declarer and dummy. The diamond king was cashed, dropping the queen, but a diamond continuation was ruffed with West's low spade and the king drew the remaining trumps, whereupon West could not be stopped from cashing two club tricks.

Had declarer properly appraised the respective merits of dummy as against his own holding, he would have seen that there was a much better chance to establish the diamond suit than there was to take care of all his losing hearts. Thus, his first play would have been a diamond, taking the finesse against the queen. East would win, but, regardless of his return, would be helpless against the establishment of dummy's diamond suit.

Suppose he led back a club. Declarer would ruff and lead the ten of spades, ducking in dummy. The queen would win, but now another spade finesse would pick up West's king and the defenders never would take another trick.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: The bidding has been:

What should partner's next bid be with:

Ratoff's Debut as Director Is Rough on Cast

Keeps All Working Until After Midnight.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., May 12.—[Special.]—Directing his first picture alone, Gregory Ratoff, the Russian actor-writer-director, was anxious to make a good showing on his first day's work. The picture is "Lancer Spy." Ratoff, while directing, uses the language of his acting characterizations of immigrant personalities.

"Boyez" Ratoff said, striding back and forth across the set with his hands clasped behind him, "I vant you, bleaz, to help me make these magneefeecent rushes for today."

From the actors and technical workers came encouraging chirps.

Finally 6 o'clock, the usual quitting time, came and went. "Bleaz, bleaz, just one more szene," he begged. "Just one more, my friends." By 8 o'clock mutterings began. Ratoff grew solicitous. The workmen explained they were suffering hunger pains.

"O, dat's all right with me for you to go eat a sandwich or so," he said in a generous tone. "But no more, bleaz. We have one more szene. It is so grand in a small way that we must finish it."

Nine passed. The mocking birds began to sing. The birds do that out here when it gets along toward midnight. This time the mutterings were outspoken and loud. "You boyez are my friends, no?" Ratoff wheedled them. "Ah, my dear nobel friends, it is generous of you to help so well as you haf done. I ask you to help again. Just one more szene, bleaz."

Finally there could be no more doubt that midnight was upon them. Ratoff conceded it was getting a trifle late. He made a speech. "My friends," he said, "this was a magneefeecent day's work. You were all stupendous. If like this we work every day we will make perhaps one of the greatest films no doubt. My friends, sleep well."

His friends did. Most of the cast took the early part of the next day off. But Ratoff was there at 9 o'clock waiting for them and deeply pained because of their tardiness.

The boating season on Toluca lake has opened early with the Mary B., sole craft on that body of water, out of the boathouse in a new paint scheme of cerise and white, which are the colors of the Vanderbilt racing stable. The boat floated last year in the colors of the Bing Crosby stable, upon whose representatives the boat's skipper, Miss Mary Brian, did not fare well.

Universal has joined the parade of the studios preparing for yearly relays of large scale musicals under a continuous title and has changed the name of the film featuring Bert Lahr, Mischa Auer, Jimmy Savo, and Billy House to "Merry-Go-Round of 1937." The former title had been "Four Black Sheep." Alice Brady plays the feminine comedy lead and the producer is B. G. [Buddy] De Sylva.

Eleanor Powell and George Murphy were in hot water all day on the set of "Broadway Melody of 1937" at Metro. They were doing a dancing sequence in a shower in a park and the studio had the rain warmed before letting it fall on them to prevent catching cold.

Miss Farrell Becomes Bride of Rasmussen

Nashville, Tenn., May 12.—[Special.]—Miss Ritchey Cheek Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farrell, became the bride of Robert Vernon Rasmussen of Chicago this morning in the garden at Crieve hall, the country home of the bride's parents. Dr. Roger T. Noe, pastor of Vine Street Christian church, read the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride wore a simple Lanvin model of white marganza, with a hat of deep delphinium blue horsehair. She carried blue delphinium and briarcliffe roses in a loose bouquet.

George S. Rasmussen Jr. of Chicago was his brother's best man.

The bride's mother ware a Schiaparelli dark blue print with butterflies and a large blue hat. Mrs. George Rasmussen, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black ensemble.

Mrs. Rasmussen will sail Saturday from New York to spend the summer at her estate near Copenhagen.

Mr. and Mrs. Rasmussen left this afternoon for White Sulphur Springs, Va. After their return to Chicago they will be at home at 3400 Lake Shore drive, until the middle of July, when they will join Mrs. Rasmussen.

Mr. Rasmussen, vice president of the National Tea company, which his father founded, was educated at Northwestern university and in Europe.

Annual Show

Students of the Washburne Trade school, 1225 Sedgwick street, yesterday presented their annual style show in which clothes made by the girls in sewing classes were displayed. A play, "We've Got Something Here," written by Miss Madge Rogers, an instructor, was part of the program. All of the clothing, furniture, and other stage props were made in the school shops.

Perhaps some reader can locate a leftover from a fad which had great popularity some years ago and provide two elderly ladies with a pastime.

One of the quickest ways to fill a cookie jar [and what well equipped household lacks a cookie jar?] is to stir up a batch of drop cookies.

But fashions in drop cookies have changed along with fashions in cookie jars, and while the old stone crock on the pantry shelf was heaped high with oatmeal "rocks," today's colorful hand painted cookie jar holds maple coconut drops and lemon peanut disks.

Maple Coconut Drop Cookies.

2 cups pastry flour
½ teaspon salt
⅛ teaspoon soda
2 teaspons baking powder
½ teaspoon ginger
½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup maple sirup
1 egg, beaten
1 cup shredded coconut

Sift the first five ingredients together and cut in the butter as for pie pastry. Combine brown sugar, sifted, with maple sirup and egg, and then combine the two mixtures. Add coconut and drop the dough from a teaspoon onto a greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees.

Lemon Peanut Disks.

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
2 unbeaten eggs
2 tablespoons milk
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped salted peanuts

Cream butter and sugar together and add unbeaten eggs, one at a time. Beat well after adding each. Add milk, lemon juice, and rind. Add dry ingredients which have been sifted together and, finally peanuts. Drop by spoonful onto a greased baking sheet and spread out into thin disks with a spoon. Place a peanut in the center of each disk and bake at 375 degrees.

Chocolate Black Walnut Drops.

[About four dozen.]

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter, margarine or other fat
⅔ cup brown sugar, packed firmly
1 unbeaten egg
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup black walnut meats

Sift flour once before measuring and resift it several times with baking powder, soda, and salt. Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly until the mixture is light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add melted chocolate, and then flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition. Add vanilla and nuts. Drop from a teaspoon onto an ungreased baking sheet and bake at 350 degrees for twelve minutes. Frost with a thin butter frosting.

Chocolate Coconut Drops.

[Two dozen.]

1 square unsweetened chocolate
⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
1½ cups shredded coconut

Melt chocolate in the top of a double boiler. Add condensed milk and coconut. Mix well and drop by spoonful onto a greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for fifteen minutes. Remove from pan at once.

Compatibility Is Safe Guide to the Altar

Mutual Interests Lead to Happiness.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Harry writes that he has not had much time to devote to girls up to this time because he has been too busy trying to get himself established in a business. Now, with his business coming along nicely, he has more time to devote to girls, and wants to know what type of girl makes the best wife.

Well, Harry, it isn't possible to pick out any one type of girl and hold her up as a model, for the girl who appeals to one man may have no attraction whatsoever for another. However, there are certain qualifications that are essential to the happiness of any man.

The most important thing is to pick out a girl who appeals to you, and with whom you have much in common, the same tastes, a girl who is fond of the same pleasures and amusements and who likes to do the things you like to do. Unless there is this compatibility of interests, over a period of years there is bound to develop a boredom, not at all conducive to a happy life. In fact, I should say that a lack of interest in the same things is responsible for more unhappiness than almost any other cause.

You'll want to choose a girl with a pleasant disposition, one who can take the bitter with the sweet, without letting it affect her good nature. If a woman is going to rave and rant about the things she can't have when things go wrong, for instance, should you meet with business reverses, you will have a double worry. But if she is the kind of girl who can accept misfortune and lend a hand to help overcome it, she proves herself to be the kind of mate a man needs, for life can't possibly flow along serenely all the time. A woman must be able to accept good fortune and misfortune with an equally open mind. She must be a good loser.

Choose a girl who will be satisfied with the things you can give her, one who will do everything possible to boost you and your business, and one who is not afraid to assume her share of the responsibility, and who will do her work efficiently and willingly.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—The official Catholic directory for 1937, published this week, reports the Catholic population of the United States and its possessions at 20,959,134, an increase of 2,305,106 in ten years. The book listed 62,062 converts in the last year, as compared with 63,454 the year before, in 18,526 churches, 139 more than the year before. The total number of priests now was set at 31,649, an increase of 541. There were 125 cardinals, archbishops, and bishops, a decrease of one.

Maine vies with Massachusetts for a monopoly on the quilt patterns relating to stories of the sea or seamen. "Ocean Waves" is one of the oldest of the pieced patterns to come from Maine. It is one of those symbolic patterns with the blue and white pieces indicating the perpetual motion of the waves. The finished block measures 15 inches square and is set together, block to block, to form an all-over design. Only 42 pieced blocks are required for an entire quilt. These are finished with a half inch bias binding, the completed coverlet measuring 90 by 105 inches.

Renaissance Society Will Sponsor Program.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ABOUT a year ago the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago departed from its usual activity—exhibiting art shows and occasionally presenting a musician—and gave a ballet. It was a great success, so this year the society has decided to give a similar entertainment. It will be on Wednesday evening, May 19, in Mandel hall and Vincenzo Celli and his troupe will be the dancers.

At Celli's last Chicago appearance, on April 25, the piano accompanist was late in arriving at Orchestra hall so the first part of the program was done without music. Many people found this part of the entertainment especially interesting so Celli has been asked to do a number without music at the recital in Mandel hall. He is planning a ballet, "Song Without Words," which he is dedicating to the Renaissance society.

Mrs. Inez Stark, president of the society, Mrs. John U. Nef, Mrs. Paul Russell, Mrs. Henry Gale, Mrs. Dallas Phemister, and Mrs. Frederick Biesel are among those serving on the ticket committee. Tickets may be secured from them or at the society's headquarters in Wieboldt hall at the university.

Last Monday in the galleries of the society there w opened an exhibition of paintings by two graduates of the university, Rainey Bennett and John Pratt. The show will remain until May 30, and will be open daily, including Sunday, from 2 until 5 o'clock.

Premiere of Play by Winnetka Girl.

Another interesting event of the near future at the University of Chicago will be the Chicago première by the International House Players of Janet Marshall's prize winning play, "A Streak of Pink." It will be given on the evenings of May 21 and 22 in International House theater and many north shore residents will attend for the youthful playwright is a Winnetka girl. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John C. Marshall of Hubbard Woods and before going to Yale, where she now is a student in the dramatic school, she attended the University of Chicago. She was graduated magna cum laude from Bryn Mawr in 1933. Next month she will finish the three year graduate course in Yale's school of the drama.

Miss Marshall was awarded first prize, $2,500, for her play in a contest conducted by the Bureau of New Plays, at the end of a nation-wide search for new dramatists. She returned the award, however, preferring to become a member of the Dramatists Guild rather than to accept the prize from the bureau, the directorate of which consists of representatives of most of the large film companies.

Lake Forest Guild Will Give Benefit.

Mrs. Taylor Strawn and Gilbert E. Porter III. are scouting for musical talent in Lake Forest to give a program at a benefit the parish guild of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest is planning for Friday evening, June 4.

The affair will be given at the Deerpath theater, and a movie, "Men Are Not Gods," with Miriam Hopkins and Gertrude Lawrence, will be shown.

The proceeds will be used to provide furnishings for the new parish house. The money raised at the Easter sale conducted by the guild cannot be used for this purpose because it is included in the regular church budget. Mrs. Lithgow Mitchell is president of the guild and is in charge of arrangements, with Mrs. Frank Priebe as ticket chairman. Mrs. Benjamin B. Bryan Jr. is vice president and treasurer of the guild and Mrs. Charles S. Garland is secretary.

"I feel sure," said one as she helped herself to the fresh asparagus the butler offered, "that I am the only woman in Evanston who actually cans fruit."

"O, no, my dear," disagreed the other. "Not only do I can fruit, but I go out and buy the Mason-Hamlin jars myself."

A LAD who looked as if he might be a high school sophomore sauntered on the Howard street beach last Sunday wearing a bouquet of flowers on his coat lapel.

"Why all the flowers?" asked a contemporary. "Have you got more than one mother?"

"Sure," snapped the first boy. "This one"—he indicated one bright flower—"is for my mother; this one is for her mother; and this one is for dad's mother. And these three dark ones are for the colored mammies I had down in Tennessee."

THE current issue of the South Shore Country Club magazine reports that Miss Ima Newbride of Hitchcock, Wyo., was among recent out of town guests.

THE British coronation practically took over the town yesterday. There was a coronation party in a north shore suburb, at which house guests, invited for dinner and the night on Tuesday, got up early and heard the coronation ceremonies in pajamas, with maids handing around orange juice and coffee. Wherever possible clerks and office employés were listening to the broadcasts and from every opened window and automobile with a radio came the roar of coronation crowds and cheers. . . . One of the window displays of interest was that at Ackermann's galleries, where water colors, oils, and old prints tell the story of other coronations, the British lion surmounted by the crown appears in old Chelsea or Rockingham, and there is a Blampied painting of George VI. in his royal ermine trimmed robe. The coronation of her majesty Queen Victoria unfolds in a series of colored pictures; there is a painting of the late king and Queen Mary driving in an open carriage, with Edward opposite, a silk hat topping his boyish profile. There also are paintings of the regiments that marched in yesterday's procession. . . . But at a china store it was said there was difficulty in getting in certain wares from England because the factories are still turning out the Edward VIII. mugs and souvenirs that, when the first supply was manufactured, it was thought would mean a tremendous loss at the time of the abdication.

Good Morning!

KIND: Melodrama—based on the slot machine racket.

ACTING: Excellent. Claire Trevor as a café entertainer desired by the "king" and in love with the newspaper reporter who's instrumental in cracking his combine and bringing bad, sad truths to light, is capable and attractive as ever. Akim Tamiroff plays the underworld czar in suave and sinister fashion. Lloyd Nolan, usually seen as a villain, acquits himself nobly on the side of virtue. . . .

DIRECTION: Capable.

SETS, PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND, ETC.: Okey.

STORY: Hectic—but believable in the main.

"BEETHOVEN CONCERTO."

| Professor Malevich | Vladimir Gardin |

| Conductor | A. Melnikov |
| Yanka | M. Talmanov |
| Vladik | V. Vasiliev |

And now for a brief period the Sonotone screen knows a slight respite from soviet propaganda [so far as its feature picture is concerned] and presents a charming little photoplay whose subject is music film composition.

This movie's only kowtow to propaganda is that it presents Russia as a place where juvenile musical talent is noticed and nourished.

The principal characters are two boys, Yanka, aged 11, and his pal, Vladik, 12, both of whom study violin under Yanka's father, Professor Malevich. . . .

The lads are being trained for participation in a prospective competition at Moscow. . . . The professor discontinues teaching Vladik because of a boyish prank which angers him. . . . Yanka's efforts to relay his dad's instructions to Vladik meet with little interest from the latter, who has gone off on a tack of his own—composition. He writes a cadenza for Beethoven's Concerto, and this Yanka performs at the competition instead of one his father had composed—and that, with the professor's permission. For Dad Malevich is a good sort after all. . . .

Both boys receive honor from the judges and the film ends on a buoyant note.

Splendid acting by adults, children, and a dog, fine direction and beautiful photography and settings make "Beethoven Concerto" a production well worth contemplation.

See you tomorrow.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[Posed by Joan Fontaine.]

The new hats, which are more bandeau than hat, demand hair that can stand such merciless exposure. The hair should be beautifully dressed, of course, but, most important, it should be healthy, clean and brushed to the gleaming point.

As you've undoubtedly noticed if you get outside the four walls of your own home at all the town is fairly full of hats which aren't hats. They're hardly more than bandeaux—and very smart they are too, providing the hair they reveal for all to see is the kind of hair that stands such merciless exposure.

As we go our rounds we see a lot of these chic little head bands revealing hair that were better covered; we want to clutch the misguided wearers and steer them into the nearest salon to have their crowning glory reconditioned.

We will always maintain that there is no such thing as really unattractive hair. Muddy colored hair can become glorious if it's restored to health and its true beauty of shade brought out by polishing. Dry hair can be made lustrous. Hair that's been permanented almost to death and neglected in between waves can be oiled and brushed to health. Badly dyed hair can be reconditioned by an expert.

The transformation isn't brought about in a day and it most certainly isn't brought about by conversation, which seems to be as far as most women get with their hair reform waves. Neither will you do yourself any good with the listless application of this thing and that.

Hair treatments take time and money, but there is no better investment. The woman who thinks only of a wave and a trim in the hope that it will conceal all her hair drawbacks isn't spending her money wisely. If the hair needs attention and you must choose between a treatment and a wave take the treatment. The wave, when you do get it, will be better than any you've had before.

We're all for these headband hats. They'll probably have the good psychological effect of making us think more about hair health and luster. But we really shouldn't wear one unless we have gleaming, smooth locks that can welcome the test of such inspection as these cut-out bonnets invite.

Mrs. "Jock" Whitney Has Screen Test for Scarlett O'Hara Role

Atlantic City, N. J., May 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. John Hay Whitney, famous for her beauty and horsemanship, has taken a screen test for the coveted rôle of Scarlett O'Hara in the film version of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone with the Wind."

Mrs. Whitney's husband, John Hay [Jock] Whitney, patron of racing and polo, is chairman of the board of Selznick-International Pictures, which will produce the picture, and it is common talk in social circles that she is being considered for the lead.

It is said that parts of the picture will be filmed on the great Llangollen farm, the Whitney estate in Virginia.

Though Mrs. Whitney has had no theatrical training, she is one of the most beautiful young women in New York social circles. She is dark eyed, with a dusky complexion that gives her almost a Spanish appearance, and she has dark hair which she parts in the middle.

Printed Silks Style Smart New Footgear

Soft Colors Give Fashion; Avoid Gaudiness.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Since the color inhibitions of dozens of shoe designers have been unleashed shoe shop windows are just about the best color spots in the town. With blazing color raging, the appearance of sedate black or blue shoes is questioned by some stylists. Printed riots of contrasting color make good selections for the many black or blue sheer outfits all women will be wearing to combat summer heat waves. The fashion battle between dark linen footnotes and the gaudy stuff continues.

As timely in between ideas we recommend some new printed silk footgear. These are feminine and decorative without being the sort of stuff that blinds the eyes. They have soft colors printed in small patterns against neutral colored backgrounds, such as brown, navy, and black. This printed silk is knowingly combined with narrow pipings of lether, so that you can own a good pair of summer shoes without overdoing the color contrast idea.

And you can get small bags of the same silk and lether combine. These bags look properly "afternoonish." The footwear goes perfectly with the new stockings made with printed silk toe sections. High heels, that are graceful, and the minimum of toe holes are more than interesting details of these feminine slippers for summertime wear.

If you have a weakness for clox look for the newest arrivals in good, warm, glowing summer gold shades with delicate shadow clox at the sides. These clox are flat, decorative, and slenderizing, and quite live up to the name of shadow.

THE TRAP

By Elizabeth Jordan

[Copyright: 1937: by Elizabeth Jordan]

SYNOPSIS.

Brave Alida French prepares to open up Avalon, the ancestral home she has inherited on the Massachusetts coast, for paying guests—though the house, according to local gossip, is haunted. Four men have vanished from it. Her guests are to be Vance, a young man with a fatal heart ailment, Dr. Eugene Benedict, struggling young physician, and his wife, Lucy. Comfort Folger used to work at Avalon. Alida, accompanied by Bing Haven, her family lawyer's nephew, calls on Comfort. She agrees to work for Alida. For 30 years Comfort has refused to marry Abram Parsons because of his drinking. Vance arrives at Avalon. Alida hires Comfort's nephew, Nat Folger, who longs to write, and Mary, a servant girl, to help Comfort.

TERROR.

Mary was unquestionably in a bad way. The doctor, hastily summoned by telephone, worked over her almost half an hour before she recovered enough consciousness to shriek again, and promptly go off into a second swoon. In passing, she raved of ghosts. Something, she howled, had come toward her from the cedar grove, had swept past her, clutching at her as it came, and had danced around the barn. She thought there was another figure with it—a black figure, but she wasn't sure of that. Yes, Mary could describe the first figure. It had been a skeleton—dancing in the air and grinning at her and holding out its fleshless arms. At the memory Mary, now on the kitchen floor, again forgot her troubles in unconsciousness and the doctor muttered something about "damn nonsense" and "severe shock."

Alida looked around for Vance. He had disappeared through the rear kitchen door, which led toward the chicken runs and the barn. Her own reaction was a fierce anger. Everything had been going so beautifully! Now this fool of a girl, with her crazy imaginings, had ruined it all! Alida turned to Comfort who, with the doctor, was still working over Mary.

"O, Comfort, isn't this infuriating?" she began. Then the words died on her lips as she took in the expression on Comfort's upturned face. The woman's whole body was shaking.

"Comfort," she cried, "pull yourself together! Surely you're not taking this nonsense seriously! You're not putting yourself on a level with Mary Pulaski!"

Comfort stiffened and straightened. The shaking of her body grew less violent, but her face was livid. Vance came in through the back door and dropped on the table the powerful searchlight he had been carrying.

"Nothing there, of course," he repeated. "I've searched the grove and the barn and the chicken houses. I've even looked into Cocktail's big kennel. He's in the field below. You can bet that if there had been anything unusual around he would have raised a row."

Mary Pulaski was shrieking again. She wanted to be taken away from this place.

"I've got a five passenger sedan," the doctor said. "We'll put her in that and take her to the hospital for the night. If we took her home in this state she'd have her whole family, and probably all the neighbors, tied up in hard knots by morning."

Mary Pulaski made a spectacular exit. Supported by Vance and the doctor she reached the sedan and was hoisted into it. She kept both hands over her eyes and howled while the car was inside the Avalon grounds. Sitting beside her in the tonneau while the doctor drove, Vance was full of sympathy for Alida. On Friday—the day after tomorrow, he was to have gone to New York for the Benedicts, bringing them to Avalon Saturday. The inside of the house was ready for them, swept and garnished. Now Mary Pulaski seemed to have upset the apple cart with her infernal dancing skeleton. Comfort, too, had acted very strangely.

In the hospital, an hour later, when Mary Pulaski had been put to bed in a private room, with a nurse in charge of her and for whose attentions Miss French would have to pay, Dr. Shepard proved unexpectedly communicative.

"I've done this for Miss French's sake, not for Mary's," he explained as he drove Vance back to Avalon. "Amos French was a friend of mine. I've done what I could for his niece. By morning we may be able to put the fear of God into Mary and make her hold her tongue. I'll tell her folks she was frightened by white sheets flapping on a clothesline in the dark. That's probably what it was. I'll hint to her father that there may be a libel suit against her if she starts any gossip. It would be hard luck for Miss French to have a fresh attack of local hysteria come on just as she gets started here."

Vance thanked the doctor for his understanding.

"Just the same," Shepard went on, "sooner or later, it's bound to leak out. The curse of Avalon and its ghosts and skeleton is our best local topic."

"Is there a special story about the skeleton? I don't think I've heard that one."

"The story is that after old Capt. Amos disappeared, died, whatever you choose to call it, he reappeared in the grove in the form of a sea captain and lured people to their death. He has a ghostly companion—his grandson, the second victim. The skeleton is another ghost—supposed to be the third victim. He also haunts the cedar grove and has a shadowy companion. Those yarns started because, as the story goes, Comfort Folger did see him about thirteen years ago. She followed him—God knows why—and all but lost her life. Comfort followed, from the barn into the grove. As soon as she got there both she and the skeleton disappeared. It developed later that earlier in the day Comfort and Mrs. Quimby had had a little row. That wasn't unusual. So Mrs. Quimby thought Comfort had gone to her sister's to sulk, as Comfort did on these occasions. Mrs. Quimby herself hustled off to spend the night with a neighbor. People passing that way that night heard from the grove the howls and shrieks we still hear so much about; but they simply meant ghosts to them. But the next afternoon a stranger in the region heard the outcries when he was passing Avalon in his roadster. He knew nothing about ghosts there, so he stopped his car and investigated the noises. They were pretty faint by this time, but he followed them to an old well near the center of the grove. That well had been given a stout wooden cover sixty or seventy years before and forgotten for half a century. Several feet of earth had covered it and grass had grown over it. When Comfort stepped on the crumbling earth and rotting wood she went through. Luckily for her the well was empty. But it was thirty feet deep. She had been at the bottom of it, half buried in the mud and slime there, and with a broken arm from the fall, for twenty hours before she was rescued."

"But—man—that may be where they all——"

"That's what we all thought before we stopped to figure it out," the doctor said patiently. "Of course an investigation was made right away. But there was nothing in the old well but Comfort Folger."

Vance was wondering why Alida had not told him and the others this episode.

"Of course it started a brand new crop of stories," the doctor went on. "That well was one of the skeleton's traps for his victims—that sort of thing, you know. They think he had led Amos and his Boston broker to a different trap, but one even more effective—one no one has ever found. Naturally, the old well was immediately filled up. Caleb Haven saw to that."

"It's a cheery story," Vance's voice was flat.

Vance found Alida and Comfort waiting for him impatiently at Avalon. He and Alida drove Comfort home, and then went to Quinnet and the inn. On the way he repeated the story of Comfort and the well. The girl was obviously stunned.

"Worse and worse," she sighed. "Comfort kept on working at Avalon. But this is the end of Mary Pulaski. I was afraid for a little while that Comfort wouldn't stay, either. But she's a great old girl. It merely brought her to the point. She told me off her own bat that she will work for me this summer. It's my one comfort. So I'm going to ask you to go back to New York Friday, exactly as we planned, and bring up the Benedicts Saturday. The new life will really begin from the time they get here. But of course you must tell them about these episodes."

Vance nodded. He knew all that was contained in that final sentence. From the corner of an eye he had been taking Alida in as she talked. How lovely she was, how alive, and how gallant!

Renaissance Society Will Sponsor Program.

junior swimming meet at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Most exciting among the aquatic events will be the Woman's Athletic club championships which will be defended by Miss Marletta Caron, winner of both the 40 yard free style and the 60 yard medley last November.

Miss Caron will have an especially full day, for after defending her laurels in the morning she will be hostess in the afternoon to a large swimming party which is being given to celebrate her 21st birthday. A younger sister, Miss Joan Caron, also will take part in the meet.

Others competing will be Joan Kennedy, whose grandmother, Mrs. Henry Kennedy, will be on the sidelines; Ann Rawles, daughter of Mrs. J. Winchester Holman; Patricia Kelly, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Kelly; Mary Welch, niece of Mrs. Welch Dickinson; Nancy Krupp, granddaughter of Mrs. Edwin W. Sims; Margot and Betty Stoll, daughters of Mrs. J. Otto Stoll; Barbara Joan Pruitt, daughter of the Raymond S. Pruitts, and Harriet and Nancy Pattison, daughters of Mrs. William L. Pattison.

Board of Convalescent Home Will Meet.

Mrs. Daniel Trude and Mrs. Harold E. Wilkins will be hostesses to the woman's board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children next Monday at the South Shore Country club at the final meeting of the spring season.

The Arts club has cards out for a tea to open three exhibitions—paintings by Albert Gleizes, stage designs by Jo Mielziner and Rex Whistler, and paintings by Carl Ruggles—on Tuesday, May 18, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The Cordon announces a dinner and musical melange for Elsa Durand Mower, retiring president, on Thursday, May 20, at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Childs, who made plans to cross to Europe in midsummer on the ill fated Hindenburg, have had to revise their plans. They are undecided whether they will go by boat or remain in Lake Forest. They moved out to the country recently.

Miss Harriet Stuart, who was to have made the return trip on the Hindenburg last week, gave up her European jaunt entirely since she could not reach London in time for the coronation by ship. She returned to Chicago immediately after the disaster and has been busy ever since answering the cables, wires, letters, and telephone calls that she has had from friends all over the world, rejoicing that she was not on the ship when it exploded.

Miss Stuart plans her usual summer trip to Europe with her family in August.

Howard Willett and his bride, Mrs. Mary Cave Hall, who also had reservations on the Hindenburg for its first return trip this year, went on the Rex, sailing last Friday morning, to be away two months.

Arthur Meeker Jr. Sails for Europe.

Arthur Meeker Jr. has sailed for Europe to be away until October.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Miller will sail from Baltimore May 27 on the City of Havre to spend two months motoring on the continent. They will return on the Manhattan early in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Miller are sailing June 12 on the Conte di Savoia for Italy. They will visit the French Riviera, the Italian lakes, Germany, the Paris exposition, and England before sailing home in August.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter are expected home from Italy tomorrow.

Dr. Emil L. Baer, the new German consul general, has moved into the apartment at 1320 North State street that he has leased from Mrs. Andrew Sherriff. Mrs. Sherriff is living at the Plaza hotel.

Mrs. Wirth Dunham has returned to her home in Wayne from a winter in Arizona.

Mrs. Thomas R. Coyne has returned from California, and after spending a few weeks with her son and daughter-in-law, the T. Roswell Coynes, has moved to the Chimneys in Winnetka, where she has taken an apartment for the summer.

State Club Meeting Urges Every Effort to Curb Moron Attacks

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Peoria, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Delegates to the 42d annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs today offered coöperation to all groups acting to curb criminal assaults on women and children.

Framed by Mrs. Clifton K. Timmons of Chicago, chairman of the federation's law observance department, the resolution originally made reference only to the crimes that had been committed in Chicago. The statement was rewritten to embrace the state.

The delegates heard Judge Francis Vonachen of Peoria call for more competent administration of the probation and parole system in Illinois. To keep better than the usual order in the convention hall, Mrs. Edward J. Lehman of Sidney, Federation president, has advised in a special note on the program. "Exercise of the mind and rest of the tongue during program numbers is strongly urged and advised."

Child Study Group.

The Chicago Association for Child Study and Parent Education will hold its annual luncheon meeting next Wednesday in the tearoom of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. Dr. David Slight of the University of Chicago will speak.

Graceful Dress Is Dainty

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

There's plenty of daintiness and charm inherent in the very lines of this graceful dress. Every summer wardrobe needs at least one frock which is feminine, cool, graceful, and figure flattering. Shirred lines are popular this season, since fashion designers have come to realize that women wish to forsake strictly tailored effects when they go out in the afternoon.

The simple V neckline of this model is correct, because the bodice of the garment is beautifully and softly shirred. A squared shoulderline is created by virtue of an ungathered yoke and the slight puff of the sleeves, which may be either long or short. A nosegay may or may not enhance the neckline. It may be transferred to the sash, if you wish. The crushed belt may tie at the side or in the back. The waistline yoke dips up effectively into the bodice and there is plenty of fulness in the back of the skirt to create the illusion of floating.

Sheers make up wonderfully in this model. Soft washable silks in dainty prints also are attractive. If you select a plain shade choose one in delicate, soft tones to maintain the spirit of the lines of this frock.

Style No. 3078 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Daily Attention Necessary to Constant Beauty of the Hands

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It is important that you give daily attention to the hands. Whether it is more important for the business girl or the girl who is at home, I wouldn't say. It seems to me it is equally important to both.

You can do your own manicuring, but I would suggest that you go to a professional manicurist for a time or two. Study her method. Then you'll be in a position to do a good home job. The first step is to wash the hands in warm water, using soap and a nail brush. Scrub well under the fingertips, under and around the nails. Then dry thoroughly. Shape the nails with a flexible steel file, filing from the side of the nail to the tip. In shaping the nail take into consideration the shape of the fingers. It is not good taste to wear fingernails too long, or too pointed. Oval or round nails are considered in better taste.

After the nails are satisfactorily shaped, soften the edges with an emery board. And now comes the care of the cuticle. Cuticle must be pushed back gently, otherwise you are bound to bruise the nail, causing white spots to appear. Because there is no way to remove these white spots the thing to do is to prevent their appearance. Cover an orangewood stick with a tiny piece of cotton, moisten it in cuticle remover, and then moisten the rim all around the nail and clean under the nail. Then push back the cuticle. After using the cuticle remover, rub each nail with a towel. The dried skin will come off. Now wash the hands and again push back the cuticle gently. You are now ready for your polish.

Once a week should be often enough for this entire procedure. However, after every hand washing it is an excellent practice to push back the cuticle, and give the hands a massage with your favorite hand lotion or cream.

Falsehoods in Family Circle Are Contagious

These Give Child Wrong Behavior Clue.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The dinner table is set with a savory pot roast and steaming vegetables for Bobby, 5, and his mother and his father.

"Well, John, it certainly is good to have you home early. This is the first night in ages that Bobby has been able to have dinner with you."

"Daddy, why don't you ever play with me any more?"

"Sorry, old man, I've been pretty busy, but I'll tell you what, after dinner, since this is a very special occasion, how about a game of train car conductor with all the chairs and a real ticket punch?"

"O! and can I be the conductor first, daddy? And will there be a cow on the track?"

"A cow—and maybe a pig to stop for!"

"Good! that will be like old times," comments Bobby's mother. "And," emphatically, "I do hope no one comes in tonight to spoil things."

A little later the door bell rings. Mother makes a wry face, a neighbor enters, and mother exclaims enthusiastically, "O, Mrs. White, I'm so glad you dropped in. Come into the living room. We've just finished dinner."

I often wonder if we realize how much of an impression the things we say and do make upon our children. One wonders what this disappointed 5 year old read into this.

We are worried when our son or daughter tells an untruth. But how many times do we stop to think that possibly we ourselves may be in a small measure, to blame? A chance remark, "O, tell her I'm not home," or, "Tell them we have another engagement," made in the hearing of a child who knows that neither statement is true, must confuse him a little.

"But once in a while we simply must stretch the truth a little in order not to hurt some one's feelings," said a mother. That may be so, but when that is necessary let us be sure that the young ones are out of hearing.

I do not mean to imply for a moment that this is the only reason for childish falsehoods. I wish it were, for then we could more easily cope with the situation. The falsehoods sometimes told by our children may be traced to various causes, subtle or obvious. If you are bothered by this problem, make an effort to determine the cause and later try to work out a remedy. For example:

Have you been a little too severe and has your child told an untruth in order to escape further punishment?

Is your boy or girl rather slow in his or her school work and is an untruth told in order that he or she be considered as bright as the child next door?

Is your child one of the many who thrive in the limelight and, who, in order to place himself there sometimes will resort to telling what is not so, even though he may know that displeasure or punishment is certain to follow?

Have you ever made the mistake of saying to your son or daughter: "Did you do it?" when you already know that he or she is guilty?

Are you so overzealous that you call the imaginings of romancings of your small one, "lies"?

"How to Gain Obedience Without Punishment" is a booklet which will be helpful to parents. It will be sent on receipt of a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

JURY FREES WIFE OF MURDER IN JUST 12 MINUTES

Mrs. Maddox Acquitted in Death of Husband.

A Criminal court jury, after deliberating 12 minutes, yesterday returned a verdict acquitting Mrs. Stella Maddox, 26 years old, on a charge of murdering her husband, Daniel, a former pugilist.

Mrs. Stella Maddox.

The state had contended in the trial before Judge Peter H. Schwaba that Mrs. Maddox shot and killed her husband on March 18 during a quarrel in their home at 1951 West 21st street after learning of his attentions to another woman.

Slaying Called Accident.

This was denied by the widow, who testified she had intended to kill herself and that her husband was slain accidentally when he tried to take the pistol from her.

Mrs. Maddox wept as the verdict was read in court. Her daughter, Dorothy, 10 years old, ran to her and threw her arms around her mother, crying, "Now you can come home with me." Through her attorneys, Harold Levy and George Crane, Mrs. Maddox then thanked the jurors.

Daughter Not on Stand.

Chief of the state's witnesses was to have been the daughter who had testified at the coroner's inquest that her mother had once threatened Maddox. At the last minute, however, Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle said the girl had changed her story so many times the state could not vouch for her testimony. A request she be called as a court's witness was refused.

In his closing arguments Boyle asked the jury to "stop pinning medals on women who shoot their husbands, and teach them murder is no joke."

FEDERAL BUREAU BLAMES PILOTS IN 2 PLANE CRASHES

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—"Errors by pilots" were responsible for the crashes of two commercial airliners in which seventeen persons were killed and eight injured near Newhall, Cal., last December and January, it was reported here today by the bureau of air commerce.

One of the planes was a United Air Lines ship carrying nine passengers and a crew of three, all of whom were killed, when it struck a mountain while flying from Oakland to Los Angeles on Dec. 27. The other was a Western Air Express liner bound for Los Angeles from Salt Lake City. Five of those aboard were killed and eight injured.

"It is the opinion of the accident board that the probable cause of the United plane crash was an error on the part of the pilot for attempting to fly through the Newhall pass at an altitude lower than the peaks of the surrounding mountains, without first determining by radio the existing weather," one of the reports said.

In effect the accident to the Western Air Express plane was blamed on the pilot for "poor technique" and improper operation of his radio.

Operators of Slot Machines Keep Their Identity a Secret

The mystery surrounding the Crown Supply company, which has been operating slot machines in Will county for more than a year under protection of a temporary injunction, remained unsolved yesterday. The company is not listed among the corporations licensed to do business in Illinois and its location and the identity of its officers have been kept secret.

Elmer Arch, Chicago attorney who represents the company in the injunction proceedings, said recently that the company is owned solely by a Walter McGowan, whom he would not identify further. Arch also said the company has offices somewhere on Jefferson street in Chicago, but he was unable to recall the exact address.

Seen As Legal Weapon.

This vagueness about the company may be a possible means of attacking the validity of the injunction, it was indicated yesterday. Attorneys said that the defendants in the restraining order, who are all the law enforcement officials in Will county and Joliet, have the legal right to the facts concerning the plaintiff company.

Meanwhile at Springfield, Representative Joseph Sam Perry [D., Wheaton] announced he would move for the impeachment of Judge Edwin L. Wilson of the Will county Circuit court, who issued the injunction in April, 1936, and has had final disposition of the case under advisement since last November.

Attacks Use of Power.

"I will file impeachment charges in the house next week," Perry said. "This judge openly uses his judicial power to prevent enforcement of the laws, and to protect operation of illegal machines. It is time for the general assembly to take notice of his conduct."

The executive committee of the house yesterday tabled a resolution Perry introduced on Tuesday calling for an investigation by five members of the house of Judge Wilson's conduct.

DIES FROM STAB WOUNDS.

Stabbed four days ago when he resisted two colored robbers near 43d and State streets, Wesley Carlyle, colored, of 4106 South Dearborn street, died yesterday in the County hospital.

BUNCH 12 HITS WITH 8 WALKS TO TAKE OPENER

Bonura, Kreevich Hit Homers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox put on a big parade, yesterday and furnished their own music, much to the discomfiture of Washington's Senators for whom a few people have pennant hopes. The music was made up of 12 hits for a total of 20 bases and a few other distinct notes were sounded by eight walks off a quartet of visiting pitchers. With all this sweet accompaniment, the Sox had a merry old time recording their fourth victory in five starts. The score was 13 to 5.

For most of their fun the Sox will eventually present Louis [Buck] Newsom with a card of thanks. Blustery Buck, who really can pitch at times, started but didn't last. He gave up five passes in the first inning, three Sox scoring. He surrendered two more before retreating in the midst of trouble in the fourth when four more runs scored before rescuer Carl Fischer could restore quiet. After this the Sox conducted themselves sanely until the eighth when the sight of Singing Joe Cascarella inspired them to another four run blast.

Zeke, Mike Deliver.

Most of the extra bases were contributions by Zeke Bonura and Mike Kreevich. Bonura, who singled in the first and again in the eighth, helped to get Newsom out of the picture in the fourth by drilling a line drive into the seats with a mate on for his fourth home run of the season. Kreevich also made the round trip, but in more spectacular fashion. He produced an inside the park homer in the eighth for the first of the series of hits that made Cascarella's appearance brief and unpleasant.

Vernon Kennedy, who has been known to have Newsom's generous habits, went through from start to finish and showed only occasional traces of wildness. He walked four in the first four innings, but during his stretch yielded only one hit, this a homer to right by Joe Kuhel. In the fifth Kennedy issued another gratuity and it grew into three runs. After this his only trouble was one pass with a hit here and there. None of these and none of the earlier ones came from old Al Simmons. The Milwaukee Duke was up five times and did nothing except produce outs.

Big Hearted Buck.

Newsom's sufferings in the first inning were so intense that the spell lasted 25 minutes. He walked Steinbacher, who went to second on a wild pitch and to third on Kreevich's bunt. Walker strolled and Bonura singled into Simmons' territory, scoring Steinbacher. A walk to Appling loaded the bases. Hayes died swinging at wide pitches, but both Piet and Sewell coaxed walks from big hearted Buck, forcing in Walker and Bonura. Kennedy gave Newsom the wanted relief by striking out.

Kennedy was perfect in the first inning, but in the second he experienced one of his wild flurries. Simmons helped him out. Stone led off with a pass and Simmons bounced to Appling, who fixed up a double play in a hurry. Myer also walked, but Bluege popped to Sewell in front of

32 Smartest Golt School Pupils to Be Picked Tonight

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The graduating exercises of the fifth annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE will be held tonight on the four courses of the Chicago park district—Jackson, Columbus, Diversey, and Marquette. The brightest thirty-two students during the two week course of instruction will be named by a jury of their teachers, following the lesson proper, which will be devoted to the finish of the swing.

Every student who has participated in the first three classes is urged to appear at the course at which he has received the instruction by 6:30 p. m., if not before. Promptness will be rewarded not only with the full benefit of the lesson proper, but also by the shotmaking demonstrations which leading tournament stars will present prior to the opening of the classes.

Each course will have a jury composed of the members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association, who have made up the faculty of the school during the four lessons. These men, who have made a career of golf, have given up their time and volunteered their services with a generosity which has made the 1937 school the most successful in history.

Name Best in Each Class.

These judges will name the most apt pair of pupils in each division—men's, women's, boys', and girls'—at each course. These will constitute the final graduating class of 32, all of whom will gather at Jackson park, 63d street and Stony Island avenue, by 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. There they will be judged by an all-star jury of professionals, which will rate them on the basis of form in grip, stance, and swing. The man, woman, boy, and girl credited with the most points in the final reckoning each will receive a golf bag and a set of clubs from THE TRIBUNE. Each of the other twenty-eight finalists will be presented with one dozen P. G. A. golf balls.

The traveling foursome of Horton Smith, Jimmy Thompson, Harry Cooper, and Lawson Little, which already has given three demonstrations during the school, will make its final appearance tonight at Columbus park. Other tournament stars will give shotmaking exhibitions at the other three courses.

The Name, Please.

Each of the finalists named tonight is asked to give his or her name and address to the professional in charge, so that they may be properly registered for Sunday's finals.

Tonight's final lesson is concerned with the finish of the swing. Up to this point, the school has been concerned with the grip, the stance, and the fundamentals involved in the starting action of the swing. In building a sound style, it is important that the foundation be good, for it is far easier to continue the swing in the right way from the start than to make corrections in it after its action has become rapid.

The backswing must consistently bring the player to a good position at the top of the swing. Here we come to the place where the swing changes direction. Once we have safely passed this point, the rest becomes comparatively easy. The experience of professionals, however, proves that the average player makes a common mistake here—that of hitting with the hands from the top of the backswing.

An Old Idea to Blame.

This action is partly the result of the old and mistaken idea of throwing the clubhead. This error comes as near to making a good golf shot impossible as any other fault that can be named. It forces the hands to make a complete change before they ever reach the ball. Naturally, the wrists uncock at the top of the backswing. They should not turn there, but should uncock gradually as they come into the ball so as to harmonize with the body turn.

The starting action in the downswing is identical with that in the backswing. It should originate with the left hip. If this turn is made properly the player will find himself in a comfortable position at the completion of the swing. Many players have an idea the golf swing is a perfect circle. Instead, it is a circle with a flat bottom.

APPENDIX FORCES DON LASH OUT OF MEMPHIS MEET

Bloomington, Ind., May 12.—[Special.]—Because of a slight attack of appendicitis which he suffered yesterday afternoon, Don Lash, Indiana university's world record holder in the two mile run, will not compete in the annual Cotton carnival at Memphis, Tenn., Friday, Coach E. C. Hayes announced tonight. Lash's condition is not serious and an operation will not be necessary, physicians said.

Coach Hayes said Lash would be given an opportunity to rest up for the Big Ten championships, in which Indiana is the defending titleholder, at Ann Arbor May 21 and 22. Lash had planned to add the three thousand meter mark at Memphis to his string of records.

Riggs Defeats Yamagishi; Flies to Join U.S. Cup Squad

Los Angeles, Cal., May 12.—(AP)—Bobby Riggs defeated Jiro Yamagishi, captain of the Japanese Davis cup team, in an exhibition today, 6-3, 6-1, and left by plane for New York to join the United States Davis cup squad.

Zeke Bonura listened to King George address his subjects during batting practice, then went out to crown one of Newsom's pitches for a home run in the fourth inning.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 12.—Uncle Charley Root and another assortment of jolly Cub patchworkers this afternoon attended to the administration of a 6 to 2 victory over the Boston Bees.

Uncle Charles held the Bees to five hits in the enterprise which put the Cubs one game above .500 for the eastern trip to date. A funny thing about those hits: The first two were infield scratches, one in the second inning and one in the third. The next two, at the start of the sixth, were successive homers by Gene Moore and Tony Cuccinello. The fifth and last hit, a single by Vince Di Maggio followed the two maximum smacks. Thereafter only eleven men, the absolute minimum, faced old Charley, a double play nullifying that last hit.

Cubs Start Slowly.

The Cubs offensive against Johnny Lanning was a little slow starting but was substantial when it started. The first two runs were made in the fourth inning on a single by Lonny Frey and a homer by Rip Collins. After Stan Hack and Phil Cavarretta had flied out in the fifth, Stainback, Root, Galan, and Frey collaborated for three runs, each knocking singles. The Chicagoans added a run in the eighth on a single by Galan, Frey's sacrifice, and a single by Collins.

The feature of the defense, aside from Root's pitching, was the sparkling work of Galan at second base. Augie handled eight chances, half of them difficult, with such ease and grace that Boston observers declared his performance the best they have seen by a second baseman here this year.

Grimm Is Satisfied.

Though the Cubs lost four out of five in Greater New York, Manager Grimm expressed elation over the showing of the team in the face of its unprecedented casualty list. The stricken outfit now has won eight of its last dozen games and five out of nine in the invasion of the east which ends here tomorrow, after which the Cubs take off for a three game series in Cincinnati.

Only nine batsmen faced Lanning in the first three innings, but with one out in the fourth the productive process was launched. Frey singled

Luck Laughs at Hernandez; His Horses Trail at Aurora

BY FRENCH LANE.

Norman Hernandez of New Orleans, who invaded the Aurora race track with the largest stable to race there this spring, was naturally expected to win more races than any other owner on the grounds. For two years his horses had been giving a fine account of themselves at every track over which they raced.

"Why shouldn't they be able to win at Aurora?" the regular race goers asked one another. They all agreed they should.

But so far they haven't been able to win.

When the racing started yesterday on the tenth day of the meeting, Hernandez's color bearers had failed to account for just two victories.

He sent representatives out in three races yesterday. The Hernandez backers believed he surely would break his losing streak this time.

Still, he didn't.

One-Two-Three, Out.

His supposedly early speed horse Proof finished out of the money in the fourth race. His long shot Combahee was beaten a whisker in a photo finish in the fifth race. His more highly regarded Zuni was far back when the Sugar Grove handicap, the best race on the program, ended.

Black River, a son of Black Servant-Rose Smith, was the winner of the Sugar Grove. He started far behind and sailed to the front not far from the line of finish. Bon Centime finished second. Transmutable, the early pacemaker, quit, but saved third money.

Black River won by a length and a half. He paid off at $11.60 for a two dollar ticket.

Whisking by a Nose.

The biggest thriller of the Aurora season came in the six furlong fifth race in which Whisking, Combahee, and Fanfern reached the line of finish only inches apart.

The camera had to go into action to separate them. Even those spectators on a direct line with the point of finish varied widely in their opin-

FIGHTERS STOP IN PARIS; GO SIGHT SEEING

Plan Drill on Boat for Chicago Bouts.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 12.—Europe's greatest amateur boxing team arrived in Paris this morning in fine spirits after the journey from Milan. The fighters will sail from Cherbourg tomorrow on the Berengaria, bound for America, where they will box the Golden Gloves team in Chicago on May 28.

The boys are seeking relaxation now, following the five hard days of fighting in Milan, but they are thinking constantly of the Chicago bouts. They are positive that Europe's best boxers will not be beaten by the Americans.

Boys See Sights.

Despite rain, the boys spent this morning sightseeing. They reported at the Continental hotel for lunch at noon. Then photographs were taken and the fighters were measured for their uniforms.

The Germans, Herbert Runge and Michael Murach, awaited news from their countryman and teammate, Herbert Nurnberg, who was called home to Hamburg when his son became seriously ill. No word was received today, however, and it is understood that Nurnberg will join the team here tomorrow in time to catch the boat train, which leaves in the afternoon.

The quietest fellows on the team are Alexander Polus and Henry Chmielewski of Poland. Neither has visited America before. Both have heard plenty about the overwhelming defeat of the Poland's team in the Golden Gloves championship of 1934. The score on that occasion was Chicago, 7; Poland, 1.

Boxers Get Acquainted.

The Polish association is highly pleased at the outcome of the tournament at Milan, where its team won more bouts than that of any other nation, but the Polish population of Chicago will not be convinced of the improvement until the boys demonstrate it in the May 28 bouts.

It is sure, therefore, that Polus and Chmielewski are determined to win not only for the prestige of European boxing but also for the glory of their own country.

The boys on the squad are becoming well acquainted with one another, although still rooming along racial lines. The boxers are unable to converse, despite a few words of English the Italians understand.

Agren Is Jovial.

Eric Agren is most completely alone since he knows nothing except Swedish and no one in the party, not even the officials, understands a word of that language. Agren, however, is the most jovial of the group, inasmuch as he is fulfilling a long cherished desire to visit Chicago and see his brother Karl, who won a Golden Gloves championship in 1930.

The officials speak Hungarian, English, German, Italian, and French, so the party gets along all right.

The railroad trip has broken the strict routine of training which the boys went in preparation for the Milan tournament. When they get on shipboard they will be ready to take up their workouts gradually. They will have the use of the ship's gymnasium for sparring, calisthenics, rope skipping and all the other activities of boxers in training. But these exercises will be just severe enough to keep them from getting soft. The intensive work will not begin until they reach America.

Reach Chicago May 21.

The fighters are due in New York a week from today. Their uniforms will be waiting for them upon their arrival. They will go on to Chicago, arriving there on May 21.

Word has reached the squad of the great civic reception Chicago is planning in honor of the boxers on Sunday evening, May 23. The boys were keenly interested in this and are looking forward to a warm welcome from their supporters in America. There was considerable speculation on the squad as to which of the nationalities would receive the greatest ovation from Chicago friends.

Can Chicago Whip Europe?

You'll know May 28 when the eight champion fighters of Europe meet Chicago's Golden Gloves Winners at Chicago Stadium in the greatest amateur boxing match the sport has known.

SOX BUNCH 12 HITS TO DEFEAT SENATORS, 13-5

Rout Newsom; Kreevich, Bonura Hit Homers.

the plate. In the home second Kreevich singled with one out, but Newsom fanned Walker and Bonura and strutted proudly to the bench.

Kennedy gained on Newsom by issuing a pass in the third, but the latter regained his advantage by giving another to the Sox in their half. It proved the starter of two runs. Appling drew the walk and promptly stole, after which Hayes popped to Bluege. Piet slashed a double to the scoreboard in left center, scoring Appling. Sewell grounded to Bluege, who made an attempt to nip Piet at third but the throw arrived too late. Piet scored while Kennedy was forcing Sewell.

After Kuhel had hit his home run to give the Senators a run in the fourth, the Sox gathered around Newsom and shouted him out of the party. With one out Bluege threw wild on Walker. On the first pitch Bonura sent his homer lining in to the lower left field pavilion. Before being yanked, Newsom was able to walk Appling again. Fischer came in and stopped Hayes on a fly to Stone. Piet singled to center and Hill threw to third with the idea of nailing Appling, but the ball went wild so Appling scored and Piet was beckoned to third. Piet scored the fourth run of the inning on Sewell's single to deep short.

Senators Get Three.

The Senators bounced back with three runs before anybody was retired in the fifth. Millies walked and scored on Fischer's double to left. Hill cracked a fly to deep center and Kreevich, after sprinting almost to the wall, got his hands on the ball but dropped it for a double, Fischer stopping at third. He scored on Lewis' out, which Bonura handled. Hill moved to third on the play and went home on Kuhel's fly to Walker.

Kennedy Bears Down.

Kennedy had a full house on his hands in the eighth, but got rid of the tenants without being damaged. Stone led off with a double to left. Simmons was thrown out by Appling. Myer walked and the bases were loaded on Bluege's scratch hit to Piet. Millies flied to Walker, but Stone preferred to remain at third. Linke then was sent up to bat for Fischer and forgot to swing when the third strike sailed by.

The home eighth opened with Kreevich spanking his long drive to the right center field corner off Cascarella. He kept right on running and was back at the plate just before the throw in arrived. Walker and Bonura followed with singles. Both scored on Appling's double down the right field line. Hayes expired on a long fly to Simmons, but Piet singled, scoring Appling. When Sewell singled Cascarella was relieved by Lanahan, who hit Kennedy, filling the bases. The young lefty was able to subdue the next two batters.

The Senators scored one in the ninth on Hill's infield single, a couple of infield outs and single by Stone.

Lee Winds Up Senator Series for Sox Today

Thornton Lee, who whipped the Yankees, 2 to 1, for the White Sox last Sunday, will try his luck against Washington in the second and final game of the series today. The Senators may start Jimmy De Shong, a one time Yankee.

Ben Chapman, the Senators' centerfielder, couldn't make an appearance yesterday. He has a bum shoulder, a sore leg, and a half dozen other ailments. Jess Hill took his place.

The charley horse suffered by Larry Rosenthal while rounding first base in Tuesday's game was so severe that he probably will be out for two weeks. He will not accompany the Sox when they start on their eastern tour Sunday night.

In his five appearances at the plate, yesterday Al Simmons hit into a double play, flied to center, fouled to Sewell, grounded to Appling, and fouled to Walker.

Smokers' test shows that White Owls are at least 25% easier on your breath

New scientific discoveries have shown that White Owl's Vintage tobacco is exceptionally low in the substances that cause unpleasant tobacco breath. Tests with a delicate osmoscope prove that this tobacco leaves less odor.

White Owl is a better cigar because it always has a Vintage-tobacco filler. Nature—not factory processing—made this tobacco exceptionally mild, mellow.

We maintain a vast crop-inspection system—only organization of its kind—to locate Vintage tobacco. Even in Vintage years, we classify all filler tobacco into seven grades—and buy only tobacco of the quality of the top three for White Owls.

Switch to White Owls today. You'll enjoy their mild flavor all day. And tonight you'll win favor with the ladies.

THE METALLIC NOSE KNOWS

Scientists use a sensitive osmoscope to measure odor . . . to record its intensity and lasting power. Ten brands of 5¢ cigars were tested by this machine. White Owl was at least 25% easier on the breath. After 30 minutes, all trace of tobacco odor disappeared from the breath of White Owl smokers.

PIRATES RALLY TWICE TO BEAT GIANTS, 6 TO 5

New York Raises 1936 Pennant.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—The New York Giants held their own coronation ceremony today, with a band, parade, and formal raising of the 1936 National league pennant, but the visiting Pittsburgh Pirates crowned them, 6 to 5, in the subsequent ball game. A crowd of 12,018 attended.

The pace setting Pirates twice came from behind to take the lead. They took turns belting two southpaws, Cliff Melton and Al Smith, and made their second rally stick with the aid of splendid relief pitching by Bill Swift in the last three innings.

Swift replaced Joe Bowman, former Giant right hander, after Dick Bartell walked to start the home half of the seventh.

It was Bowman's fourth triumph, against no defeats, as well as the fifth in a row for the Pirates, who have now captured nine out of their last ten games. They hold a lead of three and a half games over the second place Cardinals.

Pre-game incidents included a slightly twisted ankle for Cy Blanton, right handed ace of the Pirates, and presentation of the 1936 most valuable player award to Carl Hubbell of the Giants by James Dawson of the Baseball Writers' association. Bartell hit safely for his 14th consecutive game.

to right and scored ahead of Collins when Rip socked a 404 foot homer into the right field bleachers. Demaree and O'Dea flied out.

Cubs Score Again.

The Cubs waited until two were out before getting busy in the fifth. Successive singles by Stainback, Root, Galan, and Frey netted three runs. Frey's shot, his second hit of the game, drove home two of the markers.

Up until the sixth the Bees' hitting total against Root was two infield singles. Moore opened the sixth with a homer into the left field stands and Cuccinello drove one into the center field stand. Di Maggio singled to center, but was forced by Fletcher, Galan to Frey. Then Mayo hit into a double play, Galan to Frey to Collins.

Collins Drives in Galan.

The Cubs got to their old city series acquaintance, Vic Frasier, for a run in the eighth. Galan singled, advanced on Frey's sacrifice, and scored on Collins' single to right. O'Dea flied to Di Maggio and Hack tapped to Frasier.

Powell Has Appendectomy; Reported as 'Comfortable'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 12.—Bill Lee will go after his third victory of the season for the Cubs in the final here tomorrow. Likewise he will be seeking to duck his fifth defeat. Willie Weir probably will perform for the Bees.

Joe Marty was benched today. After having a fine series in Philadelphia the coast league 1936 batting champion collapsed completely in the Brooklyn and Giant series, failing to make a hit in the five games. His outfielding in the Polo Grounds was unbelievably inept.

Bill Jurges, he of the jammed left wrist, says he could resume operations in an emergency but prefers to rest a few more days.

Rain Forces Tigers, Red Sox to Quit Play After 2d Inning

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—[Special.]—Rain today forced the Boston Red Sox and the Tigers to quit playing after two innings. The Tigers were leading, 1 to 0. White, Rogell, and Greenberg touched Bob Grove for singles in the first inning to bring in the only run.

By hitting two homers and two doubles in five times at bat, Ducky Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals boosted his batting average 25 points to .442 and regained the National league lead yesterday. With all three leaders in the American league idle because of rain, the performances of Medwick and Al Todd of the Pittsburgh Pirates created the only changes in the Big Six.

Todd had two hits in four times at bat to go into a tie for second place in the National league, as Ival Goodman of the Reds, league leader the previous day, went hitless and dropped to fourth place. Standings:

The track team will make its last home appearance of the year Saturday, when it meets Marquette at Dyche stadium in the first meet ever held between the two schools. The golf team takes on Minnesota and Ohio State in a three way match Saturday at Kildeer.

REDS BUY JORDAN FROM BEES; HAFEY READY TO PLAY

Cincinnati, O., May 12.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds bought a veteran first baseman today and returned Chick Hafey to the active list in their drive to pull themselves out of the National league cellar and into the first division for the first time in a decade.

Vice President Warren C. Giles announced in New York the purchase in a straight cash deal, amount undisclosed, of Baxter Jordan, for six years first baseman of the Boston Bees. Jordan has a major league batting average of .301 and hit .323 last season. He was a holdout this spring and lost his job to Rookie Elbert Fletcher.

Hafey is expected here tomorrow to attempt his comeback after a season and a half of voluntary retirement due to sinus trouble.

LUCK LAUGHS AT HERNANDEZ; HIS HORSES CAN'T WIN

ions. The photograph showed that Whisking's nose was in front and that Combahee, a long shot, was second. Fanfern was placed third.

Whisking ran the three-quarters of a mile in 1:13, the fastest time that yet has been made at this year's Aurora meeting. He paid $12.80 to win, $7.20 to place, and $3.40 to show. Combahee, which would have been at 12 to 1 had his nose been a trifle longer, paid $11.40 to place and $4.40 to show. Fanfern had ruled as the favorite.

Largest Week Day Crowd.

The largest week day crowd of the Aurora season watched the program run off. It was a half holiday in many of the smaller cities and towns in the vicinity of the Aurora course, and almost everybody went to the races just as soon as they knocked off work.

Jocky Paul Ryan, who had been a great hero 24 hours earlier, didn't accomplish anything during the day. He was ill, but rode in some of the earlier events. He canceled all his mounts later on in the afternoon.

Maj. Louis A. Beard, manager of the racing and breeding interests of the Whitney family, will be a steward during the "Golden 30 days" race meeting at Arlington Park, it was announced yesterday by John Hertz, chairman of the executive committee of the Arlington Park Jocky club. He succeeds George Brown of Maryland.

Maj. Beard wired yesterday that he had the unanimous approval of Mrs. Payne Whitney, John Hay Whitney and C. V. Whitney to take over the post. This was an indication, it was pointed out, that eastern racing leaders are to give their hearty coöperation to Arlington's richly endowed meeting and will endeavor to make the track's season parallel in importance with those of Belmont Park and Saratoga in New York.

Others to serve in the stand at Arlington will be Christopher J. Fitz Gerald, representing the Illinois racing commission; Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Arthur B. Hancock, and one other prominent horseman to be selected within the next few days. Admiral Grayson, Mr. Hancock, and the steward yet to be appointed each will serve during two weeks of the meeting.

The Irish bred colt Sunset Trail II., owned by Raoul Walsh, the movie director, and Bernard F. from the stable of I. J. Collins of Columbus, O., were nominated yesterday for the $12,000 Illinois Derby. Both these colts which started in the Kentucky Derby will be shipped from Churchill Downs to Washington Park next week.

Charles McLennan has opened the racing secretary's office of the Washington Park Jocky club. Mort Shaw, in charge of the totalizer betting there, will arrive from Narragansett Park on Sunday and take charge of his department at Washington Park.

William Schmidt, owner of the Superior stable of Chicago, received word yesterday that his speedy mare Supreme Sweet had foaled a daughter by Pharamond II., on Hal Price Headley's farm near Lexington, Ky., on the morning of Derby day.

HORSE GONE AND PIMLICO ASKS—STOLEN OR JOKE

Baltimore, Md., May 12.—(AP)—A touch of "hoss" thievery spiced the thrill promising pre-Preakness atmosphere today.

Fireblaze, 2 year old thoroughbred, door prize for the ball celebrating the famous Pimlico race Saturday, disappeared from her stall in the stables of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, millionaire sportsman. Bud Stotler, Vanderbilt trainer, reported the horse was first missed at 1 a. m. when stable men sought to serve Fireblaze's midnight oats.

Police said they found a few footprints outside Vanderbilt's Worthington Valley stables, but they couldn't trace them more than a few yards from the door.

"I think it's just a joke."

Sweden, Greece Divide Two Davis Cup Matches

STOCKHOLM, May 12.—(AP)—Sweden and Greece each won an opening day match in the second round of their Davis cup series today. After Lazaros Stalios of Greece had bowed to Karl Schroeder, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4, Georges Nicolaides of Greece evened the score with a 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Siguard Karlborg of Sweden.

Sparta, Maccabees Meet Sunday in Peel Cup Playoff

The first match of the two game series for the Peel soccer cup will be played Sunday at the Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue when the Maccabees, present holders of the trophy, meet Sparta Garden City. The two teams battled to a tie last week.

EXPECT NINE TO RUN SATURDAY IN 47TH PREAKNESS

War Admiral, Pompoon Renew Feud.

Baltimore, Md., May 12.—(AP)—A promise that the pace in the mile and three-sixteenths Preakness will be a blistering one has reduced the probable field for the historic $50,000 added stakes to be run Saturday at Pimlico to a select group of nine.

Not many owners feel their horses have the speed to run with Samuel D. Riddle's Man o' War colt, War Admiral, the Kentucky Derby winner, and, if the track remains fast, the number of starters in the forty-seventh renewal of the event may be even less than nine.

Should rain fall and make the going slower, the field probably will be larger, since the Riddle speedster has never proved he likes the mud, and the chance of defeating him might be better on a gummy track.

Pompoon Primed for Race.

One stable strong in its determination to defeat War Admiral, if possible, is that of J. H. Loucheim, whose hope is Pompoon, the long striding colt that finished second in the Derby. Trainer Danny Clarke said he believed that if Pompoon had been gotten away faster and taken to the front earlier, he would have fared better at Churchill Downs. Accordingly, he announced, the bay son of Pompey will be rushed from the gate Saturday in an effort to tire down War Admiral in the early stages.

Some feel that if Pompoon and War Admiral engage in this type of a duel, they might run themselves out and leave the way open for another to win. Walter M. Jefford's Matey, a Man o' War colt, is an exceptionally strong finisher and should find such a situation to his liking.

Over the Top Sold.

The Riddle stable's Over the Top, a Man o' War colt that had been expected to go as a running mate of War Admiral, was acquired today by Mrs. W. H. Furst of Chicago in a private sale. Gerald, a colt Mrs. Furst had hoped to start, went wrong recently, and she had to find another to bear her colors in the Preakness.

One of the likely starters is a filly, Joe W. Brown's Jewell Dorsett, by Cohort, the sire of the speedy racer Roman Soldier. Others in the probable field are J. H. Whitney's Flying Scot, Wheatley stable's Melodist, Julia M. Loft's Mosawtrc, and Miss E. G. Rand's Merry Maker, a prime mudder.

FLASHING THRU, away fast and showing good speed while setting the pace, continued in game fashion under vigorous handling in stretch and just lasted to outstay CASSADA. Latter acted badly at the gate, broke from outside the stalls, improved her position gradually on outside, and finished strong. SUN MONK, slow to begin, closed with a rush and was lame after the race.

DUCMISS, much the best and displaying a good burst of speed from the outset, set a fast pace under light restraint until straightened out in the stretch, where she increased her advantage without difficulty. OLD STATE, under pressure for the entire trip, responded gamely in the final quarter, but was no match for the winner. MAXINE B. raced well up for the entire trip and held on gamely.

WHISKING, slow to settle into his stride and forced to lose ground going around his field in the stretch, responded readily to hard urging and wore down COMBAHEE in the last stride. The latter, reserved off the early pace, drew into the lead within the last sixteenth, but was unable to withstand the winner. FANFERN came between horses in the final quarter, lacked racing room in the final stages, showing a fine effort.

BLACK RIVER, taken under light restraint soon after the break, moved up steadily after going a half mile, disposed of TRANSMUTABLE without difficulty, and held BON CENTIME safe. The latter worked his way up gradually on the outside and closed with a rush. TRANSMUTABLE was hard hustled while setting the pace and weakened in the last three-sixteenths.

CELLURA, RODAK WORK OUT FOR BOUT TOMORROW

Clash at Rainbo Fronton; Other Fights Listed.

Johnny Cellura, aggressive Detroit, Mich., featherweight star, arrived yesterday for his ten round bout with Leo Rodak at Rainbo Fronton tomorrow night. He worked out in the afternoon at Trafton's gymnasium at the same time Rodak went through his routine. The agreed weight is 127 pounds.

Meanwhile, Matchmaker Chuck Logan announced four supporting matches. Johnny and Eddie Halstrom, twin boxers from the north side, who won their professional debuts last week, will appear in encounters at four rounds, Johnny against Georgie White and Eddie against Joey Richards.

Jack Fargo, promising Chicago heavyweight, who knocked out Ernie Easter in his last start, is paired with the veteran Tom Jones for four rounds. Elby Johnson, Dallas, Tex., middleweight, and Tony Bruno of Milwaukee meet in the eight round semi-final. In a previous meeting between the two Johnson won an upset victory.

Pete Lello, 1936 Chicago Golden Gloves lightweight champion, who has compiled a string of nineteen professional triumphs, and Sammy Angott, who deserted Washington, Pa., to make his home in Louisville, Ky., yesterday were signed to clash for eight rounds at Marigold Gardens Monday. Buddy Knox, Dayton, O., fighter, and Art Oliver, former American Olympic Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, appear in an eight round co-feature.

Andy Scrivani, former Golden Gloves titleholder who is undefeated as a money fighter, yesterday started training at C. Y. O. center for a contest at Western stadium next Tuesday. Johnny Barbara, last year's welterweight Golden Gloves finalist, also will compete on the card, which will open the ninth annual season at the open air club on the north side. Matchmaker Sam Abruscato is striving to sign Pat Robertson, New York 128 pounder, to box Lenny Cohen in the ten round main event.

Mike Jacobs, head of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, which will cooperate with Joe Foley in the promotion of the Jim Braddock-Joe Louis title fight at Comiskey park June 22, is expected to arrive tomorrow to confer with Foley.

This move is understood to concern the ordering and printing of admission tickets, prices of which are $3 to $25, plus tax.

Walter St. Denis, New York publicity agent, and Rivington Bisland, Century club ticket chief, were visitors at Bomber Joe's base yesterday.

Clear Milling's Manager of Wrong Doing

Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner George Getz of the Illinois boxing commission have cleared Tommy O'Loughlin, manager of Varias Milling, of any wrong doing in connection with Milling's 10 round bout with Billy Marquart at Marigold Gardens May 3. Milling, who defeated Marquart, appeared before the board Monday and charged that O'Laughlin had instructed him to "be sure and lose to Marquart."

The commission's action followed the receipt of affidavits yesterday signed by O'Loughlin, and George Burns and Harvey Petit, two other managers involved, denying the accusation. The documents were sent by the California athletic body, which has a reciprocal agreement with this state.

The state commissioners then lifted the suspension of Milling, thus paving the way for a contest with Leo Rodak at Rainbo Fronton May 21. However, his $500 purse for the match will be withheld, pending the Filipino fighter's substantiation or retraction of the alleged statement. He has indicated a retraction will be forthcoming.

At the same special session Izzy Gastanaga, Spanish heavyweight, was refused a license to box at White City next Wednesday because of a prior contract with Promoter Billy Cepak, entered into four years ago.

CORUM, NEW YORK COLUMNIST, SHOT DURING QUARREL

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Police said tonight William Corum, 46, sport columnist, told them he was shot in a hotel apartment instead of by a street brawler, and Edward Lawford, 24 year old real estate broker, was being held on a charge of felonious assault and violation of the law against possession of firearms.

Corum first reported he was shot as he passed two men scuffling on Madison avenue at 54th street. Finally, the police report said, Corum, at St. Luke's hospital, said he was shot as the aftermath of a dispute begun at the Stork club.

The report said the shooting occurred in the apartment of Ruth Lamar.

Acting Captain Edward Mullins said Lawford was found at his hotel. A .32 caliber revolver was found in Miss Lamar's apartment.

He said Corum and Miss Lamar were dining at the club when Lawford, brother of Betty Lawford, stage actress, approached. An argument followed, Mullins said, and Corum took Miss Lamar home, Lawford following.

Cunningham Beats Venzke and Beccali

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham staved off a last quarter spurt by Gene Venzke to win the three-quarter mile run tonight, feature event of the first annual twilight games sponsored by the 165th infantry, at Lewisohn stadium. The Kansan's time was 3 minutes 10.2 seconds.

Cunningham, making his first start of the eastern outdoor season, was never pressed until the final lap, when Venzke, who has shadowed him through five indoor seasons, passed Luigi Beccali of Italy and bid for the lead as they rounded the last turn.

Cunningham sprinted briefly to nullify Venzke's spurt and went over the finish line about three yards ahead of the former University of Pennsylvania athlete. Beccali was third, and Joe McCluskey, like Venzke, running for the New York A. C., fourth. Cunningham ran for the New York Curb exchange.

Eulace Peacock of Temple university won the invitational 100 yard dash for the 69th veterans corps trophy with a drive in the last twenty yards that sent him home just ahead of Columbia university's Ben Johnson in 9.9 seconds.

Howard Borck of Manhattan college closed hard in the last 100 yards to beat Edgar Stripling of New York university and John Wolff of the New York A. C. in the 600 yard run for the Father Duffy memorial trophy. Borck's time was 1:15.5.

San Francisco, Cal., May 12.—(AP)—Japan, already assigned the 1940 summer Olympic games, is planning to make a strong bid for the winter sports of the international competition, Count Michimasa Soyeshima said today.

U. S., AUSTRALIA TENNIS TEAMS TO PLAY EXHIBITIONS

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Both the Australian and American Davis cup teams will engage in exhibition matches over the week-end, according to announcements made today by Walter L. Pate, non-playing captain of the Americans, and Clifford Sproule, manager of the Australians.

The American squad will play at the Moorestown [N. J.] Field club Sunday. The Australians are scheduled for the Germantown Cricket club, Philadelphia, on Saturday.

Practice at Forest Hills yesterday found the players of both squads playing at a faster pace than they have thus far in preparation for the North American zone final, which will be played on the courts of the West Side Tennis club stadium, May 29, 30, and 31.

Chief problems confronting the rival captains are the selection of the American No. 2 singles player and the ability of the veteran Jack Crawford to play two singles and a doubles match.

FENCES TO GUARD AUTO RACE FANS AT FAIR GROUNDS

The safety of spectators will be well guarded at the Fair Grounds track at River road and North avenue, where Carl Stockholm will present his first summer program of auto racing Sunday.

A heavy wire mesh fence has been built as the first line of protection and back of it is a row of 8x8 posts, 4 feet high and connected by a heavy wire cable that will prevent any car from hitting the stands or bleachers.

Promoter Stockholm is attempting to make the Fair Grounds the finest dirt track racing plant in the country. Thirty-five tons of calcium chloride already have been applied to the track to make a fine racing surface and eliminate dust.

The first race car to arrive at the Fair Grounds was Ted Horn's blue and silver Miller Special. Several other drivers will arrive in Chicago today and will make trial runs tomorrow afternoon. The track then will be turned over to Supt. Mike Rodak.

More than twenty entries have already been received while the announcement that Rex Mays will be back for more Chicago prize money is attracting rival drivers to the Fair Grounds to cut in on the monopoly Mays established on first place money at Roby last year.

Hecla Mining.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on Hecla Mining.—B. R. G.

Answer: Hecla Mining company is a producer of zinc, silver, and lead, a larger part of revenue being derived from zinc. Principal holdings consist of a concentration mill and 471 acres of mining land at Burke and Gem, Idaho.

Production amounted to 44,925,000 pounds of lead, 1,196,000 ounces of silver, and 1,173,000 pounds of zinc in 1936. The company mined 257,000 tons of ore in 1936.

Ore reserves were estimated at 1,380,000 tons at the end of 1935.

Net income averaged about $1,500,000 a year from 1922 through 1929, but a sharp drop in metal prices brought a decline which resulted in profits almost being eliminated at the low point in 1932. The record of recent years:

| | Ore sales. | *Net income. | *Income per shr. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1936 | $2,087,000 | $925,000 | $0.92 |
| 1935 | 1,632,000 | 714,000 | .71 |
| 1934 | 1,427,000 | 429,000 | .43 |
| 1933 | 1,021,000 | 232,000 | .23 |
| 1932 | 723,000 | 76,000 | .08 |

Dividends have been paid at varying rates for many years, the smallest payments being 10 cents each in 1932 and 1933. Dividends amounted to 40 cents in 1934, 20 cents in 1935, and 60 cents in 1936. The quarterly rate, raised to 20 cents in December, 1936, was boosted again with the declaration of a dividend of 25 cents payable June 15 to stockholders of record May 15.

Florida Power 4s.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give your opinion of the Florida Power corporation 4 per cent bonds due 1966 as an investment for a widow depending on her income.—Mrs. J. V.

Answer: The bonds do not enjoy quite as high a rating as a person in your situation usually demands, although interest charges have been covered consistently by a fair margin. They are considered a business man's investment—reasonably sound, but with some speculative qualities.

Interest and other charges were covered 1.64 times in 1936 and 1.54 times in 1935, compared with a loss of 1.35 times in 1929 and a high of 2.48 times in 1926.

Furnishing electric service to 85 Florida communities from St. Petersburg north to Georgia and along the gulf coast, winter tourist business influences revenues.

STEEL OPERATING RATE STEADY AT 92% OF CAPACITY

New Business Falls Off Moderately.

Steel ingot production this week remains at 92 per cent of capacity, the magazine Iron Age estimated yesterday. New business in steel has continued to fall off moderately, resulting in some reduction of backlogs, the journal said. It was estimated at Pittsburgh that new orders in the last two weeks have been about 70 to 75 per cent of shipments, and a somewhat easier delivery situation exists.

"Strike threats against several leading independent producers have had no effect on new buying," according to Iron Age, "but may account for renewed pressure in some sections for early deliveries."

Third Quarter Outlook Promising.

"Prospects for the third quarter are fairly promising, with indications that the summer letdown may be less than might be expected following the heavy production in the first half of the year.

"Demand for farm machinery, including tractors, has been far ahead of expectations this spring. A manufacturerer of small combines has revised schedules upward several times. Manufacturers of heating equipment and miscellaneous household appliances have also been unusually busy.

"New business included the $40,000,000 expansion program announced by General Motors corporation and a smaller outlay by Chrysler corporation. A paper plant to be built at Houston, Tex., will require 2,350 tons of steel.

Large Awards Made.

"Structural steel lettings amounted to 16,000 tons during the week, and new projects totaling 21,000 tons appeared in the market. Awards for concrete reinforcing bars totaled 16,500 tons, of which 6,000 tons is for department store additions in Chicago."

Steel scrap prices continued to decline, the magazine said, with a sale reported in Chicago at $1.50 a ton below the previous quotation, and a drop of 50 cents occurring at both Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. The Iron Age steel scrap composite price sagged 83 cents to $18.75 per ton, marking the fifth consecutive weekly decline. Since April 6 there have been declines in scrap prices totaling $4 at both Chicago and Pittsburgh, and a loss of $1.50 at Philadelphia where export sales have served as a cushion.

LIGHT RAINFALL SPEEDS PLOWING, CORN PLANTING

U. S. Crop Report Shows Irregular Condition.

Rainfall was light in the grain belt states during the week ending May 11, the department of agriculture said yesterday in its weekly weather and crop report. As a result rapid progress was made in plowing for corn and planting, especially in states which suffered severely from excessive rains late in April.

Most of the corn has been planted in southeastern Kansas, where much is up and cultivation is beginning. Planting is well along in the northeastern part of that state, while in the western area it is just starting. Field work ranges from 25 per cent completed in parts of Missouri to just well begun from eastern Nebraska eastward and southward.

Winter Wheat Progress Good.

Winter wheat during the week made fair to excellent advancement toward maturity almost generally, although deterioration caused by continued drouth in parts of the southwest was in evidence. The plant yellowed from wet soil in parts of the southeastern states. Heading is becoming general in Oklahoma and jointing has extended over much of the southern portion of the belt.

Seeding of spring wheat is completed or nearing completion, according to the report. In areas where soil moisture is sufficient, germination and growth was satisfactory. Oats seeding is practically completed and in spite of the fact that much of the crop was sown late, prospects have improved.

Some Areas Miss Rain.

No precipitation occurred in parts of Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, and the Dakotas last week, while moderate to locally heavy rains fell in the Ohio valley and in parts of eastern and central Kansas and Nebraska and western and central Oklahoma.

There was a deficiency in rainfall compared with normal in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana and the western part of North and South Dakota during the April 1 to May 11 period, according to the report. Precipitation in other grain belt states was above normal.

TAXES, LABOR DEMANDS PINCH BUSINESS HEADS

Recent Profits Far Under Good Years.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

With tax collectors waiting for a larger grab and labor agitators seizing upon reports of business improvement to stir up discontent, corporation executives have suddenly discovered that they are between the frying pan and the fire.

Anxious to placate stockholders who have suffered through lean years of little income or none at all, the corporation head wants to broadcast the fact that earnings have improved during the last year or two to show the owners of the business, large and small, that their faith in his stewardship has been waranted.

Profits and Labor Agitators.

He has discovered during the last few weeks of sitdown strikes and agitation by ambitious labor organizers, however, that in cheering the stockholders with reports of higher earnings he is giving aid and comfort to those whose business it is to stir up discontent.

His situation is made doubly difficult by the fact that even modest per share earnings appear to the casual reader to reflect an abnormal degree of corporate prosperity, when compared with the meager earnings reaped in such lean years as 1933 and 1934. The Illinois Central railroad, for example, recently reported 1936 earnings of about three-quarters of a million dollars. This seemed to be a great advance toward prosperity because of the fact that in the preceding year the road had shown a loss of 10 million dollars. Perusal of the records, however, showed that 1936 earnings were less than one-twenty-second of the profit emjoyed by the Illinois Central just ten years earlier.

Some Figures Misleading.

A tabulation by the National City bank discloses that the profits of the first 270 companies to report earnings for the first quarter of 1937 totaled 352 million dollars, a 53.5 per cent increase over the 230 millions of earnings reported by these same concerns in the first quarter of 1936.

This comparison on its face would seem to betoken great prosperity for corporations and their stockholders. Further study of the material presented in this survey, however, discloses some flies in the ointment.

In the first place, many of these companies are badly in need of higher earnings to compensate for lean years, during which the majority of them operated in the red. During 1934, for example, the average corporate profit for all manufacturing companies was equal to only 1.6 per cent of their combined net worth and 63 per cent of all manufacturing corporations had no profit at all, but operated in the red.

Recent Profits Not So High.

Taking the five year period 1930-1934 as a whole, the figures show that all manufacturing corporations combined had a net loss of $1,383,000,000, as compared with net profits of $16,086,000,000 in the preceding five year period.

The need for replenishing surplus funds and acquiring money to modernize plants and equipment is only part of the story. There are many indications that the present upturn in corporate earnings may not continue at the current rate. With the federal budget still far out of balance heavy increases in taxes are regarded as certain, although possibly not until after the close of the year. Furthermore, rising costs of raw materials and wage increases already granted are expected to eat up most of the potential profits arising from the current increase in sales. The 270 companies covered in the National City bank's survey earned 8.3 per cent less in the first quarter of 1937 than in the last quarter of 1936.

Reports Show Costs Rise.

"Published reports for the first quarter supply further evidence of the continuing increase in the cost of doing business," says the bank's bulletin. "Since the low point of the depression in 1932 the manufacturing industries have had a marked rise each year in their production costs, due to higher prices of raw material, higher hourly wage rates, and higher taxes.

"Their volume of business, however, has also expanded rapidly during these years, so that the resulting lowering of unit costs due to higher rates of operation, increased efficiency, and reduced overhead acted as an offset to these increases in expenses for material, labor, and taxes. It permitted much of the higher costs to be absorbed by industry itself, instead of being passed on to distributors and to the public in the form of higher prices.

"This condition, a race between volume and costs, has been fairly satisfactory to all concerned, and might

Int. Paper Nets $1,746,577 in First Quarter

The International Paper and Power company, the Greyhound corporation, and other companies yesterday reported first quarter earnings that compared favorably with those of the corresponding period of 1936.

International Paper and Power, excluding the International Hydro-Electric system and subsidiaries, for the first quarter of 1937 had a net profit of $1,746,577, equal to 18 cents a share after charges and dividend requirements on the preferred stocks of subsidiaries and on its own 7 per cent and 6 per cent cumulative preferred stocks. In the corresponding period of 1936 there was a net loss of $402,674.

As of March 31, 1937, dividend accruals on the 7 per cent preferred amounted to $38,042,588, or $41.71 a share, and $130,273, or $35.75 per share, on the 6 per cent preferred.

Stockholders elected John H. Hinman a director and reëlected all others. The meeting was adjourned until July 21, with no action on the proposed reduction in the capital account.

Greyhound Nets $312,511.

Greyhound corporation reported its first quarter net income, including equity in net profits of affiliated companies, was $312,511, equal to 11 cents a share, against $182,982, equal to 6 cents a share in the first quarter of 1936. For the twelve months ended March 31, 1937, the company had a net income of $4,378,514, equal to $1.64 a share. The company explained that due to the seasonal nature of its business, earnings for the first quarter of the year usually are materially less than the average for the last three quarters.

Net profit of the Hecla Mining company for the first quarter was $519,585, including income tax credit of $196,535 for the years 1928 to 1931, which was equal to 52 cents a share. In the corresponding period of last year the company had a profit of $176,660 before provision for federal taxes.

Steel Maker Earns More.

Universal-Cyclops Steel corporation reported a first quarter profit of $345,834, equal to 69 cents a share. Figures for the corresponding period of last year were not available, but in the preceding quarter net profit was $271,244, equal to 54 cents a share.

Atlantic Gulf and West Indies Steamship Lines and subsidiaries reported first quarter net income of $414,242, or equal to $1.93, after charges, but before surtax on undistributed profits, against a net profit of $379,209, equal to $1.69 a share, in the corresponding 1936 period.

Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company had a first quarter net income of $2,717,604, equal to $3.30 a share on the capital stock, against a net income of $1,392,008, or $1.69 a share, in the corresponding 1936 period.

Holly Sugar Reports for Year.

Holly Sugar corporation's net profit for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1937, was $2,881,670, equal to $5.42 a share, according to the annual report of Wiley Blair, president. Net profit for the preceding fiscal year was $2,684,519, equal to $5.02 a share.

Blair said that the 5 for 1 stock split-up, effected in 1935, had raised a legal question as to whether this limits dividend payments on the common stock in any calendar year to $2 for each present share, or $10 per share as originally provided in the articles of incorporation, while any preferred stock remains outstanding. He pointed out that $2 per share was paid on the common on Feb. 1, 1937, and that any additional dividend during the calendar year 1937 would raise the legal question referred to.

Abitibi Power and Paper company, Ltd., earned $935,084 before depreciation and bond interest in the first quarter of 1937, compared with $181,-

TAX COLLECTORS TOLD COURTESY PAYS; AND SO DO THE TAXPAYERS

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Chief internal revenue agents from all districts of the country were told by Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. today to extend every possible courtesy to federal taxpayers, but warned that the government, in order to balance the budget, must collect all income due.

The thirty-seven chief revenue agents met with treasury and internal revenue officials for a four day session to discuss means of stimulating government revenue and ironing out inequities in the tax administration system.

Morgenthau, opening the series of meetings, asserted that the field men occupied an important place in government finance and in the effort to balance the federal budget.

"Show every courtesy to the taxpayer," Morgenthau said. "However, the government must have every cent that is owed to it. All will testify that since this administration has been in office there has been no pressure brought to bear on internal revenue agents to favor any one."

House Committee Votes for New Insurance Code

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—By a vote of 28 to 3, the Illinois insurance code bill was reported favorably in the house insurance committee late today and sent to the floor of the house. The bill revises all of the insurance laws of the state. It has been passed by the senate.

QUARTER PROFIT OF INTL. NICKEL BEST ON RECORD

COPPER CLIFF, Ont., May 12.—[Special.]—International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., world's largest nickel producer, reported today that its profit for the first quarter of this year was $11,714,956, equal to 77 cents a share, against a profit of $8,386,787, or 54 cents a share in the first quarter of last year. Profit for the first quarter of this year was the largest for any quarter in the company's history, comparing with the previous record of $9,836,446, equal to 64 cents a share, in the last quarter of 1936.

As of March 31, 1936, the consolidated balance sheet showed current assets of $77,743,235, including $42,726,199 cash. Current liabilities stood at $17,379,944.

Robert C. Stanley, chairman and president, in a letter to stockholders, announced the development of a new nickel-copper alloy which is designated as "K." He said the alloy, in in addition to high noncorrodibility, has the great strength and other physical properties associated with steel alloy. "K" is nonmagnetic, he said, and, like steel, can be hardened or softened by heat treatment.

BRITISH MARKETS TO REOPEN TODAY

Markets and exchanges throughout Great Britain and its dominions were closed yesterday for the coronation of King George VI. These included the Liverpool and Winnipeg grain exchanges. Trading is to be resumed today.

"Maybe it's just the financing you need"

"THAT purchase of Commercial Credit Company short term securities for our portfolio was a good idea. It's a sound set-up they have, isn't it?"

"It certainly is. I'm particularly interested in their open accounts receivable financing. A manufacturer I know has been using it for some time."

"Is that so? What made him try it?"

"He didn't have enough capital . . . had to find new financing to keep up with his orders. He was just about to take in a partner. It would have cost him a third interest, and he wanted to avoid that."

"That sounds familiar. I know several cases where those same conditions have arisen in the past year. What did your friend do?"

"He investigated Commercial Credit Company financing. They showed him how he could handle 25% more business, save discounts on purchases, and buy his raw materials at low cash prices. He is making a clean-up this year."

"I used to have the idea that there was something risky in that sort of financing. But that report on Commercial Credit Company's policies, methods, management and clients was an eye-opener. That's just the kind of financial service business needs in these days."

"No doubt about it. Some of our wholesalers could use it to advantage. I think I'll have our credit department give them a hint to that effect."

COMMERCIAL CREDIT COMPANY discounted nearly $800,000,000 of open accounts and notes receivable in 1936. A large part of the funds employed came from great corporations, insurance companies and investors with surplus to invest in its capital and long or short term securities. Their investigation satisfied them that Commercial Credit's Receivable financing is soundly conceived, and the Company is capably managed. Manufacturers and wholesalers, desirous of improving their cash position and credit rating, should investigate. All correspondence or consultations are confidential. Write today.

STOCKS CLIMB, THEN REACT IN DULL SESSION

Rail Group Firmest; Steels Easier.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 12.—After making moderate price gains in early trading the stock market drifted back to nearly steady levels in the closing hour. Rails were the firmest group, but could not maintain their recent steady improvement. A majority of industrial and utility issues closed at slight losses. Of the 759 issues traded, 363 declined, 218 advanced, and 178 were unchanged.

The closing of British markets in celebration of the coronation, together with the lack of any definite domestic business news of market importance, combined to make the session one of the slowest of the year. Turnover fell to 673,976 shares.

Market Opinion Divided.

Opinion in Wall street was still divided on the subject of nearby trend, with some observers offering the viewpoint that the market may require further readjustment before being able to work forward. Brokers reported that few traders were willing to place commitments pending some decisive evidence of change in sentiment. It is this factor of caution and hesitancy that is interpreted by market analysts as a favorable sign, in so far as there has been no attempt to unload any stock in large volume.

Carrier shares were active in the early part of the session, but after making small gains gave these up and for the most part closed at unchanged levels. Atchison, Great Northern, and New York Central were active, but closed at small declines.

Steels Mostly Lower.

Among the steels, Bethlehem, Republic, and U. S. Steel were in fairly active demand, but price changes were mostly fractionally lower. In the motor group Chrysler rose more than 2 points, but receded to close a half point net higher.

A mixed tendency prevailed in the oils, with losses and gains about evenly divided. Standard of New Jersey was on the up side, while Texas corporation declined. A bright spot in the list were chemical shares with Allied jumping 1¼, although on only 200 shares. Du Pont gained a half point.

Utilities had a fair share of followers in early trading, with American Telephone recovering from its recent softness to close almost a point higher. However, the majority of the issues in this division turned soft, with the group's average making a new low for the year.

Many New Low Marks Set.

New lows were common throughout the list. Western Union slumped almost 2 points to a new 1937 mark. So did Woolworth in the mercantile group. Corn Products, which has declined steadily recently, went into new low territory. Penick & Ford was another issue in new territory on the down side.

The market's action since early March was illustrated by a transaction in Goodyear second preferred. The issue has not crossed the tape since March 15. Today, when it finally did appear, it sold at a net loss of 27¾ points for the period.

Arrangements were made yesterday for the sale of a membership at $96,000, the lowest since Dec. 1, 1936, and a decline of $4,000 from the previous sale.

The high this year was $134,000 on Jan. 8. The sale on Dec. 1, 1936, was at $89,000, the low for that year.

Crowley Warns of Too Many Banks; Will Force Mergers

Leo T. Crowley.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Warning that certain banks are periling their position by speculation in second grade bonds, Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, disclosed today that the FDIC is attempting to correct this situation by asking each state to survey its banking situation with a view to reducing the number of banks in communities where there are too many.

Crowley linked the speculation in second grade bonds with the existence of too many banks in some communities, indicating that when some bankers found profits from bank operation meager they turned to speculation in second grade bonds to try to improve earnings. The only sound course, he said, is to pay bank dividends out of earnings and not try to do so from profits on speculation.

May Force Mergers.

The FDIC head said where it is found there are too many banks the federal agency will endeavor to force consolidation and will even offer to buy the less desirable assets of the merged banks so as to give a new consolidated institution a fresh start.

"The FDIC eventually will have to pay the freight in cases where bankers are tempted to go into speculative loans and investments and there is some question of how long we should sit back and let a bank operate at a deficit," Crowley said.

"I note with alarm that many banks in their search for earnings have turned during the last two years to a practice which I consider anything but legitimate and which is potentially a monkey wrench held over the smooth running machine of banking recovery. I refer to speculation in low grade bonds.

Temptation Too Strong.

"The temptation proved too strong for several of those who watched the constantly rising bond market during 1935 and 1936. To these men the skyrocketing market seemed the golden opportunity to replenish their depleted surpluses and to put their banks again on a dividend paying basis."

Crowley said that if a demand for bank credit increases substantially from commerce and industry, bond prices may be expected to decline and bankers who have been in and out of the market may lose.

It is possible, he added, that some of these bankers may be able to sell at the peak and to stop gambling, but experience leads to the belief that such men are few and that when a slump in the bond market does come these bankers will be lucky to save their original stakes.

F. J. LISMAN FILES IN BANKRUPTCY; 'OWES' 4 MILLION

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Frederick J. Lisman, investment banker and expert on railroad affairs, filed a plea in bankruptcy today in federal court. He reported liabilities of about $4,000,000, virtually all contingent on an unfinished lawsuit, and assets of undetermined value, also of a contingent nature.

The chief item of liability is $3,639,058, which is the amount sought in a Supreme court suit brought by trustees in reorganization for the Bush Terminal company, of which Lisman was a director until March, 1933. The action, also naming other directors, sought recovery of dividends allegedly paid out of capital.

A director in several corporations, Lisman named various sources from which he might receive fees that would be assets. These were several railway bondholders' protective committees on which he is serving as a member. He also indicated as assets the equities he holds in pledged collateral.

FOREIGN CORN FLOOD SETS NEW CHICAGO MARK

24 Day Imports Top All of 1936.

Receipts of foreign grown corn in Chicago this year by lake already have established an all time record, although the first boatload of imported grain did not reach here until April 20. Only one day has passed since then, however, in which some grain was not brought into Chicago.

Normally, corn gleaned from the fertile middle west flows into the Chicago market, the world's corn capital, and from here is distributed by rail and lake boats to consumers in many sections of the globe.

But thus far in 1937 a total of 1,248,000 bushels of Argentine and South African corn has arrived, Lyman C. West, Chicago Board of Trade statistician, reported yesterday.

Total Ahead of All 1936.

Foreign corn receipts amounted to 767,000 bushels during the entire 1936 lake navigation season and aggregated 970,000 bushels during the 1935 season.

The heavy corn imports, a result of government crop restrictions and two serious drouths in the last three years, are considered a major factor in depressing the price of corn for May delivery. The price has tumbled 10 cents a bushel since reaching a peak last week of $1.35½ a bushel, top price here in a dozen years. May corn eased about 1 cent a bushel yesterday.

Aggregate receipts of all grains here by lake, including those other than corn, stand at 2,951,000 bushels so far this year. Shipments of grain from Chicago, largely wheat on its way to Buffalo mills, have totaled only 1,018,000 bushels during the same period.

Shipments Top Receipts.

During the 1936 navigation season, Chicago shipped 19,424,000 bushels of all grains and received 10,685,000 bushels, the latter including 7,390,000 bushels of foreign grain. Lake shipments amounted to 6,823,000 bushels in 1935 and receipts were 13,534,000 bushels, including 4,648,000 bushels of foreign grown.

Receipts yesterday included 215,000 bushels of rye from Duluth. A cargo of 162,000 bushels of Argentine corn which arrived Tuesday from Montreal sent receipts of that grain this year well over the 1,000,000 bushel mark.

A FIFTEEN BILLION DOLLAR Factory

In the seven middle western states immediately surrounding Chicago, the value of manufactured products exceeds $15,600,000,000 annually, more than a third of the value of those produced in the entire nation.

Banking connections in Chicago, the business and financial center of the middle west, are valuable. This bank is equipped to give every service of a metropolitan banking institution and to render these services in a manner adapted to your individual needs. You are invited to consider its enlarging resources and long experience.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 12. — Treasury bonds continued to ease today, with declines running up to 11-32 point. Although more than $1,300,000 par value of government liens were traded, a number of treasuries failed to open.

Domestic corporate loans were irregular and tended slightly lower. The list ignored the warning issued by Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, against bank speculations in bonds.

Gains of more than a point were scored by a few convertibles, including Great Northern G 4s and Republic Steel 4½s. New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5s and 5½s were weak.

An unusually strong demand for Uruguayan bonds featured an otherwise quiet market for foreign issues.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were mostly steady to lower yesterday in dull trading. Of 100 issues traded, 38 declined, 27 advanced, and 35 held unchanged. Borg-Warner common was the only issue to reach a new 1937 high, touching 43¾ and later selling down to close at 42½, a net gain of ¾.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were quoted mostly lower yesterday. In a few issues prices varied sharply as quoted by different dealers. Harris Trust and Savings bank stock and Northern Trust stock were quoted unchanged to as much as $15 lower. Mercantile Trust and Savings bank stock was unchanged to $5 lower. First National and Continental Illinois lost $1 to $2.

COTTON

Speculative interest in cotton futures yesterday was restricted due in part to the coronation holiday in Liverpool. Despite the lack of incentive from abroad the market showed a relatively firm undertone. Closing trades in Chicago were at net gains of .04 to .06 cent, and other American markets gained .03 to .07 cent a pound.

Domestic consumption of American cotton in April as estimated by the New York Cotton exchange service aggregated 715,000 bales, compared with 779,000 bales in March, and 577,000 bales in April, 1936.

Weather conditions in the south were generally favorable for field work, with higher temperatures prevailing over the western part of the belt. Spot cotton closed .05 cent higher with New Orleans, 13.10 cents; New York, 13.30 cents and Houston and Galveston at 13 cents per pound. Prices follow:

LARD

General short covering developed in lard futures yesterday as the result of strength in cotton and buying induced by a bureau of agricultural economics report showing a reduction of 7,800,000 pounds in cold storage stocks in the United States during the month of April.

A cash house was a buyer of July early, presumably removing hedges against shipping sales. Closing trades were at net gains of 20 to 37½ cents, the latter on May. Deliveries of 50,000 pounds of lard were made on May contracts.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed unchanged. Cash lard was quoted at $11.55; loose, $11; leaf, $10.87½ and clear bellies at $15.50 per 100 pounds. Prices follow:

Commodities

A display of strength in cottonseed oil and mild recovery of cocoa from the severe liquidation Tuesday featured North American commodity markets yesterday. British empire markets were closed for the coronation.

Cottonseed oil climbed 0.13 to 0.21 cent a pound on government reports that April consumption was 212,422 barrels of 400 pounds each, compared with 211,519 barrels in March and 203,820 barrels in April, 1936. Strength in lard also aided sentiment of cottonseed oil traders.

Gains in cocoa were fractional, ranging between 0.07 and 0.10 cent a pound. Switching from July to September contracts was active.

Hides declined 0.10 to 0.17 cent a pound. Copper futures were irregular. Only nominal prices were quoted for lead, zinc and tin futures as trading remained at a standstill. The nominal quotations were unchanged to moderately lower.

Domestic prices for lead, copper, zinc, and tin were unchanged and trading was very quiet.

Sugar contracts were moderately higher. Wool tops were lower.

*Since trading in the contract started.

All prices are for July delivery except barley, which is for May; butter for November; eggs for October, and hides for June.

Grain.

Grain prices moved irregularly here yesterday and speculative interest dwindled as the result of the coronation holiday in Winnipeg and Liverpool. Light liquidation developed in May wheat, corn, and oats. Closing wheat prices were ⅛ cent lower to ⅝ cent higher; corn futures declined ¼ to 1⅝ cents, oats lost a small fraction of a cent a bushel, and rye rose ¼ to 1 cent. Buying developed in rye on reports that 500,000 bushels of the grain delivered on May contracts had been sold to Portugal.

July and September wheat developed modest strength on reports of severe duststorms in North Dakota west of the Red river valley. Soil drifting also was reported in southern Saskatchewan. High temperatures prevailed in parts of Oklahoma and Texas, but the central and eastern part of the former state received showers.

The southwestern winter wheat crop has deteriorated, a poll at the annual Kansas Grain Dealers' association meeting at Wichita, Kas., disclosed yesterday. The average estimate of Kansas production was 150,000,000 bushels, or 13,000,000 bushels less than the government May 1 prediction. The Oklahoma crop was placed at 46,000,000 bushels, or 5,000,000 under the recent official report.

Selling of December corn yesterday was based on better weather conditions in the main producing states.

Condition of wheat in Canada on April 30, according to the Canadian bureau of statistics, was 94 per cent of normal, compared with 90 per cent last year. About 8 per cent of the 702,000 acres seeded last fall was abandoned, leaving 676,000 acres remaining for harvest, or 137,000 acres in excess of 1936.

Live Stock.

All live stock prices were higher yesterday. Supplies were smallest for Wednesday in eight months, the total of cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep, 22,500 head, showing a decrease of 23 per cent from a week ago and 18 per cent compared with the abnormally light receipts on the corresponding Wednesday last year.

Tuesday's weakness in hogs, coupled with the fact that farmers are busy in the fields, cut the hog run to 11,000 and prices rallied, both the top and average showing 5 cents upturn at $10.60 and $10.30, respectively. Top sales were equal to the highest since the middle of January and only 20 cents under the eight months' peak.

A rise of 25 cents in fat lambs brought top wooled stock to $12.75, highest in twelve days and 75 cents above the low spot of last week. Freshly shorn stock sold up to $10.65, and lambs clipped about 60 days ago sold at $11.25.

Sharp price enhancement occurred in practically all weights of steers and yearlings. The cheaper grades that escaped most of the recent declines rose 10 to 25 cents, while medium grades and some good to choice kinds were 25 to 50 cents higher. Top steers brought $14.50, the bulk selling at $9.75 to $13.00.

Cows were slow, but strong in spots. Hefers ruled strong to 25 cents higher. Bulls, calves, canners, cutters, stockers and feeders were firm.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Firmed up today on covering and commission house buying aided by strength in lard and talk of a reduction in lard stocks through increasing exports.

Final prices were 13 to 22 points net higher with sales of 267 tons. The April consumption report showing a disappearance of 212,422 barrels was without apparent influence. Bleachable spot nominal. Range of futures in cents per pound:

Cocoa.

NEW YORK, May 12.—[Special.]—There was a letup in the liquidation in cocoa futures today with fair support from manufacturing and trade interests. Closing trades were at net gains of 7 to 10 points. Sales, 681 contracts, or 9,465 tons. Range of prices [cents per pound]:

TINY CROSS KEY POINT IN DU PONT TAX LITIGATION

Charge It Marked Stocks for Repurchase.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—A tiny cross mark in red ink found on seven card index records in Pierre S. du Pont's tin box ledger of securities owned in 1929 became a key point today in the income tax against du Pont and John J. Raskob.

Placing the 1929 and the 1930 ledgers of the Wilmington, Del., industrialist into evidence, government counsel contended the marks — resembling the cross used in the game of tick tack toe — was du Pont's method of "ear marking" the stocks he purchased from Raskob in back and forth sales after the 1929 panic, following which the millionaires established deductible losses on their 1929 income tax returns.

Denied Federal Contention.

Ralph T. Ellis, office assistant for du Pont in Wilmington, testified he was "positive" the markings were not placed on the card index records at the time the securities were purchased from Raskob. Instead he believed the marks were not placed on the cards until 1935, after the government instituted its action to collect $617,316 from du Pont and $1,026,340 from Raskob in alleged deficiency in their 1929 tax.

The government contends the sales back and forth were fictitious and were accompanied by a repurchasing understanding, and that the stocks sold back and forth were "ear marked' 'so each would get his original blocks of securities back.

Ledgers Introduced.

In support of this contention, Mason B. Leming, government counsel, introduced the ledgers into evidence during his examination of Ellis, who has been on the witness stand almost four full days. James S. Y. Ivins, chief counsel for du Pont—whose case is being heard separately from Raskob's, and is up first—entered no objection, saying:

"If it will facilitate Mr. Leming's 'fishing expedition' I have no objection."

Seven cards in the 1929 section of the ledger, marked with the red inked sign, showed the securities purchased by du Pont from Raskob in the cross sale of Nov. 13, 1929, which were sold back Jan. 6, 1930. The stocks bought by du Pont from Raskob in the cross sale of Dec. 26, sold back Jan. 27, were not marked with the sign.

List of "Earmarked" Shares.

The tick-tack-toe sign appeared on cards showing the following entries of stocks bought Nov. 13 by du Pont: 100,000 Warner Brothers at 31, $3,100,000; 30,000 Simms Petroleum at 17, $510,000; 8,000 Checker Cab at 31, $248,000; 14,000 American International at 32, $448,000; 2,000 National Cash Register at 60, $120,000; 500 Otis Elevator at 200, $100,000; 1,000 Bank of United States at 80, $80,000. Only the cards in the ledger relating to the cross-sales were made public in the evidence.

In the latter part of 1929 and in January, 1930, the two financiers sold each other stock and securities having an aggregate value of over $29,000,000. The transfers established stock losses of more than $7,000,000.

COUNTY BOARD SEEKS POWER TO INVEST FUNDS

The county board yesterday authorized its legislative committee to draft a bill giving the county treasurer power to invest funds under his control in income bearing securities, preferably federal or local government bonds or tax warants.

Under a new federal law effective Aug. 1 banks will be prohibited from paying interest on municipal deposits. The loop banks, where county funds are kept, are paying only one-eighth of 1 per cent on the 25 million dollar county deposits.

It was pointed out as a possibility that under the new provision the county might invest its money in county tax warants, thus saving the payment of interest on the warants.

The Living Trust.

A living trust is like that created by will except that it becomes effective from the date of its creation instead of after the maker's death. Its operation is governed by agreement between the maker and trustee.

The maker, known as the settlor, may himself be the beneficiary. Or the trust may be solely for the benefit of others. It may terminate at the settlor's death, or continue, depending on its provisions.

Advantages of living trusts over wills are: The property in trust does not go through probate at the settlor's death, thereby avoiding delay, publicity, and expense. If the property is under the care of an experienced trustee, either corporate or individual, it will be carefully invested, diversified, and conserved.

If the trust has been created for a beneficiary savings in taxes can frequently be effected by taking advantage of gift taxes instead of estate or inheritance taxes. Reduction in taxes is also possible in other ways. The saving in probate costs frequently exceeds the expense of the trust.

In the case of the corporate trustee the service includes safekeeping of securities, collection and remittance of income, and accounting.

C. & O. 'Hid' $700,000 Loan from RFC, Senator Alleges

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, a Van Sweringen system subsidiary, obtained $700,000 of "relief money" from the government by "covering up, if not by deception," Senator Truman [D., Mo.] alleged today at a senate committee hearing on railroad financing.

Senator Truman.

"Somebody pulled a fraud on the government," he declared. "The C. & O. got relief when it didn't need it. If the thing had been on top of the table the government would not have made the loan."

Truman, acting chairman of the committee in the absence of Senator Wheeler [D., Mont.], referred to a 1932 loan obtained from the Reconstruction Finance corporation by the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway, the proceeds of which were to discharge a $700,000 obligation.

"Dummy" Transaction Alleged.

Senate investigators said that earlier testimony showed the Chesapeake and Ohio had advanced $700,000 to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois in a "dummy" transaction through the Midland Bank of Cleveland. Both roads are subsidiaries of Alleghany corporation, top holding company of the late Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland.

The original loan was negotiated by C. & E. I. officials with the Midland bank, but the note was purchased by the C. & O., which in turn sold it to the Virigina Transportation company a subsidiary of the C. & O.

The committee introduced into the record a letter from the RFC written in October, 1935, inviting the department of justice to take criminal action against the C. & E. I. The RFC contended it had lent a total of $5,915,500 to the C. & E. I. without knowing the C. & O. had lent it $700,000. The RFC letter called attention to a section of the RFC act making it a criminal offense to make false statements in applying for loans.

Statute Prevented Action.

The department of justice replied that, while the matter seemed to involve making false statements, the statute of limitations precluded action.

Truman told the committee he understood the C. & E. I. now is applying to the RFC for money.

"Yesterday's testimony showed the C. & O. obtained control of the C. & E. I. by deception," he said. "Today shows the C. & O. obtained $700,000 of relief money at least by covering up if not by deception. I think the whole thing is the result of too many corporations, too many holding companies contrary to the public interest."

Charles T. O'Neal and Jonathan P. Reeves, president and secretary of the C. & E. I., testified they had believed the $700,000 received by their road actually was advanced by the Midland bank. O'Neal said he did not learn otherwise until about 1935.

EASTMAN KODAK STOCK PLACED ON $8 ANNUAL BASIS

Penick & Ford Votes to Cut Payment.

Common stock of the Eastman Kodak company was placed on an $8 annual basis yesterday when the directors declared a dividend of $2 a share, payable July 2 to stock of record June 5. The stock previously had been on a $6 annual basis.

Penick & Ford, Ltd., which manufactures products derived from corn, reduced its quarterly dividend from 75 cents a share to 25 cents a share. Officials explained that the company will show an operating loss in the June quarter for the first time in fifteen years as a result of the failure of its selling prices to keep pace with higher corn prices and competitive selling.

Lincoln Printing Pays 35 Cents.

Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, a subsidiary of the New York Central, declared a dividend of $2 a share. On Feb. 1 the company paid a dividend of $2.25 and an extra of $1, and on Dec. 28 it paid $1.50 a share.

Dividend payments were resumed by Lane Bryant, Inc., with the declaration of 50 cents a share. This was the first payment since 1932 when 25 cents a share was paid.

Chicago Rivet Pays 30 Cents.

Chicago Rivet and Machine company declared a dividend of 30 cents a share on the new capital stock. Before the two for one stock split-up last year, the company paid 50 cents a share in the first three quarters of 1936 and $1 a share in the last quarter.

United States Gypsum company declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common and the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred.

MISSION CORP. STOCK FIGHT BALLOT TODAY

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—The J. Paul Getty contest with the management of the Tide Water Associated Oil company over the conduct of the Mission corporation will go to a vote tomorrow when stockholders of Mission hold their annual meeting at Reno., Nev., to decide on the distribution of 874,590 shares of Tide Water now owned by the company. The Getty controled Pacific Western Oil corporation, which owns approximately 45 per cent of Mission stock, and other interests are opposed to the distribution.

"The breaking up of this block, as recommended by six of the retiring Mission directors, would eliminate your corporation as a factor in the management of Tide Water Associated," this faction said in a letter to stockholders. "Such action is altogether against its best interests."

E. L. Shea, president of both Mission and Tide Water, has given several reasons for support of distribution of the stock. Among them are the federal intercorporate tax on dividends, the trend of legislation against holding companies, and the fact that Mission stock had been selling below its net asset value.

MAY 1 SUPPLIES OF MEATS FALL TO YEAR'S LOW

But Total Exceeds Normal for This Season.

The out of storage movement of meats was heavy last month, the department of agriculture report as of May 1 disclosed yesterday. The supply of all meats on that date, 971,965,000 pounds, excluding lard, was smallest of the year. This was the first time this year that stored meat fell below a billion pounds this year. The total was 1,022,539,000 pounds on April 1 and 1,079,166,000 pounds on March 1.

Another slight accumulation of pork was more than counterbalanced by heavy selling of stored beef and lamb. Beef stocks dropped to 111,294,000 pounds, the smallest holdings since November, and a decline of 31,397,000 pounds from the April 1 stocks and 82,466,000 pounds from Jan. 1.

Loss in Frozen Beef.

Practically all of the decline of the last month was in frozen beef. On May 1 frozen beef totaled 85,416,000 pounds, and on April 1 the total was 111,751,000 pounds. Packers reduced their lamb and mutton stocks to 4,578,000 pounds, the smallest since October. On April 1 the supply was 7,174,000 pounds. There has been a steady movement of lamb and mutton out of the freezers since Feb. 1, when there were 10,491,000 pounds on hand. Miscellaneous meats, such as frozen and cured trimmings and edible offal aggregated 99,738,000 pounds, compared with 116,897,000 pounds April 1 and a high for the year of 132,275,000 pounds Feb. 1.

Pork on hand totaled 756,355,000 pounds, against 755,777,000 April 1 and 775,688,000 March 1, when holdings were largest of the year.

First Dip in Lard.

The report showed the first decrease of the year in lard holdings, which had been increasing rapidly since late last year. On May 1 supplies were 210,537,000 pounds, compared with 217,227,000 pounds April 1. However, lard stocks still are far above normal, the May 1 holdings being the largest on record for that date. A year ago 83,615,000 pounds were in store, and the five year average was 109,368,000.

Aggregate meat stocks also were above normal for this season, despite the inroads made in recent weeks. The May 1 total of 971,695,000 pounds, compared with 584,897,000 a year earlier, the lowest May 1 holdings on record, and with a five year average of 732,305,000.

Following are comparative figures on stocks of meats and lard, last three ciphers omitted:

BUSINESS CHIEFS CAUGHT BETWEEN TAXES AND LABOR

"In some lines of business, however, operations have now approximated practical capacity, and the rate of increase in volume has necessarily slowed down. When this stage is reached higher costs for materials, labor, and taxes [including the new pay roll taxes] cannot be adequately offset by lower unit costs, due to greater volume, and if the manufacturers are unwilling or unable to pass the higher costs on to the public in the form of higher prices, then the increases must come out of the manufacturers' net profits.

Failure of corporation executives to explain these bearish factors in their current earnings reports has already stirred up much critical comment from observers who believe that the industrialists' greatest handicap in dealing with political demagoguery is a lack of feeling for what press agents refer to as "public relations."

Need to Learn Politics.

"Reluctantly, we are coming to the conclusion that business leaders need to learn political methods," says Nation's Business, organ of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in its April issue. "They either think they know or eschew all thought of the public's reactions to their policies.

"For one thing, they aren't trained in the field of public relations. They are specialists in producing, financing, and distributing things to the people. They are past masters in the art of presenting their products, but oh, so clumsy in presenting their practices."

Here's a New Edition . . .

"The Financial Section of a Newspaper" was first issued six years ago. It has been a demand-booklet ever since. It went through five editions. It has now been re-edited, brought up to the minute, and issued in larger-than-ever form.

The financial section dominates anything from one-fifth to one-third of the New York Herald Tribune. The labor of forty persons is directly involved in it. To understand all the news in it you don't have to be an economist. You do have to have some knowledge of corporate finance, stock market technique, and of banking.

This booklet is edited by the financial editor of the paper who says it is not "a substitute for a general education in finance." Its job is to make the reader know the purpose of the daily and weekly financial features.

If you want to feel at home in every part of the financial section of your paper . . . if you want it to be simple English and not Greek to you, the coupon and 25 cents in stamps that go with it will be well worth it.

POWER OUTPUT DECLINES; LOSS ABOVE NORMAL

Production of electricity in the United States during the week ended May 8 totaled 2,176,383,000 kilowatt hours, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. This represents a decline of .8 per cent from the preceding week when output totaled 2,193,779,000 kilowatt hours, but a gain of 12.8 per cent over the corresponding week in 1936, when 1,928,803,000 kilowatt hours of electricity was generated. The decline was contraseasonal.

Electricity produced by the four companies serving the Chicago district last week totaled 123,814,000 kilowatt hours, a decline of 2.1 per cent from the preceding week, but a gain of 14 per cent over the corresponding week a year ago.

CERRO DE PASCO OUTPUT IS SOLD UP TO MIDYEAR

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Output of the Cerro de Pasco Copper corporation has been sold up to midyear and first quarter earnings were satisfactory, stockholders were advised by Edward H. Clark, president, at today's annual meeting.

The new power dam in the Peruvian Andes, on which Cerro de Pasco has spent several million dollars, is completed and the extra power will be used in producing lead and zinc. Output of lead should be on a fifty ton a day basis soon and eventually should reach 100 tons daily, Clark said.

BUTTER, EGGS, POTATOES

Short covering developed in egg futures yesterday on the Mercantile exchange, largely representing evening up by operators for the department of agriculture report on cold storage supplies due to be issued later in the day. Closing trades were unchanged to ¼c higher with October at 23⅝c a dozen. Prices in the spot market declined ⅜c to ½c. Sales were 52 cars.

Eggs are going into cold storage at a rate of 26 per cent in excess of last year, according to a report by the bureau of agricultural economics. The heavier storage movement, said the report, began under the stimulus of a stronger storage demand and continues because of the relatively low consumption. While slight reductions in farm egg prices may occur this spring, the larger storage stock will tend to keep egg prices in the last half of 1937 from advancing as much as the seasonal average the bureau predicted.

Butter futures closed ⅛c higher, with November at 29⅞c a pound. Sales were 31 cars. Cash butter declined ½@¾c a pound. There were no sales of potatoes. Range of prices on futures follow:

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Bees Are Busy.

BEES are finding an abundance of nectar to gather since the big crop of blossoms began opening on the shrubs, fruit trees, and in the flower borders at the Tribune's Wheaton experimental farm. Last week the bees began making trips several hundred yards away from the hives in search of newly opened blossoms.

Two strains of Italian bees are represented in the farm's small apiary—one is of lether brown color and the other is of a light shade. The lether colored workers appear to be backward about starting to gather nectar, although all the bees came through the winter in a strong, healthy condition. For several days the other bees have been busy.

Last Friday the light colored bees were working hard. The entrance to the hive was alive with the bees. Few of the lether colored bees were outside.

Tree Spraying Delayed.

Men in charge of the orchards at the farm will avoid spraying the fruit trees while they are in full bloom to protect the bees. It has been found that if spraying materials are put on apple, cherry, and pear trees when they are in full bloom there is danger of poisoning the bees. Experts declare it is a waste of material to spray trees in full bloom, so Wheaton farm workers will wait until after the petals have fallen to apply the poisons used in protecting the tree fruits from worms.

The bees are depended upon at the farm to aid the wild insects in fertilizing the fruit trees, vegetables, ornamental flowers, and clovers. They also produce a crop of valuable honey.

In the farm's combination vineyard and berry plantation, started last year, cuttings and plants of twelve different varieties of grapes are to be set out soon. The cuttings were sent to the farm from the experimental vineyard of the Missouri state fruit experiment station of Mountain Grove, Mo., by Paul H. Shepard, director.

Several Varieties to Be Tested.

The farm is coöperating with Mr. Shepard in testing these grapes in northern Illinois, several hundred miles north of where the cuttings were produced. The shipment contained two one year old plants of the Dutchess variety, another year old plant of an unnamed variety, so new that it still is designated by number 42-17.

In the assortment there are 14 to 18 cuttings each of varieties known as Herbert, Niagara, Catawba, Sheridan, Lindley, Diamond, Barry, Merimac, Eaton, and Agawam.

Young trees with roots near the surface fared badly on the farm last winter. Since the leaves have begun to come out many wild plums, sumac, and trees of the poplar family have been found dead. Heaving in clumps of young trees occurred, just as it did in alfalfa, clover, wheat and rye. Several trees were completely uprooted, while others were killed and left leaning with the branches touching the ground.

LEGAL NOTICES.

— —COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY— —
DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS
BRIDGE REVENUE BONDS-PROJECT NUMBER TWELVE.
NOTICE OF SALE.

The Commissioner of Highways of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, at his office in Frankfort, Kentucky, on the 2nd day of June, 1937, at eleven o'clock A. M., Central Standard Time, will receive and publicly open sealed competitive bids for the purchase of Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds, Project Number Twelve, in the principal amount of Two Million One Hundred Thousand [$2,100,000.00] Dollars, to be issued and sold, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 172 Acts 1928 and Chapter 157 Acts 1930 General Assembly of Kentucky, by the Department of Highways, an agency of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, to provide funds with which to acquire by purchase the Covington-Cincinnati Bridge, crossing the Ohio River between Covington, Kentucky and Cincinnati, Ohio, from The Covington and Cincinnati Elevated Railroad and Transfer and Bridge Company.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds Project No. 12 will all be dated June 1, 1937, and issued in denominations of $1,000.00 each, and numbered consecutively from one upward, and all of said bonds will mature on July 1, 1947. All of said Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds Project No. 12 will be redeemable on any interest payment date on thirty days' notice at par, and a premium of two and one-half per cent of the principal amount thereof if redeemed on or prior to July 1, 1940, and a premium of two per cent of the principal amount thereof if redeemed thereafter and on or prior to July 1, 1941, and a premium of one per cent if redeemed thereafter and on or prior to July 1, 1942, and a premium of one-half of one per cent if redeemed thereafter and on or prior to July 1, 1944, and without premium if redeemed thereafter and before maturity. Both principal and interest on the Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds Project No. 12 will be paid in lawful money of the United States at the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, 165 Broadway, New York City, New York. The bonds will be subject to registration in the name of the holders as to principal alone. All of said bonds will bear interest payable semi-annually on January 1st and July 1st at the same rate not exceeding, however, three per cent in a multiple of one-eighth of one per cent, and each bid must specify interest rate, and the price bid for the bonds of this issue. The bonds will be sold at par plus accrued interest and any premium which the bidder will pay.

Bids will not be considered unless accompanied by an unconditional certified check on a bank or trust company considered by the Commissioner of Highways to be financially responsible, payable to the order of the Treasurer of Kentucky, for one per centum [1%] of the par value of the amount bid for. Award or rejection of bids will be made on the date above stated for the receipt of bids, and the checks of the unsuccessful bidders thereupon will be returned immediately. Check of the successful bidder will be held uncashed as security for the performance of the bid; but, in the event any successful bidder shall fail to comply with the terms, covenants and conditions of the bid, the check may then be cashed and the proceeds thereof retained as and for full liquidated damages. Whenever such terms, covenants and conditions shall have been complied with, or when it shall be found impossible by the Commissioner of Highways to issue and deliver the issue of bonds, the check will be returned.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds Project No. 12 will be delivered and payment therefor must be made in accordance with the bid of the successful bidder at the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, 165 Broadway, New York City, New York, on or before June 11, 1937, at Eleven O'Clock A. M. Eastern Daylight Savings Time.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds Project No. 12 shall be secured by a trust indenture to be executed by and between the Department of Highways, an agency of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and a trust company qualified to act and hereafter to be selected by the Department of Highways as trustee, as provided by Chapter 157 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Kentucky at the 1930 session thereof, which trust indenture shall contain substantially the same provisions and covenants as the trust indenture heretofore executed by the State Highway Commission of Kentucky, dated November 15, 1935, securing the Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds of Project No. 10, insofar as such provisions and covenants shall be applicable.

If the definitive bonds shall not be prepared and ready for delivery on June 11, 1937, the Department of Highways will issue temporary printed bonds of the same denomination, which will be exchangeable for the definitive bonds when the latter are ready for issuance and delivery.

All bidders must agree to furnish and pay for the cost of printing the trust indentures, and the printing and/or engraving the bonds as furnished by the Department of Highways, the form and terms of which shall be substantially the same as the Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds Project No. 10 now outstanding, except the paragraph thereof relating to the redemption thereof prior to maturity, which paragraph of said bonds shall be in conformity with the Notice of Sale; and all bidders must agree to pay Masslich & Mitchell, attorneys, 120 Broadway, New York, their fees and expenses incident thereto for the preparation of the trust indenture and legal opinion approving the validity of the proceedings, sale, execution and delivery of said bonds.

Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bid for Commonwealth of Kentucky Bridge Revenue Bonds Project No. 12" and delivered to the Commissioner of Highways in Frankfort, Kentucky; and no bid will be received after the hour and date first above stated and no bid shall be withdrawn after said hour and date.

THE KING IS CROWNED—CLIMAX OF COLORFUL CORONATION CEREMONIES—This picture was taken in Westminster abbey in London yesterday as the archbishop of Canterbury placed the crown of Edward the Confessor upon King George VI. The archbishop has the crown lifted in the air as the kneeling king waits for it to be placed on his head. The royal scepter can be seen beside the ruler. Surrounding the two are other high churchmen and leaders of the coronation ceremony. The picture was sent to Chicago by radio and wirephoto.

START OF CORONATION CEREMONY—THE KING WEARS CAP OF STATE—This picture, sent yesterday by radio and wirephoto, shows the king and queen in their chairs in the abbey. The king has on the cap of state which he wore to the abbey and which he removed just before going to the altar for the anointing. Between the king and queen in foreground are Dr. Wynne Willson, bishop of Bath and Wells (left) and the Rt. Rev. M. B. Furse, bishop of St. Alban's.

ARCHBISHOP PLACES CROWN ON HEAD OF QUEEN ELIZABETH—The commoner, who married the duke of York when he was merely the younger brother of the prince of Wales, as she was crowned queen of England yesterday at Westminster abbey. The archbishop of Canterbury is holding the historic crown.
